LINER SAVES ALL HANDS ON SINKING SHIP

S.S. President Jackson Takes Forty-Five Men Off Japanese Freighter

RESCUE EFFECTED IN HEAVY SEA OFF COAST

SEATTLE, Jan. 21 (AP).—Out of a storm crashing off Vancouver Island late today came a wireless message that lifeboats from the liner President Jackson plunged through mad seas to take off forty-five members of the crew of the sinking Japanese freighter Kokuman Maru.

The message said the liner was proceeding to Victoria, abandoning the freighter, which was listing heavily in seas lashed by a sixty-five-mile southwest gale, 150 miles off the Island.

PUMPS OUT OF ORDER

After two wireless distress calls indicated the Yamashita freighter was sinking, with her pumps refusing to operate, the President Jackson and the United States Coast Guard cutter Chelan dashed to the rescue.

At 3 p.m. a wireless message was picked up here saying:

"Have two boats at Hokuman Maru. Sea rough and no one taken off yet. Hard to get alongside. Water breaking off her poop and starboard side."

Later came the message the crew had been saved, after enduring the hammering of the seas all day long.

CONTINUES TO SCENE

The cutter Chelan continued to race westward to the abandoned freighter, headquarters here were notified, and expected to reach the area where she was abandoned by morning.

Smouldering Ruins of $150,000 Blaze

The above view shows a section of the ruins of the planing mill of the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company, which was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The mill was totally burned, although firemen worked for more than three hours in an effort to check the spread of the flames. The picture shows firemen "mopping up" after the fire had completed its work.

Many Homes Are Deep in Flood Water in Haultain And Shelbourne Districts

Water Covers Basements of Hundreds of Homes in Low-Lying Areas — Sunday's Snowstorm, Followed by Record Rain, Results in Extensive Damage—Schools Are Closed

FLOODS replaced the snow in the city yesterday as one of the quickest thaws on record turned snow to rain and melted the eight-inch layer of snow that had fallen here on Sunday. The Haultain-Shelbourne district was the most seriously affected, and at 2:30 o'clock this morning an area of between 100 and 160 acres was inundated many feet deep with the water still rising.

Scores of homes were surrounded by water to a depth of more than six feet in many places. Goods could be seen floating about on a level with show windows in stores in the area. Residents, thoroughly alarmed, were awaiting daybreak for removal by boats to higher ground. Police were unable to estimate the number of homes in which the water level was above the ground floors. They were called to assist in the removal of a woman who was badly burned several days ago, and was confined to her bed.

With a record of 3.24 inches of precipitation in twenty-four hours, hundreds of homes in other districts were flooded as well. Transportation and communication lines were disrupted, and some of the city and district schools were closed.

The thaw came after Victoria had experienced the worst cold spell in a quarter of a century. Many streets were awash, the surface drains being unable to cope with the heavy load.

BUS STALLED

Eighteen passengers and the driver of the Victoria-Nanaimo bus were stalled at Cousen's Store, at the Shawnigan Lake cut-off on the Malahat Highway Sunday night. They sat up all night around the stove in Cousen's Store until a tractor was sent out yesterday morning to pull the bus out. The passengers, in a letter to Harold Husband, manager of the Van-

Mexican Rebels Die in Attempt To Hold Up Train

DURANGO, Mexico, Jan. 21 (AP).—Eight rebels and three Federal soldiers were killed today in a bitter fight resulting from a rebel attempt to hold up passengers after wrecking a train twenty miles west of here. The engineer of the train also was killed and the fireman wounded. No passengers were hurt.

Delegation Is Delayed By Weather

After fighting the blizzard on Sunday afternoon for several hours in an endeavor to drive Up-Island to keep the schedule of speaking dates, the delegation from the Tourist Trade Development Association, composed of Harold Husband, B. A. McKelvie and T. H. Eslick was forced to return to the city.

Getting through by telephone to several of the Up-Island centres the delegation was informed that further effort to make the trip would be futile, and it would be advisable to postpone the tour. This, it was stated, would be appreciated at the several places, as all were anxious to attend the gatherings which had been arranged, but until the roads were in better shape it would not be possible for all who wished to get to the meetings. It was therefore decided to postpone the tour for fourteen days.

NANAIMO RESIDENCE DESTROYED BY FIRE

NANAIMO, Jan. 21.—The two story residence of Mr. William Ritchie, Elizabeth Street, was completely destroyed by fire at noon today. Owing to the depth of snow it was impossible for fire trucks to reach the scene of the flames. The loss was covered by insurance.

ON SEARCH FOR MISSING OFFICER

DUNCAN, Jan. 21.—Fear is felt here for the safety of Edwin Gunn, fisheries guardian operating out of Cowichan Bay for many years, who is missing.

Mr. Gunn left the bay a week ago in his launch, and was expected at his home in Duncan on Thursday afternoon, but has not been seen since he left the bay on Monday last.

Ice in Cowichan Bay broke up this morning and several launches started out to search for Mr. Gunn. The fisheries cruiser at Nanaimo has also been sent on the search.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21 (AP). — No further fears for the recovery of Plutarco Elias Calles, former President of Mexico, need be entertained, Dr. Abraham Ayala Gonzales, assisting physician, said today. General Calles underwent an operation last week.

To Support Reforms In Jurisdiction of Federal Parliament

Liberal Leader Announces Stand on Bennett Proposals—Favors Amendment of B.N.A. Act —Would Sidetrack Other Matters

OTTAWA, Jan. 21 (CP).—Sympathetic consideration of the reform policies of the Government was pledged in the House of Commons tonight by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King. The Liberal leader suggested side-tracking minor debates and legislation to give precedence to the measures which the Government hopes will ameliorate distress, social and industrial conditions.

The challenge was not taken up immediately by Premier R. B. Bennett, who followed the Liberal leader in the address debate. Before adjourning the debate late in the evening, the Prime Minister denied that his new platform was a death-bed repentance or designed to win an election.

FIRST OPPORTUNITY

For the first time in his history, said Mr. Bennett, he now had the time and opportunity to remove from the capitalistic system those defects that injured the people. The reforms now will be made, he promised, adding that if the King Government had passed them in 1926, 1927 or 1928 conditions in 1930, when it left office, would not have been so severe.

The Prime Minister probably will discuss the Liberal leader's suggestion when he resumes debate tomorrow afternoon.

NEAR CLOSING RAILWAY DEAL

Negotiations Between Soviet and Manchukuan Governments Almost Completed

TOKIO, Jan. 22 (AP).—Negotiations for the transfer of the Soviet Government's half share in the Chinese Eastern Railway to the Manchukuan Government approached completion today, the Foreign Office said.

Newspapers hailed virtual settlement of the vexed railroad sale problem after Shigenori Togo, of Japan, and Benedict Kozlovsky, of the Soviet, technical experts, to whom details of the transaction had been referred, concluded a seven-hour conference.

High official quarters expected early completion of the agreement, permitting the contract of sale to be drafted and signed in Tokio some time in February.

REACH AGREEMENT

The Japanese said Togo and Kozlovsky reached agreement when the Soviet abandoned its claims concerning the arbitration of future disagreements relative to payments, the disposal of buildings belonging to the railway and the method of pensioning Soviet employees of the line.

Under the main point of the programme previously reached, Manchukuo will pay the Soviet Government 140,000,000 yen (about $39,250,000) plus the cost of retiring Soviet employees, estimated at between 25,000,000 and 30,000,000 yen.

One-third is payable in cash and two-thirds in goods, half of the cash becoming due when the agreement is signed and the remainder within three years. Payment in goods also would fall due within three years.

PLANE SMASHED IN SNOW POCKET

Passengers Are Brought by Indian Safely to Hazelton With None Injured

HAZELTON, B.C., Jan. 21 (CP).—Three passengers from an airplane which cracked up at Kitwancool Lake while attempting a take-off yesterday were brought here today by an Indian guide, who made the fifty-mile round trip with a sleigh and a team of horses.

Pilot Frank Dorbandt was flying Grant Reed from Anchorage, Alaska, to Seattle, en route to the bedside of his sick wife in San Dieo, Calif., when the plane struck a snow pocket and was smashed while attempting a take-off after a landing to pick up fuel.

The other passengers were Herbert Reed and Gus Gelles. None were injured.

Negotiations for Reciprocal Trade Treaty Are Begun

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP). — The Roosevelt administration today added Canada, this country's second largest customer, to the list of nations with whom it is negotiating reciprocal tariff agreements. Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, announced the beginning of negotiations with the Canadian Government. Hearings are to be held here on March 18.

FROZEN PIPE TAKES LIFE

Kamloops Couple Seriously Injured When Waterfront in Range Explodes

Explosion of a water jacket in a kitchen stove claimed the life of George Fennell, of Chuchua, in the Kamloops area, and injured his wife, Mrs. Fennell, as one of the few serious mishaps reported to the Provincial Police resulting from the cold snap over the week-end.

Mr. Fennell kindled a fire in the range of his kitchen early on Saturday morning, and nursed it until it was going well. Beside him stood Mrs. Fennell. Unknown to both, the waterfront in the stove had frozen during the night. A terrific explosion followed, injuring both.

Pieces of the torn metal mortally wounded Mr. Fennell and seriously injured his wife, who was removed later to hospital at Kamloops. The injured man died within a few hours, despite all efforts to bring him aid.

The tragedy was the only one reported to the Provincial Police over the week-end; though snow-bound trains, cars and boats occasioned a rush of traffic over the wireless services of the force.

Fire on British Tanker Checked

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP).—Fire in the British tanker Valverda, disabled in the Atlantic 1,200 miles east of the Bahamas, was conquered tonight, according to a message reported to have been sent to its owners, and the French ship Petit Terre was standing by.

"Engine room completely gutted. Flames now subsided," read the message reported to have been sent to Glasgow by Captain T. C. Thomas.

UNDERSEA VOLCANO CAUSES DISTURBANCE

HILO, Hawaii, Jan. 21 (AP).—A disturbance in the sea outside Hilo Harbor after sharp earthquake shocks at midnight caused excitement today among residents, who wondered if it were caused by an undersea volcanic eruption.

Spectators along the waterfront said the sea in the area darkened and became agitated. Afterward a white cloud resembling steam rose from the sea to a height of perhaps 500 feet, the spectacle continuing a quarter-hour.

Authorities to Probe Fire Loss At Planing Mill

Preliminary Inspection of Burned Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company's Plant Indicates Incendiarism, Fire Officials Claim—Loss Is Estimated at $150,000

PROVINCIAL authorities were preparing last night for a complete investigation into the circumstances surrounding the fire, early yesterday morning, that destroyed the planing mill and machinery of the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company with a loss estimated at $100,000 to $150,000.

Investigation by provincial authority was requested after reports were received by Fire Chief Alex Munro that the fire appeared to be burning at two or three different points at the time the alarm was sent in.

BELIEVED INCENDIARY

The fire had every indication of being the work of a fire bug, the fire chief intimated, and a complete check-up will be made today. Insurance adjusters will make an examination of the burned over area today and will later be able to give a figure as to the loss.

Insurance on the plant was exceedingly low, it was reported by insurance companies, but the exact amount could not be ascertained last night. J. D. Kissinger, manager, said it was too soon to consider rebuilding plans.

The fire is believed to have started in the west end of the

Only One Escapes In Mine Explosion

BELGRADE, Jan. 21 (CP-Havas)—Eleven miners were killed, seven more gravely injured and five less seriously when coal gas exploded in a mine near Zayetchar, on the Jugoslav-Hungarian border, today. Only one man out of the twenty-four working in the pit where the blast occurred escaped injury.

MISSION ENVOYS SEIZED

CHANGSHA, Hunan Province, China, Jan. 21 (AP).—Mission envoys seeking to bring help to a British and a Swiss missionary in the hands of captors in Kwelchow Province, were seized by Communists, said reports reaching here today, and stripped of food and clothing they carried.

HAVOC AND HARDSHIP GENERAL FROM FREAKISH WINTER STORMS

Heavy Snowfall Followed by Downpour of Rain Almost Brings Business to Standstill on Mainland, With Traffic Impossible and Food and Fuel Shortages Adding to Disruption

Trains Stalled and Boats In Distress Off the Coast

VANCOUVER, Jan. 21 (CP).—Winter held the coast of British Columbia in a paralyzing grip tonight. As the result of the most devastating storm in Pacific Coast history, business was practically at a standstill; traffic, even in the cities, was well-nigh impossible; property damage extended into thousands of dollars; and fuel, food and electric power shortages were no longer a threat but a reality.

Heavy snowstorms which have swept the Pacific Slope in near-zero weather during the past week culminated overnight in a howling blizzard. Residents of Vancouver, New Westminster and Fraser Valley and Vancouver Island communities awoke to find themselves almost isolated by a snowfall ranging from eighteen inches to three feet in depth.

In the Mainland cities, street cars and automobiles were snowbound for hours. Business people walked miles to work from the residential districts. Many others stayed at home, and many places of business were closed entirely. All schools were closed and will remain so at least until Wednesday.

A SEA OF SLUSH

A downpour of rain turned the streets into a sea of heavy slush to make walking even more difficult. The forecast was for higher temperatures and continued rain.

An army of several thousand loggers, idle in camps along the coast since the first heavy snows made logging operations impossible, was augmented by nearly 2,000 employees of sawmills on the Fraser River. The mills were forced to close down as booming grounds on the river froze over.

With closing of the mills went the chief source of supply for fuel wood and sawdust. Dealers were consequently compelled to refuse hundreds of orders, due partly to the impossibility of meeting the heavy demand and the extreme difficulty

Karpis and Companion Shoot Way Out of Police Trap at Atlantic City

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21 (AP).—Armed and desperate, Alvin Karpis and his companion, Harry Campbell, sped over Eastern Pennsylvania highways tonight, hotly pursued by Federal, State and local forces of law.

The full force of the State police and the Federal Government in the area was thrown into the hunt for America's public enemy number one and his wounded companion, who blasted their way out of a police trap in Atlantic City yesterday and made good their escape from New Jersey.

IN WILD COUNTRY

They were trailed today into the wild and lonely Haycock Mountain country, forty miles north of Philadelphia and about 100 miles from the scene of their machine-gunning break from an Atlantic City hotel.

A cordon of officers, bristling with rifles and machine guns was thrown about virtually every road in this part of the state, while some State police combed the Haycock Mountain area in the lessening belief that the two had scurried to cover there in the darkness and fog.

KING PLAYS TRUMP CARD

Siamese Monarch Threatens to Sell His Extensive Possessions at Home

BANGKOK, Siam, Jan. 22 (AP).—King Prajadhipok has played his trump card—a threat to sell out all of his extensive Siamese possessions—as a last-minute move to bring the home Government into line, according to reports today in usually reliable quarters.

The spunky little monarch was reported to have threatened to sell out, bag and baggage, and quit the country for good unless the Government complies with conditions outlined in his October ultimatum demanding restoration of control over the death penalty to the Crown.

INCLUDES FAMOUS GEM

Unnamed British interests were said to be willing to buy Prajadhipok's property, which includes not only palaces, shrines of gorgeous Oriental splendor and fertile lands, but also the "emerald Buddha."

This famous gem is looked upon as representing the pride and glory of the Siamese nation. It is a brilliant, huge stone set in the forehead of a statue of the Buddha, and is the property of the Crown.

The brief radio dispatch indicated that the ship, which a week ago had been reported icebound in the Weddell Sea, is now free of the ice pack. The expedition started from New Zealand November 19, 1934.

TO UNDERTAKE ROAD REPAIRS

Ten Miles of Resurfacing Will Be Carried Out at Sumas; Tenders for Rock

As soon as conditions permit, this Spring, the Provincial Government will resurface ten miles of the Sumas Road between Chilliwack and Vancouver closing an existing gap, Hon. F. M. MacPherson said yesterday.

During the day the Minister of Public Works viewed tenders submitted for crushed rock and materials for the job, four bids being received and opened publicly in the afternoon. The tenders were on an alternate basis for machine-made and hand-labor supplies, and were as follows:

Columbia Bitulithic Company, Ltd., Vancouver, $14,850, at $1.10 per cubic yard; alternatively $15,390, by hand labor.

W. C. Davis, Vancouver, $12,082.50, at 89 1-2 cents per cubic yard; and the same price by hand labor.

Dawson, Wade & Company, Ltd., Vancouver, $13,230, at 98 cents per cubic yard; and alternatively $15,225, by hand labor.

General Construction Company, Ltd., Vancouver, $15,525, at $1.15 per cubic yard; alternatively $16,200, by hand labor.

The bids were referred for analysis and report.

KING AND QUEEN TO STAY AT EASTBOURNE

LONDON, Jan. 21 (CP). — Their Majesties are expected to take up residence at Compton Place Eastbourne, a residence owned by the Duke of Devonshire, about the middle of February.

Eastbourne on the South Coast, is noted for temperate climate in the Winter months.

Prince Arthur, Duke of Connaught, uncle of King George, will not travel to the Riviera this Winter, it is understood. He will probably remain in England.

KAMLOOPS, Jan. 21 (CP). — George Fennell, postmaster and storekeeper at Chuchua, is dead, and Mrs. Fennell was in a serious condition in hospital here today, following the explosion of a stove in the kitchen of their home. The explosion was believed to have been caused by a frozen water jacket.

Swears Hauptmann Threw Ransom Bill Into Cashier's Cage

Theatre Ticket-Seller Gives Positive Identification and Date of Occurrence—Prosecutor Declares He Will Finish His Case Tomorrow

FLEMINGTON, N.J., Jan. 21 (AP).—Prosecutors struck a double blow today at Bruno Richard Hauptmann, on trial for the kidnap-murder of the Lindbergh baby, with the testimony of a woman witness.

Mrs. Cecile Barr, cashier of a Sheridan Square, N.Y., movie theatre, not only was positive that the carpenter "threw" a carefully-folded Lindbergh ransom bill into her cage, but she fixed the date in a way that hit hard at the prisoner's alibi.

She said it was the night of November 26, 1933, some time before Isador Fisch, Hauptmann's frail furrier friend, went to Germany.

Hauptmann has claimed that he first saw the ransom money after Fisch's death, when he opened a

Road, Rail and Wire Traffic East From Vancouver Disrupted

Slides and Snowdrifts Halt Progress of Trains on All Systems—Telegraph Service Through Fraser Valley Impossible

VANCOUVER, Jan. 21 (CP).—Transportation and communication facilities throughout the Lower Mainland and Interior were still paralyzed late tonight, as slides and one of the heaviest snowfalls in years combined to defy the efforts of hundreds of men and snow ploughs to restore road, rail and wire traffic.

Canadian Pacific Railway reported four passenger trains stalled. No. 1 and No. 3 from the East and No. 11 from the Kootenay were held at North Bend, B.C., while crews worked in eight-hour shifts to clear away a large slide. No. 2 eastbound which left here last night is stalled west of Revelstoke by another slide. Eastbound trains due to leave today and tonight and the Kettle Valley train are being held here until lines are cleared.

UNDER SNOWDRIFT

A work train is snowbound at Ruby Creek, B.C., about ten miles west of Hope. The train is literally snowed under in front of the station and drifts are so deep that a pusher engine was unable to move more than a few yards.

Canadian National Railways No. 1 westbound is held at Boothroyd, B.C., near Hope, with no indication of when a huge slide there will be cleared. Eastbound trains are being held here, pending clearing of the slide.

Train service between here and Seattle on the Great Northern has been canceled until slides and washed-out sections of track have been cleared and repaired.

All telephone and telegraph wires to Eastern Canada are down. The tie-up also extended to many lower Mainland points.

ROUTING THROUGH U.S.

C.P.R. Telegraphs are routing Eastern Canada traffic via the United States, and C.N.R. telegraph officials expected to put a similar circuit into operation tomorrow.

Roads in the Fraser Valley are still blocked by drifts from three to ten feet deep. A sleet storm struck Chilliwack, interrupting communication with outside points.

Unable to get their milk supply through to distributing points, farmers in the district are dumping into fields. Three interurbans are stalled near Chilliwack.

Moderating temperatures melted part of the excessive snowfall, but snow and ice-packed drainage ditches in many cases were unable to take care of the water and many anxious eyes turned to the dykes in the low-lying country, where rising water levels brought fears of floods.

Stores in the lower part of New Westminster were flooded with several feet of water tonight from the rapidly-melting snow.

LAST RITES WEDNESDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Limb, who passed away Friday at the Jubilee Hospital, will be held on Wednesday at 2 o'clock at Sands Mortuary Chapel. Rev. C. G. MacKenzie and Rev. O. L. Jull will conduct the services and interment will be in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

Before and After Record Thaw Here

In the top picture skating enthusiasts are shown enjoying themselves on Goodacre Lake in hockey games arranged on the spot. Below is the improvised swimming area for the ducks and swans, which, under the thaw conditions that occurred Sunday night and yesterday, is rapidly increasing in size. Many persons who had planned skating parties for Sunday and yesterday were disappointed by the quick change in the weather conditions.

POLICE ARREST THEFT SUSPECT

Clifford Dawley Taken Sunday—Has Bullet Wound, City Police Report

Clifford Dawley, twenty-six years old, was arrested by police officers Sunday morning on a warrant charging unlawful attempt to break and enter the Dominion Theatre last Friday morning.

According to police, the prisoner was suffering from a bullet wound in the leg that required hospital treatment. The wound, they say, may have been received when Constable Thomas Stevenson fired shots in the direction of three men as they ran from the vicinity of the Dominion Theatre after being surprised in an attempt to make an entry to the building.

The attempt to break into the theatre followed a series of burglaries in the city early last Friday morning.

APPEARS IN COURT

Dawley appeared in the city police court yesterday and was charged. The accused, who walked with a marked limp, when offered the opportunity to elect whether he would take trial before a police magistrate or take preliminary hearing, expressed a wish to defer election and entering of plea. He asked for a week's remand, which was granted. The accused had no counsel.

Owen Petticrew and Hugh Petticrew, who were charged on Saturday morning with having illegally in their possession a revolver which had not been duly licensed under the new Dominion statutes, asked through their counsel, A. J. Patton, for a remand until Friday, which was granted.

A second charge was laid against them of having in their possession on Friday a flashlight, knowing the same to have been stolen. The hearing of this charge was also allowed to stand over until Friday.

Resignation Of Treasurer Is Accepted

Resignation of Edwin C. Smith, on superannuation, was accepted by the City Council at its meeting last night. His retirement will become effective on January 31, instead of January 23.

D. A. Macdonald, comptroller, was appointed acting treasurer from the date of Mr. Smith's retirement. This action was taken as an indication that the finance committee had failed to reach a decision on the question of reorganizing.

WILL SUPPORT REFORM PLANS

C.C.F. Leader Says Chief Trouble Is Proposals Do Not Go Far Enough

TORONTO, Jan. 21 (CP).—Followers of J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., president of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation, will support the social and economic reform measures proposed by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett when they come before the Dominion Parliament during the current session.

Support of the C.C.F. House members for the Prime Minister's reform policies, outlined in a recent series of addresses, was pledged last night by Mr. Woodsworth in an address to 12,000 persons here.

"The main issue," declared the Winnipeg member, "is not petty reforms, as suggested by Mr. Bennett, but whether we go along with the capitalist system or replace it with socialist. That's the clear cut issue today."

DO NOT GO FAR ENOUGH

Mr. Woodsworth criticized the Prime Minister's reform measures because he did not go the full extent advocated by the Socialists. He gave Mr. Bennett full credit, however, for bringing the issue of reform to the capitalistic system into the real of public discussion.

Certain Government regulation of business, as advocated by Mr. Bennett, was essential in his opinion, Mr. Woodsworth asserted. "I give Mr. Bennett credit for delivering a few thundering blows," he added.

Mr. Woodsworth argued that business was generally supported by governments through tariffs and other measures, "and now those benefitted by have the assurance to come to the people and complain about regulation."

Claim Large Sum For Tax Arrears

ROSARIO, Argentina, Jan. 21 (AP).—An investigating commission of Santa Fe Province made public a report today containing an opinion the Swift Packing Company's Rosario plant owes the Province 10,000,000 pesos ($2,900,000) in back taxes and penalties.

CANCER TRACED TO NEW DYES

Investigation of One Phase May Aid Study of Whole Problem

WILMINGTON, Del., Jan. 21 (AP).—Investigation of a new phase of cancer, its recent appearance in connection with industrial dyes, was announced today by the Du Pont Company.

The discovery of these dye cancers, made in both the United States and Europe since 1930, is one of the significant clues to better understanding of the entire cancer problem.

The investigation here is one of fourteen medico-industrial subjects to be taken up immediately in a type of scientific laboratory new to the United States, which the Du Pont Company opens tomorrow.

THE FIRST PURPOSE

The first purpose is to learn the effects on health of workers, and then of the public, of the new chemicals continually coming into industrial products. The second is to give medicine and science the results of any medicinal values found in these strange mixtures.

The new dye cancers were recently described in The American Journal of Cancer. Like those which form the most serious menace to the lay population, they are internal. They appear only after years of exposure to whatever causes them. They offer a unique opportunity to pin down the causes of one typical slow cancer.

SIGNIFICANT SIMILARITIES

There are other significant similarities. The dye cancers have been traced to a coal tar product called aromatic amines. It is known that the human body produces naturally substances slightly similar.

Still further paralleling the ordinary cancers, some of the dye tumors are "benign" and harmless, while others are malignant.

At the Du Pont's new Haskell laboratory, the first year will be devoted to studying in animals the relation of age, diet and metabolism to the cancer-producing substances.

Another immediate investigation will be the breathing of lead dust. A new apparatus will breathe mechanically for eight hours, or any other period, to record all the lead dust particles which a workman might encounter.

Drumheller Has Destructive Fire

DRUMHELLER, Alta., Jan. 21 (CP).—Damage totaling nearly $30,000 was caused tonight by fire which attacked mercantile stocks of several business concerns in a building in the downtown district. The building is owned by Mrs. F. M. Brodigan, Victoria.

WANTS J. V. GARNER AS RUNNING MATE AGAIN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP).—Word was quietly passed today that President Roosevelt wants Vice-President John Vance Garner to team up with him again for the 1936 United States presidential election.

The information dashed cold water on the aspirations of some half-dozen prospective candidates.

shoe box the furrier left in his keeping.

At the end of a day in which other witnesses told how Hauptmann suddenly quit his carpenter's job at the time of the ransom payment and then plunged heavily on the stock market, Attorney-General David T. Wilentz declared:

"We will finish the case by Wednesday even if we have to cut it short."

He asserted the evidence was so strong that to prolong the state's testimony beyond Wednesday "would be an injustice."

PURCHASES STOCK

Today a treasury agent totaled up the once thrifty carpenter's 1933 stock purchases to the fat figure of $256,442.15. The defendant's former timekeeper on a New York apartment hotel project said he failed to show up for work on April 2, 1932, and came back but once after that.

Dr. John F. "Jafsie" Condon said he paid the $50,000 ransom to Hauptmann in a Bronx cemetery on the night of April 2. The state says it has shown that the prisoner handled every dollar of the money later.

Before it finishes, the prosecution will recall Mrs. Elsie Whateley, widow of the Lindbergh butler, to corroborate nursemaid Betty Gow's story on how she found the kidnapped baby's thumbguard on the road to the entrance of the Lindbergh estate at Hopewell.

The state hopes, moreover, to get the kidnap ladder into the case as evidence.

LUMBER AS EVIDENCE

"I'll be disappointed if we don't get the ladder in," Wilentz said, "but the lumber is already in and what we need is the lumber and not the ladder. It would be the same if the ladder had been burned or never found."

"The state," Wilentz said, "had proved the existence of the ladder marks on the wall of the Lindbergh home and on the ground outside, and had produced evidence that muddy footprints were found in the baby's nursery on the night he was abducted and slain."

The defence cross-examined Mrs. Barr sharply, but failed to shake her identification. At one point a spectator hissed when Hauptmann's defender suggested she might have sought a movie contract in return for her testimony.

"He threw a five dollar bill in at me—it was folded three times in eight parts," she testified.

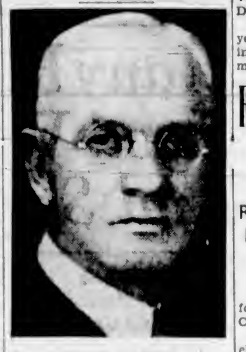

THREW IT IN

"He threw it in at me, threw it in the window as I looked up at him. And while I was opening it out he stood there looking at me, and I said, 'well, what do you want?'

"He looked up at the sign. We have three-price tickets. He looked up at the sign and said, 'one forty.' All that time I looked at him."

S. J. DRAKE IS NEW CHAIRMAN

Elected Head of 1935 Oak Bay School Board—Standing Committees Named

SAMUEL J. DRAKE

Trustee Samuel J. Drake will direct the destinies of the Oak Bay School Board during 1935. No time was lost by the trustees in getting down to business, as Trustees Walter M. Walker and Hew Paterson were only assured of election at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon when nominations closed and they were declared elected by acclamation.

Standing committees of the board for 1935 will be as follows:

Finance Committee — Trustees Walter M. Walker and Hew Paterson and Chairman Drake (ex-officio).

Building and Grounds Committee—Trustees R. W. Murdoch and J. Vaughan Roberts and Chairman Drake (ex-officio).

Following the organization for the year, the trustees proceeded to an informal discussion of the 1935 estimates.

Coal Fund Promptly Subscribed to by Generous Citizens

Special Emergency Supplies Hurried Out to All Parts of City and District During Week-End—More Than Five Hundred Orders Filled

THE unusual Sabbath sight of truckload after truckload of coal bustling along the city streets gave additional dramatic color to the blizzard that struck Victoria on Sunday. It also indicated the depth of neighborly kindliness that such an emergency as the week-end storm can call forth.

The Fred Landsberg coal fund was only opened on Saturday morning, but between that time and 5 p.m. yesterday $1,610 had been subscribed in cash, and 155 tons of coal were delivered in response to emergency calls to needy families scattered about Victoria and the neighboring municipalities. The most exceptional aspect of the relief work, however, was the fact that it was carried on at high pressure throughout the whole of Sunday while the blizzard was at its height and sending blinding gusts of snow through the streets. About 500 individual orders were filled in quarter and half-ton lots.

"With the acquiescence of the police department, the coal yards worked all day Sunday, from early morning until last thing at night, loading trucks to send out to distressed homes whose fuel supplies, where there ever had been any, had come to an end during the bitter weather of last week," said Mr. Landsberg. "Everything that could possibly be done to relieve suffering from want of fuel was done, and will continue to be done while the bad weather lasts."

WIDE NEED

Mr. Landsberg himself set a fine example in the charitable enterprise, for although he had not been in his office on Saturday for thirty years, he set aside precedent on this occasion in order to help with the organization of the emergency relief work. The moment it was known that a coal fund had been opened, calls began to pour in from all parts of the city and district with requests for fuel to be sent out. The unemployed relief furnished a great many of these through the Friendly Help Welfare Association, which in turn transmitted them to the Fred Landsberg relief fund. Quick organization had to be effected to deal with these promptly and without overlapping, and thanks to previous experience and the assistance of his own competent staff at the Empire Realty offices and two helpers from the Friendly Help Welfare Association (Mrs. Walter Parry and Miss E. Dods), the requisitions were ably dealt with and every order filled as it came in.

"The Gyros collected about $3,500 in a three weeks' campaign for their Christmas hamper fund, so we feel that Victoria has made an excellent response in this instance in subscribing $1,610 in less than three days," said one of the coal fund relief officers in speaking yesterday of the sympathetic reception given to the appeal. The bulk of the donations, it has been noted, came from people in ordinary circumstances, not from well-to-do classes, although several of the latter also have subscribed liberally. Nearly all donations were accompanied by sympathetic letters.

APPEALS CHECKED

Close check has been kept on the appeals for fuel in order to avoid duplication of deliveries at one house while another home, perhaps, goes without. Individual requisitions are made out in duplicate for every order, and when the coal companies make deliveries of fuel, the requisitions are signed by the recipient. Both neighbors and local relief agencies have evidently been keeping a sympathetic eye on certain families, as the names of some families have been sent in three and four times. The coal relief fund offices are able by their system of cross-checking to prevent duplication of orders in such instances.

"The chief of police deserves special commendation for the assistance he has given, particularly in some emergency cases where families were suffering intensely because of absolute lack of fuel of any kind, when he allowed police patrol cars to be sent off promptly with a few sacks of coal," it was learned at the office.

The plight of many families can easily be imagined if the average householder compares his last week's fuel bill with the $2.50 monthly which is allowed for fuel to households on relief. "Charity," Mr. Landsberg remarked, "has no regional boundaries. We must send fuel wherever it is needed, whether inside or outside Victoria municipality."

In addition to the cash for fuel, the coal fund offices have received offers of bread and clothing, but they prefer the Friendly Help Welfare agency to deal with this aspect of relief work.

EDDIE KEMP IS TO SERVE TERM

Mr. Justice Robertson Dismisses Application on Habeas Corpus Proceedings in Supreme Court

The conviction of Eddie Kemp, charged with having unlawfully kept intoxicating liquor for sale at Steveston, has been upheld by Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson, who had the case before him on habeas corpus proceedings a little time ago. The proceedings were taken by L. H. Jackman, of Vancouver, while Henry C. Hall, K.C., of Victoria, appeared for the Crown.

The appellant had been convicted by Police Magistrate O. E. Darling and later an appeal was taken in the County Court in Vancouver, where the conviction was sustained. The original conviction was a fine of $500 or in default a term of six months in jail with hard labor. It was objected before Mr. Justice Robertson that hard labor had not been specified in the police court.

His Lordship, in supporting the conviction, said he could see no ground upon which even in a certiorari proceeding the conviction could be attacked and he, therefore, dismissed the application.

SCHOOLS ARE KEPT CLOSED

Many Institutions in Greater Victoria Area Shut Owing to Heavy Rain

All elementary schools but one in Saanich, the Victoria High School in the city, and the Lampson Street School in Esquimalt were closed yesterday owing to the unusual weather conditions.

Tolmie School was the only one that remained open in Saanich yesterday. Only twenty, out of an enrollment of 260 students, attended the Tillicum School, which had a burst pipe, which flooded the hallway and one classroom.

Those children who turned up at schools in Saanich were sent home, and advised to stay home until further notice, as most of the children on their arrival at school were too wet to be permitted to proceed with their studies. Rural schools closed because of the heavy snow, which is now thawing.

HIGH SCHOOLS OPEN

All high schools in Saanich, however, remain open. The elementary schools will be kept closed until there is a moderation in the rain, and a recession of the floods.

Children were sent home from the Victoria High School yesterday owing to their being wet on arrival, and also because of two of the classrooms being flooded. However, studies will resume normal operation today if there is a moderation in the weather. Attendance figures were down in all elementary schools, but as the rain abates, the attendance is expected to return to normal.

While pointing out that the Lampson Street School was in perfect condition, the school trustees of Esquimalt yesterday decided to close the school in the interest of the children's health. Too many were arriving drenched with the rain.

OCTOGENARIAN IS REMOVED BY DEATH

Miss Sarah Jane Deane, aged eighty-nine years, passed away in her sleep on Monday morning at the Fairfield Nursing Home, 526 Harbinger Avenue. She was born in Durham County, Ontario, and had been a resident of Victoria for the past five years.

She is survived by three nephews and one niece, of Victoria.

Private funeral services will be conducted by Rev. E. M. Willis tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in the chapel of Sand's Mortuary, Ltd. The remains will be laid at rest in the family plot at the Royal Oak Burial Park.

CITY RECEIPTS SENT SOARING

Treasury Department Takes In $41,900 in One Day—Total Is $244,730

What is believed to be the largest collection of prepaid taxes in any one day was reported by city treasury department officials yesterday. Receipts amounted to $41,900, sending the total collections for the month up to $244,730, which is $42,793 in excess of the amount collected during the entire month of January, 1934.

The most encouraging phase of the collections is that the larger investors in property are now taking advantage of the scheme. Two accounts paid yesterday alone amounted to $40,000. Investors who have never before participated are now realizing the advantage that is to be gained by early payment, inasmuch as 5 per cent interest is earned by the money.

Compared with the corresponding period of last year, collections so far this month show an increase of $57,404.

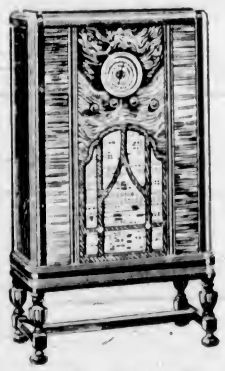

Officials are confident now that the record set in 1933 will be broken this year.

STIMULUS FOR TOURIST INDUSTRY

The Tourist Trade Development Association has commenced its work under happy auspices that give every evidence of widespread public co-operation being secured. No movement started in this city for a number of years has arrested the attention of the people to a greater extent. There has maintained here for a long time the impression that sufficient is not being done to hold tourists by providing organized entertainment for them once they come. It is to overcome deficiencies in this respect that the new tourist body has been formed, and the idea is that it should be entirely supported by the voluntary enthusiasm of the people. The idea, too, is that it should be a permanent organization which will build up a cumulative programme, with especial attention paid to providing a series of annual entertainments that can be participated in by our own people and visitors in our midst.

In its preparation of plans a number of committees have been organized. Each has its separate role to fill, and each in pursuit of its purposes will welcome the fullest co-operation from all the citizens. There is a wealth of ideas in our midst and these should be sifted out so as to arrive at decisions as to what should be done in the best interests of community development so as to enhance the value of Victoria as a tourist resort. Each committee, and the association as a whole, will welcome ideas from all quarters. The Colonist will be glad to publish suggestions that come from its readers. The purpose is to make the present movement one in which, in some way or other, every individual resident can play a part, and it is in this way that there can be no doubt of the success which is so enthusiastically expected. Every agency in the community endowed with civic patriotism and believing that Victoria and Vancouver Island as a whole are endowed with these resources that will appeal to visitors in ever-increasing numbers may well be expected to work whole-heartedly in the cause. It is a community effort that has been launched. The co-operation so far secured gives every evidence that the popularity of the movement is destined to expand and the results it achieves must necessarily redound to the advantage of all our residents.

WOMEN SMOKERS

A quarter of the Excise and Customs duties in Great Britain is raised through the medium of the unconscious patriot the smoker. In the returns of 1933-1934 the duty on tobacco accounted for revenue of over £67,500,000 and another £4,000,000 was raised through matches and mechanical lighters. The great increase is accounted for by the growing habit of smoking among women. That is illustrated as well in the United States where the total consumption of cigarettes rose from 45,000,000,000 in 1921 to 109,000,000,000 in 1933. During the last few years in almost all countries, save perhaps France, the sales of cigarettes have increased enormously. The war first gave the great impetus to this habit and now more so than ever before the younger generation has taken to smoking.

In the United States possibly the greatest percentage of women smokers is to be found. There, among 40,000,000 women over fifteen years of age, 35 per cent, or about 14,000,000 smoke cigarettes. According to a New York dispatch they smoke on omnibus tops, in theatre lobbies, in restaurants, in their motor cars and in the porches of their houses. "Wherever one goes in America," says the dispatch, "the lipstick-smeared end of a cigarette is to be found lying in an ashtray or decorating the saucer of a coffee cup." In Italy until the war it was considered indecent for women to smoke. Now every girl from the age of eighteen and married women smoke in public as well as in private. In France, however, only about 2 per cent of the women smoke in public. To do so is regarded as indecent. There is a large percentage of French women who do not smoke at home. The reason for this is their care for their personal appearance. It is the English-speaking peoples who seem to hold the palm for smoking if treasury returns of the taxes imposed are a true criterion.

SOCIALISTIC PLAGIARISM

Anyone who takes the trouble to examine the tenets of present-day Socialism can speedily ascertain that they contain nothing new, and have added nothing to the sum of knowledge on political, social and economic matters. In many cases the language employed is not even couched in modern phraseology. Socialists in these latter times, though they may not know it themselves, and most certainly their audiences do not, are confirmed plagiarists. They have stolen or borrowed, whichever term may be most faithfully used, ideas that never were their own. Marx, Engels and Lenin were all copyists. That is a fact that may be discovered by reading Hegel's "History of Philosophy." The "Value of Labor" and "Surplus Value" are phrases that were enunciated by Thomas Hobbes. These are well-known instances of plagiarism. The modern Socialists are, as well, copyists of the ancients, for even the language they employ, upon occasion, is borrowed from Plutarch, Socrates and Plato.

Marx and Lenin, the one theoretical and the other the practical exponent of the Socialistic creed, drew their inspiration from both pagan and Christian writers. It may be doubted if either had an original idea of his own. It is significant of how plagiarism persists when it is noted that Professor Einstein himself, who has earned a reputation as one of the greatest of modern scientists, borrowed his ideas from Hegel, who first pointed out the close unity between matter, movement, space and time.

In view of this plagiarism it is a matter of wonder that Socialist speakers should ejaculate their tenets with so much egotistic self-conceit when it is considered that they are mere borrowers of phrases. It is, moreover, a matter of wonder that they achieve so much success in imposing on human credulity. That they should do so is a strange commentary on the state that education has reached. All the knowledge they have has been present for many centuries, and that the theories they endorse universally in practice indicates they have been rejected by succeeding generations just as well equipped in judgment as our own.

The unpleasant thing about Socialism is that it should be presented to the people as some new-found doctrine, as a panacea for all political, social and economic ills. It is a doctrine as old as any in politics. It is about time that its present-day disciples abandoned the conception that they are self-appointed saviours of society. They are, at the best, mere copyists enunciating age-old theories which have been tried in the balance often enough and found wanting.

ADVERTISING METHODS

The preservation of the natural beauty of the landscape is a duty from the standpoint of public policy and a right from the standpoint of the private citizen. In the State of Massachusetts recently a decision has been handed down by the full bench of the Supreme Court, upholding the right of the state to regulate the use of billboards on private property within view of the public highways. This is a decision of some importance. It bears directly upon the practice of advertisers erecting ornate and glaring signs upon property adjacent to main traveled roads. It is held that such signs increase the hazard of drivers and pedestrians, that the ordinary traveler is entitled to pursue his journey without being subject to the dangerous distraction of his attention by these signs. More than that, he may probably claim the right to proceed upon his way and enjoy the unspoiled beauty of the scenery without such distractions. The enjoyment of the landscape promotes public welfare without a doubt. As between the claim of the advertisers to be permitted to deface the roads with signs which, however ornate and elaborate they may be are still an unwarranted intrusion and an ugly blot on the landscape, and the claim of the private citizen to be allowed to enjoy in peace what really belongs to the people at large, there can hardly be much difference of opinion.

These matters have no doubt been fully considered in this country by those who desire that every reasonable effort should be made to attract tourists. Tourists, it may safely be affirmed, do not come to Canada to learn about the excellence of somebody's patent medicine or the qualities of this or that food product. They do not desire that these matters should be violently thrust upon their attention on a holiday trip. What most of them chiefly desire while they are with us is to get away for a while from the cares of the business of buying and selling and the annoyance of noisy advertising.

Japan's foreign trade is showing substantial increases. Exports for the past year, up to December 25, amounted to 2,117,000,000 yen, and imports to 2,209,000,000 yen. These figures represent increases of 17 and 18 per cent respectively. Since 1914 the value of Japan's foreign trade has quadrupled. Rayon producers there are now paying dividends of from 24 to 50 per cent. Japan is expanding her markets and thirty-nine new names appear in the list of places to which exports are going.

BEN MORE

Over thee silently night's softly creeping,
The pale crimson cloak of the sunset is spread,
Wrapt in its splendor thy great heart is sleeping,
And silver-winged clouds keep their watch o'er thy head.

Below thee the Dochart her strange lay is swelling,
Sad breaks the song o'er her wild stony breast,
Year after year in her bosom is dwelling
The strong call to fight, and the sweet call to rest.

Around thee the great arms of God are enclosing,
The soft kiss of dew is laid on thy brow,
Silently, happily, thou are reposing,
Holier beauty encircles thee now.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Every man seeks for truth, but God only knows who has found it.—Chesterfield.

In accordance with our ancient parliamentary institutions it is the custom at the beginning of a session for the Sovereign or the representative of the Sovereign to deliver or read a Speech from the Throne. The speech under our advanced parliamentary institutions is never prepared for delivery by the Sovereign of the day. It is composed by the Sovereign's constitutional advisers, the Ministers of the Crown. For that reason the Speech from the Throne has become a very formal document. For years, therefore, members of the opposition and the critics of the press have been in the habit of declaring that the Speech was more notable for what it did not say rather for what it did say.

But time brings changes in almost everything except changes in the order of the seasons. It seems that time in his flight is even bringing something like a revolution in parliamentary procedure and the voices of the critics of the Speech from the Throne have been silenced. Thus far we have not seen a single criticism of the Speech declaring it was more remarkable for what it did not say than for what it did say. But, of course, we have not read the speech on the Address by Rt. Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, the Leader of His Majesty's Loyal Opposition, if the Rt. Hon. Gentleman will forgive us for the obvious suggestion. So we take it that for once in the history of our ancient parliamentary institutions there is at least a morsel of meat in the Speech from the Throne.

The Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate and the Members of the House of Commons in the Speech from the Throne have been given something to talk about, and we fear they will take advantage of their opportunities and talk about that something for a long time. If the Rt. Honorable the Leader of the Opposition at the last session of the House could talk for four hours and a fraction about practically nothing at all except the allegation that the government had done nothing at all, he may be expected to take a whole day now that the Speech of His Excellency has laid before him something upon which he can fasten his forensic teeth and worry like a terrier shaking a dead rat. Is it possible that a revolution in our parliamentary procedure portends a revolution in more important matters?

Mr. King delights in enlarging upon the revolutions he has wrought in Canada's relations with her Mother Country. Is it possible that he intends to propose even more revolutionary measures than the revolutionary measures of the Prime Minister? We are prepared for almost anything, for announcement has reached us from Ottawa that the Leader of the Opposition has said that the Leader of the Government from his place on the summit of the political Olympus has "stolen his thunder." That announcement, of course, means that if Bennett has gone far, King will be compelled to go farther.

We ask the people of British Columbia to pay attention to what is going on at Ottawa, for where there is thunder, whether stolen or specially manufactured, there is sure to be lightning playing, and fire from the clouds is generally terrifying and sometimes destructive. Therefore there is no longer any excuse for the common people being apathetic on the too long deafised subject of politics. The roll of thunder denotes the approach of a storm. After the members are tired of talking, there will be a dissolution and an election. Then the lightning will begin to play, or at least there will be a storm of dialectic fireworks, after which the atmosphere will become serene again and we shall see what has happened.

In the United States also they have their parliamentary institutions. When Congress assembles the members do not listen to speeches from any throne. They listen to messages from the President, which he himself prepares. But there is a certain resemblance between the procedure in our parliaments and the procedure in their Congress. As a rule the speeches from our throne, although they outline the policies of our governments, are not seriously considered by the members. The average messages of the average President appear to have no more influence upon the course of Congress than the ebullitions of the erratic member from Louisiana.

For one thing we do hope and pray. That if we are going to have any new deals in Canada they will not be longed for identification purposes with almost all the letters of the alphabet, beginning with A and ending with Z, which merely confuse the public without simplifying the process of identification. For good or ill, the current session of Parliament portends to be most momentous and to have a marked influence upon the future of Canada.

Pronunciation Is Essential in Speech

By G. C. REAY

Speech is a medium of expression and is our chief means of communication. We may only talk in our immediate circle, large or small, and as we go about our daily work. We speak to acquaintances as we pass by, and converse on the telephone. Some instruct classes, and a few are heard occasionally in public; others lecture from platforms, and large audiences are addressed over the air.

Whether we instruct, address lecture, declaim, remark, observe, or "engage in conversation" the spoken word is in continual use.

Throughout the ages man has always made himself intelligible. In the early stages of development possibly the sounds were only grunts. Today we still use single sounds to convey certain emotions, and words of one sound. Gradually the throat, tongue, larynx, palate and nose were brought into action, different combinations of sounds were produced and words resulted.

Words grouped into sentences make language. Man is the sole possessor of verbal language, and, with the exception of those who are dumb, we all use at least one, the mother-tongue being spoken more or less correctly according to certain standards, with varying shades of tone, modulation, dialect, pronunciation, enunciation, as influenced by those we live amongst or imitate.

The development of language should be slow and gradual, in fact, should be hardly noticeable, except with regard to isolated words and phrases brought into use to meet the demands of new inventions and discoveries. Even in war times there have been no wholesale destructions of languages. Conquering nations have left to time, the great teacher, the introduction of a new language, which has gradually merged with the one already spoken, the transition period taking generations.

CHANGING PRONUNCIATION

In Canada, however, at the present time, a step-mother tongue is being forced upon us. Children and young people use it almost exclusively. A new phase in the history of English has come into being; that of rapid alteration in pronunciation, not of isolated phrases and words similarly spelt, but of sounds which compose words.

During the past ten years these changes have been so marked that anyone who has not been in Canada for that period might conclude, from the evidence of his ears, that a new received standard of pronunciation had been adopted.

There are no ugly sounds in English. They only become so when wrongly produced and used. Even beautiful ones may be made hideous.

The English "r" is a trilled sound, not a gutteral one; for instance theatr', centr,' not theater, center. The consonant "s" is often hissed, yet if properly enunciated it has a soothing, calm effect: Whisper, shadows, solitude, sleep, song, slumber.

Vowels, however, are the worst sufferers in this maltreatment. They are being mutilated to an alarming extent. The new pronunciation is certainly not English. For all the short vowel sounds in English the mouth and teeth are slightly open; as they "jump" out of the mouth in this order a-e-i-o-u (sounds not names) the lips are narrowed horizontally, at the same time coming gradually closer, the tongue being moved slightly.

Nothing marks uncultured speech so unmistakeably as wrong vowel sounds. It is safe to predict that if this mutilation continues some will disappear entirely. The short sound of "o" is an example. In the step-mother tongue many sounds or combinations are used instead.

SOME INSTANCES

It is difficult to write any pronunciation without using phonetic symbols, but the following illustrate it as nearly as spelling can:

1. O becomes "ah" as: ahbject (object); ahpposite (opposite); prahper (proper); prahmise (promise); jahb (job); pahcket (pocket); haht (hot); frahm (from); prahbably (probably); ahperation (operation); cahntinent (continent); cahncert (concert); cahllege (college); blahck (block); Rahbert (Robert); Bahb (Bob).

2. O becomes "oher" as: Thohern (thorn); cohark (cork); tohern (torn); foherce (force); pohert (port); loherd (lord); cohern (corn); befohre (before); hoherd (board); stohere (store); coherse (course); foher (four); foherk (fork).

3. O becomes "oh" as: Sohft (soft); trohpic (tropic); foh'est (forest); pohlka (polka); dohg (dog); foh'eign (foreign); lohss (loss); poh'ter (porter); cohst (cost); tomoh'ow (tomorrow); Nohra (Nora).

4. O becomes "au" as auffice (office); auffer (offer); cauffee (coffee).

5. Short "a" becomes "ay" as: staymp (stamp); daymp (damp); haynd (hand); daynce (dance); braynd (brand); payntry (pantry); layst (last); ayppetite (appetite); advaynce (advance); mayry (marry); cay'm (calm); jaym (jam); bayron (baron); vaycation (vacation); trayvel (travel); maynager (manager); anayp (snap); raybit (rabbit); scayndel (scandal); imaygine (imagine); aynawer (answer); glaynce (glance); maygic (magic), bayn'jo (banjo); acaydemy (academy); aycid (acid); mayn (man); cayn't (can't).

6. "A" (sound "or") becomes "ah" as: Dahghter (daughter); thah (thaw); strah (straw); quahrter (quarter); quahrt (quart); pah (paw); pahse (pause); bahl (bawl); ahful (awful); ahl (all).

7. "A" becomes "oh" as: Pohris (Paris); pohrtners (partners); pohrty (party); apohrtment (apartment); pohrted (parted).

8. "Ue" "ew" becomes "oo" as: noo (new); Toonday (Tuesday); doo (dew); doo (due).

9. "Ur" becomes "oo" as: Toon (tune); dook (duke); stoopid (stupid); instituot (institute); avenoo (avenue); constitootion (constitution; prodooce (produce).

10. "I" becomes "ee" as: Speerit (spirit, seelk (silk); deleerium (delirium); sheep (ship); admeeral (admiral).

11. "Ea" becomes "ay" in playsure (pleasure); laysure (leisure); traysure (treasure).

12. Letters are omitted as: Quah'l (quarrel); bah'l (barrel); pah'ot (parrot); Har'ld (Harold); cah'mel (caramel); hoh'er (horror); pohige (porridge); ohenge (orange); pitcher (picture); Lat'n (Latin); wite (white); weat (wheat); c'm'ere (come here); twen'y (twenty); c'n (can).

Other mispronunciations are: Dram-a (drama); coo-koo (cuckoo); ser-ious (serious); cer-ial (cereal); figyouer (figure); colyoum (column); burrer (butter); wrastling (wrestling); aer-ial (aerial); sireen (siren); evul (evil); cleur (clear); Azia (Asia); dizmay (dismay).

Thus we see that speech habits being formed need serious attention; not merely certain words, such as "tomato," "schedule," that we may quibble over, but the wrong production of sounds, the substitution of one sound for another, or their omission, resulting in pronunciation which becomes the rule not the exception.

AWKWARD COMBINATIONS

Euphony, too, is disappearing. We hear "the" (short "e") apple; the end; the ink; the orange; the umbrella. This necessitates distinct pauses between the words and very awkward sound combinations. The English pronunciation of "the" before a vowel is "thee" to avoid this.

What are we going to do about it? Should we not endeavor to find out the causes for this language mutilation and begin to arrest it, and preserve a beautiful spoken tongue, the rightful heritage of English-speaking people.

Today thousands learn to sing, how many to speak? Yet ten centuries before the Christian era, between two and three thousand years ago, the Ancient Greeks recognized the necessity for educating the voice. It was part of the proper education of all Atheneans. Five hundred years before the birth of Christ it was carefully taught in schools.

The manner of speaking is as important as the matter, and speech should be improved, not degraded. Right hearing is essential for right speaking, and children of all ages should be led to realize what speech sounds really sound like, to link the sounds they wish to make with those they do make, to realize what their mouths should look like when they produce them, to "watch" sounds as they write; to express and interpret them in many ways—in short to be "speech sound conscious."

H. R. Shipherd says: "If you wish to stand squarely and move surely among your friends, your duties and your thoughts begin with your pronunciation."

Letters to the Editor

No letter to the Editor will be inserted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 300 words in length.

AN APOLOGY

Sir,—I would appreciate if you could publish the following apology and retraction for me. Certain statements with regard to the theft of an automobile were attributed directly to myself, and Edward Woods and William Baker, whose names were mentioned in the statements, have requested me to make a public retraction. This I wish to do, and in so doing would couple with that retraction a public apology for having in any way either purposely or unintentionally done them any harm.

Hoping you can oblige me in this matter, and assist me in extricating myself from a difficult position, which I assure you I had no intention of precipitating.

THE C.C.F.

Sir,—A number of letters, anonymous and otherwise, have recently appeared under the above heading in the columns of the local press. These, and similar letters under other headings, are apparently attempts to link up the C.C.F. with individual and personal expressions of opinion which have no connection whatever with the avowed policy, programme or platform of that body.

As these letters are of a controversial nature, and as their contributors are apparently endeavoring to involve the C.C.F. in their personal controversies, it is desirable that your readers should clearly understand that the opinions expressed in those letters may not, in any way, be regarded as official expressions of the C.C.F. or in any way connected with or authorized by that body.

The platform and policy of the C.C.F. is distinctly stated in its published manifesto. Copies of that manifesto are obtainable by any who are interested, through application to the local headquarters of the C.C.F. No individual, whether a member of the C.C.F. or otherwise, has been authorized by that body to express, through the medium of the public platform or press, opinions at variance with, or opposed to the declared policy of the C.C.F. as contained in its manifesto. Those who elect to do so are merely voicing their personal opinions, and have no official authority to identify those opinions with the avowed policy of the C.C.F.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

Sir,—I read with interest and approval Mr. H. P. Winsby's letter on the above in The Colonist of January 18, as he says: "What more ridiculous situation could anyone possibly imagine than competition between public and private ownership?"

Just imagine an old and successful business, that had done more for the advancement of Canada than anything else, having the Government run a rival business alongside it, and running it in a wantonly extravagant way with the taxpayers' money and at a loss to the taxpayers of nearly one hundred millions of dollars per year, and the old established business the largest taxpayer in Canada! being taxed to support its Government-owned rival that had reduced it by cut-throat competition to stop paying any dividends for close on three years now. These dividends are in thousands of cases the life savings of old people and widows who had relied on them for support in their declining years. Had the King Government no sense of fair play? Who permitted wanton extravagance to bring things to such a pass. The politicians seem afraid to do anything to alter these conditions, though the C.N.R. debt is sucking the life blood out of Canada.

The plan proposed by Mr. E. W. Beatty would seem to be the only practical solution. And who is there that knows more about the successful management of railways than he? Certainly no politician. We hear a lot about his scheme, that it would reduce the number of men employed, though he says this is not so. The railwaymen are now having their cuts in pay restored to them, but no one has pointed out the gross injustice that has been done to the poor stockholders of the Canadian Pacific Railway by Government competition with old established and successful private ownership.

J. E. WADDINGTON.

Harbor Road, Sidney, B.C., January 19, 1935.

A middle-aged suburbanite, overtaken on his Christmas morning stroll by a young married friend whom he knew was taking a memory-training course, inquired what progress he was making.

"Doing fine!" was the reply "Fill your pipe from my pouch and I'll tell you while we perambulate."

But the last word was hardly uttered when he made a right-about-face and returned on his tracks at the double. In the evening the middle-aged one called to return the pouch.

"Thanks," said the owner "I suppose you wonder why I left you so abruptly. Law of association—worked beautifully. The word 'tobacco' followed by 'perambulate' reminded me of something."

"Important?"

"Well—yes. Don't breathe a word to the wife, but I'd left the perambulator outside the tobacconist's, and the baby was in it!"

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From The Daily British Colonist of January 22, 1885.)

Wharf and Rider Building.—H. A. Atkins who built the Esquimalt and the outer Victoria wharves, and who for nine years did all the wharf and trestle work for the Northern Pacific Railway on Puget Sound, was in town yesterday. Mr. Atkins has the most improved appliances for quick and efficient work, and is prepared to contract for extensive operations in British Columbia.

Freight Consignment.—Sixty tons of freight comprised the steamer George E. Starr's list for Victoria. In the freight sheds are over fifty barrels of old rye whisky which, when diluted to a point which dealers think drinkable, is an exceedingly large lot of the hilarious liquid. One would be inclined to the belief (if he did not know they were not) that British Columbians are a thirsty people.

Y.M.C.A.—The Young Men's Christian Association has secured the rooms occupied, until lately, by Harris & Horrsreyes, corner of Government and Bastion Streets, and will furnish and move into them about February 10. The rooms will be opened by a book social, which means that each one attending will bring with him one or more books, for the purpose of forming a library.

COURT REJECTS MOONEY'S PLEA

But Tribunal Points to Road Which May Lead to Freedom

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP) — Tom Mooney's plea that the Supreme Court take up his case was rejected today, but the tribunal pointed out another legal road which eventually may lead to freedom for the famous prisoner.

The court said in effect that the California courts should free Mooney if he had been convicted on perjured testimony; that he had the legal right to ask for a writ of habeas corpus in the state and that all arguments that technicalities prevented further action in his case were wrong.

Mooney is serving a life sentence on a charge of participating in the Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco in 1916 in which ten persons were killed and forty injured.

INJUNCTION OVERRULED

Court of Appeal Here Upsets Objections to Candidature of W. C. Woodward

W. C. WOODWARD

The mandatory injunction which was granted by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald requiring W. C. Woodward, of Vancouver, to withdraw his candidature for director of the Bank of Canada has been upset by the Court of Appeal, which concluded its consideration of the matter last evening. By unanimous decision, the court was in favor of allowing the appeal that was taken from the order of Mr. Justice McDonald on behalf of Mr. Woodward by C. H. Locke, K.C., and F. K. Collins.

Chief Justice J. A. Macdonald, while allowing the appeal, said that if he were called upon to place Mr. Woodward in one of the categories, he would classify him as in commerce. At the same time, he did not agree with the granting of the injunction.

Mr. Justice Martin also allowed the appeal. He will hand down fuller reasons later for his decision, but felt that with the uncertainty which characterized the support given to the affidavit upon which the injunction had been granted, it should not be granted.

AGAINST PUBLIC INTEREST

Mr. Justice A. E. McPhillips would not grant the injunction as it was not "just and convenient" to take such a course. It would not be in the public interest at this stage of the proceedings connected with the carrying into effect of the election of the directors of the Bank of Canada to stop it by way of an interlocutory injunction. He was of the opinion that the court was being called upon with nothing to support it to declare that Mr. Woodward had committed purjury when he put himself in the category in which his name was appearing.

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald agreed also that the appeal should be allowed. He alluded to the difficulty which existed where a person was engaged in a number of occupations to arrive at what would be called the chief occupation as required.

Mr. Justice W. G. McQuarrie could not see the ground for the taking of the course that had been followed. He would, therefore, allow the appeal. He was firmly convinced that the injunction should not be granted.

CONCLUDE ARGUMENT

The argument of Mr. Locke was completed shortly before noon yesterday. He was followed by J. P. Hogg, representing A. T. N. Bain, who had applied and obtained the injunction.

Mr. Hogg pointed out that in spite of the fact that it might be held that Mr. Woodward would make a first class director, and he was not opposed to that contention, there was involved the effect that his candidature might have upon others. His name being allowed to stand might have the effect of displacing others who were contesting the election.

He argued that the statements of Mr. Woodward established the fact that his chief occupation was not other than commerce.

Minister Outlines Foreign Relations To Japanese House

Says Cardinal Principle of Policy Is to Promote Peaceful and Friendly Contacts With Every Country in the World

TOKIO, Jan. 22 (CP via Rengo).—An appeal for united support of the Government by the whole Japanese nation "in face of the present international situation" was made by Foreign Minister Koki Hirota today, addressing the Japanese Diet.

He stressed it was the cardinal principle of Japanese foreign policy "to promote Japan's peaceful and friendly relations with every country of the world," and to further develop cultural and commercial intercourse with other nations.

He pointed, however, to the fact Japan's withdrawal from the League of Nations becomes effective on March 27, "and ours will be a greater burden of responsibility. The foreign relations of the country," he added, "are the reflection of the moral power and material strength of its people. If all of us in conformance to the august will of His Majesty work together and do what lies in our power, it will not be difficult, I am sure, to surmount any obstacles we may encounter."

EXPANSION NOT DESIRED

The foreign minister said Japan's abrogation of the Washington Naval Pact, effective two years hence, must not be taken as indicative of a Japanese desire for expansion of her naval armaments but the contrary, elaborating the Japanese thesis of an all-round reduction which would make naval aggression by any power unfeasible.

He described relations with Britain as tinged by difficulties following abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese Trade Treaty and said Japan was working for a fair settlement, denying Japanese trade with the world was bolstered by unfair production practices.

RELATIONS WITH CHINA

Regarding China, Hirota said, the Japanese Government "will be obliged to continue to watch with concern activities of the Communist Party and armies of China."

Anti-Japanese agitation in China had not yet ceased, he added. "I fervently hope not only that China will soon recover her stability," he said, "but that she will awake to the realization of the whole situation of East Asia, and undertake to meet the genuine aspirations of our country," which he described as China's neighbor and the stabilizing force in East Asia.

Turning to Russia, the Foreign Minister declared agreement on the transfer of the North Manchuria Railway should be completed soon, and if it served to eliminate such disputes as have occurred along that line, "and strengthen the friendship between Japan, Manchukuo and the Soviet Union, then the prime objective of the present negotiations will have been attained."

CO-OPERATION ESSENTIAL

He added, however: "Hearty co-operation on the part of Soviet Russia is of course essential. In this connection I cannot but hope that the Soviet Government will give consideration to the erection of military works in the Far East, especially along the Soviet-Manchukuan frontiers, with a view to promoting mutual trust and assurance."

He referred to the "historical bond of friendship between Japan and the United States, and said: "There exists no question between the two countries which is intrinsically difficult on an amicable solution. Certainly it is unimaginable there should be any cause of conflict between two countries separated by the vast expanse of the Pacific."

ABROGATION OF TREATY

Of abrogation of the Washington Naval Treaty with its five-to-five-to-three ratio for fleets of Britain, United States and Japan, the Foreign Minister said: "This step must not be taken to mean we intend to launch out on any expansion of our armaments, which is far from our thought. On the contrary we look forward to conclusion of another pact to supersede the Washington treaty, a pact based on a new formula which shall be truly consonant with the spirit of disarmament. We sincerely hope for and are devoting our best efforts to bring about an early resumption of negotiations for achievement of a new and equitable agreement which will embody the principles of non-aggression and non-menace and effect the actual and sweeping armament reduction and thereby the cause of world peace."

"As for our former ally, Great Britain," he said, "while it is true that in order to safeguard our overseas trade we have yet to discuss various matters with that country, I cannot think of any part of the globe where adjustment of interests between us might be considered in any way unattainable. It is needless to say good understanding and co-operation between Japan and Great Britain constitute a really important contribution to the peace of the world.

TRADE BARRIERS

"I am sorry to state a policy of trade restriction, exemplified in the promulgation of high customs tariffs, import restrictions, exchange control and exchange compensation duties, etc., is as prevalent as ever among foreign countries, some of which have even gone so far as to abrogate their commercial treaties with our country. Such a situation is extremely regrettable, not only for the sake of Japan, but also from the broader viewpoint of the world economic rehabilitation.

"Our Government is endeavoring to come to a fair agreement with each of the powers concerned in order to have such measures of trade restriction either modified or removed as far as possible and to promote the mutual interests of both. For a country like Japan, with a vast population on the one hand and meagre natural resources on the other, foreign trade constitutes an important and peaceful means of livelihood. The advance of Japanese commodities on the markets of the world today is only the fruit of our nation's united and indefatigable labors for many long years.

"Of course we are resorting to no unfair devices for expansion of our trade, while development of our industries confers substantial benefits on many countries which produce raw material, and at the same time ministers directly to the welfare of multitudes of consumers throughout the world."

WATER REBATE MOTION WINS

Principle of Allowing a Flat Rate to Fair Grounds Debated by Council

By a vote of six to five, the City Council last night decided to make a rebate on the water account of the British Columbia Agricultural Association. The question stirred up a debate on the principle of allowing a flat rate for water.

Alderman P. R. Brown and Alderman John A. Worthington led the fight against the rebate, declaring that the principle of a flat rate was wrong and a dangerous precedent to set.

Mayor David Leeming, Alderman Walter Luney and Alderman Andrew McGavin led the supporters of the motion, contending that liberal use of water at the fair grounds during the dry season would mean a decided improvement to the city's property, and that the association could not afford to pay large water bills out of its small treasury.

When the motion came to a vote the Mayor's voice was the deciding one.

Vancouver Takes Grand Ducking With Laughter

Residents Slosh Through Sea of Slush—Male Office Workers Sit Barefooted as Socks Dry on Radiators—Explanations Unnecessary

VANCOUVER, Jan. 21 (CP).—Vancouver became a city of gay camaraderie today as its folks sloshed through a sea of slush.

Perhaps it was the absurd picture everybody presented as they tried to step across flooded streets, gingerly at first and then plunging in without restraint after the first few soakings.

Girls and women were carried across intersections on the backs of men they had never seen before. Everyone had a cheery word for everyone else as all joined in one grand ducking from an opened sky above and a flooded earth beneath. Sometimes men tried to carry women and fell themselves, carrier and carried making one grand splash.

LARGE STORES CLOSED

In the residential districts and suburban parts, the situation was hopeless. Downtown in the busiest sections nothing but high boots were of any use, and once wet to the knees most people just waded through it. Large department stores, with only a skeleton staff arriving soaked to the skin, gave up and closed their doors without a word of explanation necessary. The few motor cars abroad sent slush whirring a dozen feet away and ploughed snow banks in front of them.

The smart young business woman appeared at her office in ski or hiking outfit, or in a wondrous assortment of costume, while her male confrere padded around in bare or stockinged feet. Many didn't wear much of anything, while their clothes steamed out on radiators.

Vancouver is not accustomed to disposing of a large snowfall. But the combination of elements thrown at it would have tried up any city.

HEAVY SNOW THEN RAIN

First there was snow. That was frozen into a solid foundation by near zero weather. Then it snowed seventeen inches last night. Then it rained all day and all tonight. The rain couldn't get through the frozen under-snow to drain off; so it backed up into last night's fresh fall.

Snowbanks were piled six feet high at the city's busiest corners as hundreds of men tried to shovel ways through the streets and make drainways.

But Vancouverites beamed through it all, taking it as a lark, putting up with the soaking and other inconveniences caused by the transportation tie-up. Perhaps they were glad to have the native rains back after the spell of cold and snow. In any event, tonight there was a big drive for favorite cures to ward off incipient colds, grippe, bronchitis and other ills.

INVITE FOREIGN NAVAL VESSELS

On a motion by Alderman Archie Wills, seconded by Alderman Walter Luney, the City Council last night decided to write to the Secretary of State at Ottawa requesting him to ask the foreign consuls at the capital to urge their respective Governments to have Esquimalt placed on the itinerary of all visiting foreign naval vessels that come to these shores.

Alderman Wills pointed out that Victoria had been passed up on several occasions and Esquimalt Harbor, which was looked upon as part of the Greater Victoria area, was the naval base on the Pacific Coast, and should be extended the courtesy of a call rather than Vancouver.

SOVIET SYSTEM IS DESCRIBED

Canadian Trades Delegates Tell What They Saw in Russia

Upwards of 150 people heard three members of the Canadian trades and labor delegation to Russia, recently returned, outline, last evening, their impressions of the trip on which they were guests of Soviet officials while in Russia. The meeting was held at the Chamber of Commerce, under auspices of Friends of the Soviet Union. Fred Fox, Mainland organizer of the organization, was in the chair.

Mack Mackinnon, of the Lumber Workers' Union; Peter Munro, of the B.C. Street Railwaymen's Union, and Tom Russell, of the Waterfront Workers' Union, all of Vancouver spoke. Mr. Munro had acted as chairman of the Canadian delegation, which sailed from London, England, last Fall for Russia, on the Soviet steamer Siber.

A prepared resolution was put and carried, asking the Canadian Customs to return to Mr. Munro a report on Soviet activities alleged to have been confiscated on his return to Canada. A collection was taken, and copies of The Moscow News and other Soviet publications distributed during the meeting.

PAID OWN WAY

All three speakers prefaced their remarks by stating that organized labor in Canada had paid the cost of the voyage to and from Canada. In Russia the party traveled 4,500 miles, visiting Moscow, Leningrad, Odessa, the Ukraine, Dnieperstroy and many other points on an itinerary they said was of their own selection.

The party was conducted to Red Square to see the Red Army and 1,600,000 armed workers march past officials of the Soviet Union, as well as visiting industrial and agricultural settlements. Freely each speaker said that Russia's 175,000,000 population is being ruled by a "dictatorship of the proletariat."

INTERPRETERS SUPPLIED

Tom Russell described electrified docks at Leningrad, the Moscow subway project, and model coal mines at other points. He said men and women worked side by side, and seemed happy. There was no evidence of starvation or cruelty among workers. All marine workers were in one union, with an average wage of 200 roubles monthly, with a seven-hour day and social insurance privileges. He did not speak Russian, but interpreters were supplied to the party, which was feted and entertained freely.

Mack Mackinnon told of the assembly of 155 labor delegates from all countries, in Leningrad Square, to watch the Red Army and factory workers march past. The procession continued all day. The party was then taken to the opera. While in Moscow the party visited an anti-religious museum, where "capitalism and the Czar" were jointly pilloried at the head of the world's existing forms of worship. In lumber camps, said the delegate, men were receiving eight roubles a day, paying three and a half roubles for board and lodging. Eight hours a day were worked in Spring and Winter. Women were paid the same as men.

WOMEN ARE FREE

Peter Munro described living conditions, schooling and other matters. Women were wholly free. They worked six hours a day in factories and elsewhere, and were paid 200 roubles a month, with two months holidays a year. After twenty years work they could retire at full wages. When they died, a free funeral was given. Children were the first care of the state, which took charge of the youngsters up to eighteen years of age, at which age they began work. Churches were open, but not attended.

The collection, it was announced from the platform, amounted to $15.20. As this was insufficient to pay the transportation of the speakers, a second round of contributions was solicited. The meeting closed with a question period.

CONFERENCE PLANS READY

Agenda for Calgary Conclave Filed With City Council Indicates Busy Session

The agenda of the conference of Western mayors and reeves to be held in Calgary on January 28 was filed with the City Council last night and referred to the finance committee for consideration before Mayor David Leeming leaves to attend the meeting.

The communication stated that a splendid response had been received from all civic dignitaries in the cities of the four Western provinces, and the largest conference ever held by the municipal authorities was expected.

A resolution from the council of Kamloops to be presented to the conference also was referred to the finance committee. This motion seeks refunding of municipal debts at 3 per cent on a twenty-year basis, with a Provincial Government guarantee.

SOLICITOR TO DEFEND ACTION

Council Confirms Stand of H. S. Pringle Over Application for Commission

H. S. Pringle, city solicitor was advised to defend any action made against the city by the firm of Ryan, Hibberson Timber Co., Ltd., for commission on the sale of the Goldstream watershed timber to Fairservice, Gierin, Ltd.

The firm, in a letter to the council, claimed $7,969 as balance of commission on the sale of the timber to Fairservice & Gierin.

Mr. Pringle, in a letter, replied that the company had no claim on the city, since Fairservice & Gierin had not completed their contract. The letter of the solicitor was confirmed by the council and Mr. Pringle instructed to defend any action.

RACING DATES ARE DEBATED

Council Asks Association to Reconsider Application for September

The City Council last night decided to ask the Colwood Park Racing Association to reconsider the question of horse racing dates at the Willows track so as to give racing here during fair week.

A letter was read from the B.C. Thoroughbreds' Association, asking for the dates of September 7 to 23 inclusive. This association explained that no other time was available as the horses would do racing either in Vancouver or Seattle, and to run races here at the same time as in Vancouver would be financially impossible.

In a letter from the B.C. Agricultural Association it was pointed out that it was not advantageous to hold the fair at the Willows in September, because the tourist season then was over; herds and six-horse teams could not be kept the full week of the fair, because they had to move south to other fairs; the weather was unfavorable, and the schools had resumed studies. It also was pointed out that the Mainland schedule could be changed to meet the date of the Victoria fair.

The council, after considering the arguments presented in both letters, asked the Colwood Park Racing Association, with whom the city has a contract in connection with the racing concession, to reconsider the dates.

plant about 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and the alarm was received at 2.45 o'clock at the fire station and all equipment was ordered out.

HYDRANTS FROZEN

Hampered by frozen hydrants, low pressure from those that were brought into operation, rain, slush and darkness, the firemen were unable to make much headway against the rapidly spreading flames. Dense smoke prevented firemen from reaching the seat of the blaze and, with insufficient water, the hose lines were practically useless unless used at short range. It was possible, however, to protect surrounding property and prevent the flames from spreading to other parts of the big mill.

At the outset the work of the firemen was curtailed by delays in getting the pumpers to the water's edge because of lumber obstructing the only roads available on the mill property. It was some time before the pumpers were in operation. However, the rain that hampered the work also aided in quenching the blaze, once the roofing collapsed.

The fire had its commencement at the height of one of the heaviest rainfalls of the season. There was no wind and the flames were reflected against the sky and the glare could be seen from all parts of the city. By 4 o'clock the planing mill was in ruins and the flames had commenced to die out, but were not completely extinguished until two hours later. The ruins were smoldering the greater part of yesterday, it was reported.

John McLennan, a fireman from Number 2 station, collapsed when he returned to his station and had to be taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment. Collapse was due to smoke. None of the firemen were injured, although the hazards were exteremely great at times.

"VERY SUSPICIOUS"

Although fire officials and others connected with the mill property are inclined to believe the origin of the fire was incendiary, they declined to make any positive statements until the official inquiry gets underway. J. D. Kissinger said the whole outbreak looked "very suspicious." Fire Chief Munro stated that evidence might be obtained to support the fire bug theory.

The plant had been out of operation for several days and the only man on the premises when the fire started was the watchman, William Sloan. The main part of the mill has not been operated for some time and the planer was used occasionally to take care of orders for the local market. The planer was a two-story metal-sheeted building and the heaviest loss will be of machinery.

FORESEES BETTER DAYS FOR C.N.R.

Trustee Fullerton Says National Railway Being Sacrificed for Good of Country

OTTAWA, Jan. 21 (CP).—Canada has the cheapest railway rates in the world, and few people appreciate the fact, Hon. C. P. Fullerton, chairman of the board of trustees of the Canadian National Railways stated here. "The Canadian National Railways are being sacrificed for the good of the country as a whole," he said.

The railway's chairman came to Ottawa with Mrs. Fullerton for the Governor-General's drawing-room, and, in the course of his visit to his former home, discussed the railway situation.

"Sir Henry Thorton once said if the C.N.R. had the same rates for grain shipments as those in the United States, the C.N.R. would not only pay the interest on its bonded indebtedness, but would have $20,000,000 to spare," he said.

FINDS STATEMENT TRUE

"As I thought that rather a remarkable statement I asked our economist to check it up and he found it to be the exact truth."

Mr. Fullerton said he hoped the time would come shortly when the C.N.R. would not only meet all interest payments but also would make a drive on paying off the bonded debt. Economies continued to go on; wherever possible, without imparing service, economies would be effected.

"People say that Fullerton has given up economies. That is not true. They forget that these things take time and a great deal of study."

In competition with bus traffic, all the railways asked was that road traffic should have to obey the same regulations as the railways.

Few Present as Saanich Election Campaign Opens

Weather Prevents Many Taxpayers From Hearing Candidates—Meetings Held at Ward One and Ward Three—Reeve Is Ill

Saanich election campaign got under way last night as two meetings were held, one in Ward One and the other in Ward Three. Flood conditions prevailing in the district apparently kept many away, and both meetings were poorly attended. There were twelve taxpayers at the Ward One session held in St. Aidan's Hall, and about twenty at Gordon Head School where the Ward Three meeting was conducted.

At Ward One, Councillor Fred Borden, who was elected to his council post by acclamation and did not speak, presided as chairman. Leslie G. Scott, president of Ward Three Ratepayers' Association, officiated at the meeting in Gordon Head School.

REEVE NOT PRESENT

Speakers at Ward One were George McWilliams, Sr., P. D. Wilson and John Reid, reeveship candidates, and Trustee William Tomes. William Inglis and Leslie H. Passmore, aspirants for the school board. All these speakers were heard at Ward Three in addition to Councillor G. A. Vantreight and A. G. Lambrick, candidates for the post of ward representative on the council.

Reeve William Crouch was not present at either meeting owing to indisposition.

COUNCILLOR VANTREIGHT

Councillor G. A. Vantreight, seeking re-election, reviewed his year's work. He pointed out that he had secured a booster pump to facilitate pressure in the higher districts.

"We haven't the money to spend on roads to the amount I would like to see," he continued. A total of $3,310 was spent on Ward Three roads. Some $231 had been spent on Gordon Head Road, while more than $1,200 had been spent on Marine Drive. However, some $6,257 had been expended on public works in the ward, Councillor Vantreight said.

"In regard to this road work, I think we could get better work if the district foreman and the ward councilor were given complete charge," declared the councillor.

COULD AVERT LOSS

He said that hundreds of dollars of damage had been caused needlessly. "The damage could have been averted somewhat if we had our own road foreman," he continued.

Councillor Vantreight stated the relief workers were not used to the heavy work and relief was costing the ratepayers some nine or ten mills in the tax rate.

He considered Ward Three was paying too much for electricity and he was making an effort to cut the rate down. "I have done the best I could in a quiet way, and if elected I will continue to do my best without fear or favor," he stated.

G. A. LAMBRICK

G. A. Lambrick, who is opposing Councillor Vantreight in a straight fight, declared he would attempt to keep taxes down. Any public works should be done with a view to keeping down the cost of materials.

He said Orientals should be kept out of the Gordon Head area, and the district preserved as a residential area.

Mr. Lambrick said he would, if elected, make an effort for closer co-operation between municipalities. He considered improvements on property should not be taxed so highly. "Property is far too heavily taxed."

"My policy is fair play with the most important jobs being done first," he stated.

CANDIDATE FOR REEVE

George McWilliam, Sr., candidate for reeve, stated that, in seeking the post, he was campaigning "straight and clean with no mud-slinging."

"I would endeavor to have the Provincial Government take over relief administration," he said. "The costs of relief are rising and I don't think we will be free of relief costs for years to come. All our revenue comes from land and assesment, and because of the difficulty in finding markets, these taxes should not be increased."

SAYS CHANGE NEEDED

Mr. McWilliam declared that the council had been in a groove for two or three years and the municipality was urging a change.

He said relief should not come from the ratepayers, but from a Provincial Government scheme of taxation based on ability to pay, or on income taxes.

"In order to hand relief over I would simply refuse to budget for it," he declared. He urged the electors to return him with a complete new council.

Social service charges could be administered by the Provincial Government if all the municipalities co-operate. These costs, Mr. McWilliam said, would continue to rise if no action was taken.

SEEKS REVISION

A revision of the assessment roll was another plank in his platform. Mr. McWilliam agreed that an equitable tax was reasonable, but the whole assessment should be revised. He declared the Court of Revision should be composed, not of councillors, but ratepayers of wards and those who understood the business.

"There has never been a revision since 1925, except the 1932 blanket reduction. Our mill rate of forty-two mills will soon break you farmers," the aspirant for reeve continued. "The tax rate could be reduced," he said.

Mr. McWilliam was in favor of returning the library service to residents of Saanich. Some arrangement could be made with the library board on the cost of the service.

FAVORS PLEBISCITE

The speaker stated that Provincial Police cost considerably less than the present municipal police. He would, if the ratepayers wished, place a plebiscite before them.

"I would carefully investigate every department in the municipality with a view to cutting expenditures. Economy would be the main watchword of his council, Mr. McWilliam everred. "There would be no trips to Calgary and there would be no wasting of money as there is today," he continued. He would have the relief men do "something which would be useful." He would serve the people to the best of his ability.

In answer to a question Mr. McWilliam said that relief was a Dominion matter. He also said that a Cadboro Bay school was necessary.

INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE

John Reid, candidate for reeve, stated at the outset that he was not a workers' candidate, but was seeking election as an independent, "just like Reeve Crouch and Mr. McWilliam."

Mr. Reid stated he would, if elected, consider anything of benefit to Saanich along public works lines. He said he would start a sewer system in Wards Two and Seven and the more thickly populated part of Ward Four.

The profits of the waterworks would be turned over to the outer wards to extend pipe lines. Mr. Reid dealt with Dominion matters concerning state health insurance and extensive public works. Both these moves, stated Mr. Reid, were essential.

LESLIE H. PASSMORE

Leslie H. Passmore, candidate for school board, stated that economy effected by the board had been at the expense of efficiency. He said schools needed repair, citing the example of Tillicum School, which was closed yesterday due to flood conditions.

He had been convinced a long time ago that Cadboro Bay should have a school. It would be both economical and efficient to erect the school, he stated.

Mr. Passmore was opposed to homework, terming it a "relic of the past ages," and corporal punishment should be kept at a minimum. He would try to secure books, if possible, at wholesale costs.

TRUSTEE TOMES

Trustee William Tomes, seeking re-election, declared he had spent six years on the school board. The board had done its best with a view to strict economy without affecting efficiency.

The board had cut down some $33,035 in the last three years, Trustee Tomes said. This, he considered, was a "feather in the cap of the board." He said three high schools had been erected during the time he was on the board.

WILLIAM INGLIS

William Inglis, candidate for school board and supporter of the proposed Cadboro Bay School, declared at the outset he was basing his entire platform on a new school.

Mr. Inglis said he would abolish corporal punishment and did not believe in homework. He said the cost of transportation, which would be $2,200 for 1935, could, with a $1,000 Government grant and $1,000 from the sale of the old Cadboro Bay School, be used to build a new institution.

The speaker declared he would investigate the necessity of repairing several of the schools. He had handled children since 1909, being a physical training director in England, Eastern Canada and Victoria.

P. D. WILSON

P. D. Wilson, reeveship candidate, declared he was seeking election on a straight municipal platform of the Communist party. Society was divided into two classes, the workers and the capitalists, he contended.

He said he would urge the Provincial and Dominion Governments to assume the full burden of relief. Mr. Wilson said he would support the move for non-contributory unemployment insurance and not contributory as "advocated by the banks."

REDUCE INTEREST RATES

Mr. Wilson claimed that it would be wise to bring interest rates to the lowest possible point, and he would support all genuine plans for a graduated tax on all incomes over $2,000 per year, and for the exemption from taxation of all incomes under $65 per month.

PRESIDENT LINER SAVES ALL HANDS

The Hokuman Maru, a vessel of 4,003 tons, was outbound from Seattle and Vancouver to Osaka, Japan, with lumber and general cargo.

DUE THIS MORNING

With the rescued crew of the Japanese freighter aboard, the American Mail Line Ss. President Jackson is due at William Head at 8 o'clock this morning, the captain wired the local office of the Dollar Steamships last night. This should bring the liner in about 9 o'clock at the docks.

It is not known whether the Ss. Salvage King, which left Victoria early Sunday morning to pick up the Langleecrag off Cape Flattery and tow her to Vancouver, will make a dash for the Hokuman Maru or not. Several other ships are known to be in the vicinity of the abandoned vessel, while the Armentiers, stationed at Bamfield, is ready to be of assistance if called on, and would have proceeded to the scene of the trouble if the President Jackson had not arrived alongside her in time to take the men off.

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

A BOLD FRONT

It is a psychological fact that the best way to discourage a lead from a certain suit is to discard freely from that suit showing a confidence in its top strength. This form of playing strategy at times must be used to preserve the possibility of fulfilling the contract. A bold front was displayed in the following hand.

TODAY'S HAND

North, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

	♠ Q J 3 ♥ A ♦ A K 9 8 7 2 ♣ A 8 4
♠ A 10 8 5 2 ♥ K 4 2 ♦ 5 3 ♣ Q 7 5	N W E S	♠ 9 ♥ J 9 5 3 ♦ Q J 10 4 ♣ 10 9 3 2
	♠ K 7 6 4 ♥ Q 10 8 7 6 ♦ 6 ♣ K J 6

The bidding: (Figures after bids refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs).

North	East	South	West
1♦	Pass	1♥	Pass
2♦ (1)	Pass	2NT (2)	Pass
3NT	Pass	Pass	Pass

1. A rebid of three diamonds could not be criticized in rubber bridge. As the deal was played in duplicate, North chose to be conservative, knowing that South would bid again if he held better than one honor trick.

2. South's strength warranted this strong bid, despite his shortness of diamonds.

THE PLAY

West opened the spade five. Dummy won with the jack. Declarer cashed the two top diamonds and led a third round, discarding two hearts from his own hand, indicating top heart strength.

If the adverse diamonds are split 3-3 Declarer can now cash nine tricks. But if two diamonds must be lost to establish the suit, there is danger that the heart ace will be knocked out, and a second heart lead through South will put him to an unpleasant guess. Now it is a psychological fact that the best way to discourage a heart lead is by discarding from the heart suit freely, to exhibit entire confidence in its top strength.

East led back the ten of clubs.

Now South made a nice inference. Placing the club queen with West, South played the club king and led a spade. West jumped in with the ace in order to lead another club, but South was not to be fooled. He let the small club ride to the jack. A small spade entry to dummy, and another diamond lead established the entire North hand.

Declarer thus made four no trumps for maximum on the board.

TOMORROW'S HAND

South, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

This hand will be discussed in tomorrow's article.

AGAIN HEADS B.C. COMMAND

Robert Wilkinson Re-elected by Army and Navy Veterans of Canada

NORTH VANCOUVER, Jan. 21 (CP).—The British Columbia Command of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada returned Robert Wilkinson, M.P.P., to his third term as president when twenty-six delegates from units throughout the province gathered here over the week-end for the organization's annual meeting.

Major Thomas R. Wheadon, of Victoria, was named first vice-president, and Ernest Jameason, of Ladysmith, second vice-president. Major Eade Ward, of Vancouver, was re-elected secretary-treasurer, and Rev. Glen Stevenson, of Alberni, elected chaplain.

Voicing support of Captain Smith, of the Island Water Transport Veterans, the meeting decided to give them every support and assistance in their fight to get pension recognition from the Dominion Government. The Dominion Command of the Army and Navy Veterans will be asked to further the Transport Veterans' claims at Ottawa.

The financial statement showed that more than $8,000 had been spent by British Columbia units on relief and grants to various organizations during the past year. Captain C. F. L. Money, of Victoria, said that his organization, in addition to grants from the Provincial Command, had spent $4,500 in grants to needy veterans and to the Alexandra Sick Children's Home on the Island.

FLOODS FOLLOW THAW IN VICTORIA

couver Island Coach Lines, commended Driver A. Manson on the manner in which he conducted himself throughout the trying experience. Coffee was served the passengers during their long wait.

The regular 6.15 p.m. bus from here to Nanaimo was cancelled yesterday owing to the roads being flooded at Goldstream. The bus from Nanaimo, however, managed to get through. Conditions on the Island Highway, however, are so bad the Up-Island trips have been cancelled until there is an improvement in the situation.

The Sidney bus also was stalled at Saanichton on Sunday evening along with six other cars. Another bus was sent out from the city to bring the passengers back. However, the route was opened to traffic yesterday.

Traffic between Victoria and Up-Island points on the E. & N. Railway was disrupted when the melting snow and rain carried away about 200 feet of fill at Mile 18.2 between Silvene and Malahat stations. Repair crews are working feverishly, under trying conditions, to repair the damage, and it is expected that service will be resumed this morning.

SHIPS DELAYED

Steamship schedules also were disrupted. The Princess Alice did not leave for Seattle on Sunday, but cleared from here at 2 a.m. yesterday. The Princess Elizabeth was unable to leave Vancouver at midnight on Sunday, but pulled out at 5:30 a.m., arriving here at 11 a.m. yesterday.

While B.C. Telephone Company lines in the city were reported intact, several breakdowns Up-Island were reported. These are being repaired as quickly as possible.

The unusual rain and snow, combined with the rapid thaw, created a mud and stone slide along the flume line of the B.C. Electric Railway Company's power development at Jordan River. The Goldstream plant and the steam generating plant at Brentwood were hurriedly switched into the distribution system. In the meantime, repairs to the flume at Jordan River are being effected.

BUILDINGS DAMAGED

Bad leaks in the roofs of Diggon-Hibben Ltd. and the Court House were reported. Damage amounting to $500 occurred at Diggon-Hibben Ltd. while members of staff at the Court House were able to remove valuable documents before they were damaged by water. The City Hall suffered minor damage, some of the walls being spoiled by water. The high school, too, suffered similar damage when water leaked into two rooms, when gutters became clogged with snow. Water invaded the Parliament Buildings, seeping into a record room in the basement used by the Department of Lands.

In low-lying areas of the city, flood conditions prevailed. Shelbourne Street was reported under water in the low-lying levels, while a four-foot deep pond was created near the intersection of San Juan Avenue and Niagara Streets. Boys, for a few hours yesterday, enjoyed boating on the pond. Blenkinsop Road is not in a safe condition at present for motor traffic. The highway is under water at several spots. The East Saanich Road was damaged 250 yards north of the Keating Telephone Exchange, but public works department crews were put on the job yesterday morning to repair the washout.

FLOODED AREAS

Other areas flooded included Heywood Avenue, Speed Street, Alpha Street, and Kings Avenue. Bowker Creek in the Oak Bay municipality is backing up, while basements in homes at the foot of Gonzales Hill near the Chinese Cemetery are flooded.

The city engineer's department reported that the surface drains are working efficiently, but the load is so great that the drains cannot cope with the run-off. Few cases of clogged drains were found, it was stated. The Saanich public works department sent its snow ploughs out on Sunday to keep as many roads open as possible. The work was confined chiefly to arterial highways, however.

The B.C.E.R. Company kept its tracks clear on Sunday afternoon by running the snow ploughs continuously over its system.

RECORD RAINFALL

F. Napier Denison, director of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory, last night reported that 3.24 inches of water descended on Victoria for the twenty-four hours starting at 9 p.m. Sunday. This is a record, he said. The previous record was 2.78 inches of rain on December 27, 1397. The rain during the past twenty-four hours totaled 2.64 inches. Eight inches of snow fell, and thia brings the total precipitation to 3.24.

All day Sunday a snowstorm raged, the wind reaching its maximum velocity between 6 and 7 p.m. when it blew forty-five miles an hour. It continued throughout the night, but moderated yesterday.

The snow changed to rain at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, and the downpour continued all night and most of yesterday. The change in the temperature was brought about by the great ocean storm which swept down from the Aleutian Islands, and which is still hovering off this coast, Mr. Denlston stated.

His forecast is continued mild weather and more rain.

During the week-end some fear was felt that there might be a shortage of milk in the city, due to the supply from Up-Island points being cut off by the snowstorm. However, the rapid change in temperature and its accompanying thaw removed this danger.

ANTICIPATE FLOODS

Forewarned of dangerous potential flood conditions at many points throughout the province, the Provincial Department of Works and its field engineers were on the alert yesterday to anticipate what is expected to be an unprecedented run-off from heavy snowfall general throughout most districts, washed down over the frozen ground by following rains.

The Island Highway at the Malahat was officially closed to traffic by Hon. F. M. MacPherson, following a dangerous condition near Goldstream, where high water in the river has threatened bridges and washed over part of the road. Repair gangs were placed at work at once.

SNOW GENERAL

From Nanaimo came reports of two feet of snow; four feet at Courtenay; between two and three feet in Vancouver and up the Fraser Valley; rising to ten feet at some points in the Northern Interior.

On Vancouver Island, ice-covered hills at Sooke and washouts impeded traffic, while trains, buses and private vehicles had a difficult time in getting through at several Up-Island points. Wired telegraphs and telephone lines suffered, under the accumulated weight of snow and falling trees. At Ladysmith a giant locomotive was taken with difficulty from its roundhouse, blocked by drifts.

BRIDGES WATCHED

Every piece of snow-plough equipment in the provincial service was out on the roads yesterday, keeping passes open. The real trouble has yet to come, when the abnormally heavy snowfall commences to run off. Several rivers are already high on their banks from the precipitation, with bridges being watched at several points. Ice in the streams is also giving trouble, being two feet thick at points.

A police patrol taking a replacing constable out to an outlying post at New Denver, took three days to go sixty-two miles by car, only with difficulty getting through from Nelson. Dog teams, had they been available, would have made the same distance in about a day.

COLD ON COAST

Out of Ocean Falls, the Provincial Police launch P.M.L. 9 met heavy weather and intense cold on a run to Bella Coola, her crew taking axes to lighten the load of ice that masked her gunwales, and forced the vessel low in the water.

Pouce Coupe, by contrast, reported a comparatively "mild" day on Sunday, the temperature standing at 40 degrees below zero, instead of from 50 to 65 degrees below, experienced for some weeks previously.

DAMAGED POWER HOUSE

A landslide at Japan Gulch, in the Goldstream district, damaged the power house of the B.C. Electric yesterday afternoon, according to reports reaching the company's offices here last night. A complete report of the damage was not available, but a number of men were sent out to effect repairs. It was stated the slide carried away a portion of the power house building, but the service was not interrupted.

The company operates an auxiliary plant at Japan Gulch in addition to the big power plant at Jordan River. One of the flumes at the latter plant was carried away by a slide over the week-end, but service from that plant was also being maintained.

NANAIMO HARD HIT

NANAIMO, Jan. 21.—A strong southeaster, accompanied with a heavy blinding snowfall, struck Nanaimo early Sunday morning and continued until the early hours of Monday. It left in its wake several buildings with roofs caved in, over twenty-four inches of snow piled in drifts at some points to eight feet, and traffic from all points, including the city streets, at a standstill.

Following the snow, came rain, and today drains were blocked, water four to six inches deep lay in pools in the business section, many store basements were flooded and much damage is anticipated to goods stored. Roofs of even some of the newest stores are leaking, the water adding to the damage of goods in stock.

On Sunday night a large building on the Indian reserve, south of Nanaimo, used by the Indians for meetings and dances, collapsed, badly damaging an automobile stored therein. A barn collapsed at Salmon's farm, North Wellington. Arthur Young's barn at East Wellington also collapsed under the three-foot snowfall, as did also the brooder house of William Kidd.

Milk deliveries were impossible in most cases in the city today, and all schools in the city and district are closed.

The city secured the use of the Buck & Turner Logging Company's tractor, to which an impromptu snowplough was attached, and the main streets were cleared to some extent. Difficulty was experienced in securing enough men to work, as City Engineer Graham reports that unemployed refused to turn out when called upon.

PLOUGHS ARE WORKING

Government District Engineer Bigwood reports that a snowplough left Alberni today in an attempt to open the roads between the west and east coasts. The B. & T. tractor, rigged out with a new snowplough, which is being built tonight, will leave here in the morning, and it is expected the two ploughs will meet at noon on Tuesday. A truck, equipped with a plough, is working north out of Duncan, in an attempt to open the road between the two cities, and Road Foremen McGarrigle and Dickinson have a large force of men working on the roads between Nanaimo and East Wellington.

Thus far, telephone and telegraphic communication with Island points has been kept open.

One good feature of the blizzard for Nanaimo is the fact that it has created a most unusual demand for coal, the mines working Sunday and today, with prospect for steady work for some time.

HAVOC AND HARDSHIP GENERAL IN STORM

of delivering orders in the heavy snow.

Minor food shortages developed in the cities, where milk, bread and grocery deliveries were abandoned as impossible; but the food situation was serious in the country districts.

VALLEY SNOWED IN

The entire Fraser Valley was snowed in, with roads buried under three feet of snow on the level and from six to ten feet in drifts. Snowploughs broke down under the immense task which faced them, and there appeared no possibility of immediate relief. Food for livestock was scarce and human beings suffered almost as much.

Collections of milk in the valley was impossible as the valley's chief industry was tied up. The situation threatened a milk and butter shortage in the cities.

Vancouver Island was in like case as the heavy snow completely stopped traffic, forced closing of schools and business establishments and caused property damage. Nanaimo, Ladysmith, Cumberland, Chemainus and Comox were snowbound.

Electric power shortage developed when high tension lines of the B.C. Electric Company from Lake Buntzen and Stave Falls went down under the weight of snow. The company could not send repair trucks over the impassable roads and officials saw no hope of effecting repairs until traffic could be resumed.

SHORTAGE OF POWER

The company issued a warning to consumers to conserve power, stating that only the fact that the mills are closed and few street cars running has enabled the company to continue service. The Ruskin plant and the Vancouver steam stand-by plant were carrying the whole load.

Chief property damage was reported in Vancouver, where the roof of the Forum rink, in Hastings Park, collapsed under the tremendous weight of snow. The damage was not estimated, but would undoubtedly run into thousands of dollars. Collapse of nearly 120 feet of the upper part of the north concrete wall, twelve feet high, was believed responsible for precipitating the immense roof to the ground.

Damage estimated at more than $50,000 was caused when the roof of the Elks Garage on East Cordova Street caved in under tons of snow during the day and pulled the walls of the building down. Sixty automobiles inside were buried under a mass of broken bricks and splintered timbers.

BUILDINGS WRECKED

The building was completely wrecked and every car in the structure was damaged. A Chinese employee had a narrow escape from death but crawled from the wreckage unhurt to the amazement of police and firemen called to the scene to search for possible victims.

Other buildings in Vancouver collapsed under the snow tonnage. Extensive damage was known to have occurred in outlying districts.

Lilies' Garage, at Chilliwack, crashed in ruins and twenty-five cars and trucks were buried in the wreckage. No person was hurt. Chilliwack residents forsook their work to participate in the work of clearing snow from roofs that further serious damage might not occur.

Railway and steamship schedules were disrupted. The Canadian National Railways' westbound transcontinental train, due here 9 a.m. today, was stranded near Boston Bar by a slide. Officials stated the train might arrive here tonight.

The Canadian Pacific Railway reported four feet of snow in the Fraser Canyon and all their transcontinental trains were many hours late. The train due 9 a.m. today was stormbound near North Bend as was the train which left here eastbound last night. Other through trains were delayed by slides near Revelstoke.

SHIPS HELD IN PORT

Coastal steamships were held in port overnight due to poor visibility during the snowstorm and the stiff gale which lashed the Gulf of Georgia. Services were resumed during the day, however, and steamship officials expected schedules would be practically normal tomorrow.

The Alaska Steamship Company's liner Victoria, bound from Seattle to Alaska with 126 parsengers, went aground in Johnson Strait, about 150 miles north of Vancouver, at 5:22 a.m., in a heavy snowstorm. She was able to refloat herself in two hours, but the captain wireleased he would bring the liner back to Seattle for survey as she was leaking slightly.

DISTRESS ACROSS LINE

SEATTLE, Jan. 21 (AP).—Winter lashed the Pacific Northwest with a cold wave over the week-end and a warm wave today, sending melting snow across the country in a deluge that threatened serious floods.

Two deaths in Washington State were blamed on the weather over the week-end. Harrison Capoeman, twenty-six-year-old Taholah Indian, was found frozen to death on the Quinault Reservation. At Mount Vernon, Kenneth Campbell, twenty-three, died from exposure after falling through the ice while skating. Scores were injured by automobiles or sleds.

Trains were stalled, boats in distress, automobiles wrecked, street cars derailed, schools closed and streets turned into torrents of slush. Damage ran high into the thousands of dollars.

A seventy-five-mile gale hammered the Washington coast all night, Aberdeen reporting a dangerous flood situation. Officials at several other Western Washington points said rivers would be raging over their banks tonight. Sandbags were made ready in Kings County.

SLIDES ARE FEARED

Hundreds of unemployed in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and British Columbia got jobs cleaning up the slush. In Seattle alone 950 were hired. Thousands were lets to work because of it. Seattle officials said dangerous earth slides were feared.

Snow had been general, ranging from one inch or so to seven feet, and, as the temperature rose as much as fifty degrees at some points during the last twelve hours, the slush became uncontrollable. Bursting water mains added to the trouble at Seattle.

During the night, Chewelah, Wash., where more than 100 men, women and children were marooned at a quarry, but making the best of it, reported thirty-five below; and Sand Point, Idaho, twenty-six below.

A Northern Pacific train was snowbound at Martin, Wash. and many other trains and buses were as much as eight hours behind schedule.

The Ss. Victoria, of the Alaska Line, went aground in a snowstorm off the British Columbia Coast, but was refloated and turned back to Seattle, leaking. She was expected to arrive here by morning, officials said here. On her last trip north, three weeks ago, she also went aground, south of Prince Rupert, and was held there for two days.

STARTED TO SINK

The Admiral Rogers, decommissioned vessel at Seattle, started to sink because of a sea valve cracked by the sudden weather change, and a fireboat and harbor patrol boat used pumps to keep the craft afloat.

Coastal steamship service was seriously affected.

Continued moderate temperatures were forecast for tonight and tomorrow on the Coast, with wind and rain.

COLD IN SOUTH

The Winter storm blustered violently down into the South and across the Eastern States, Monday, bringing zero weather to Texas and Kentucky, lashing the Gulf coast with rain-laden gales, swelling streams from Wisconsin to Dixie and taking two-score lives or more.

Bitterest temperatures prevailed over Minnesota, where the mercury touched bottom, 32 degrees below zero at Crookston. It was 25 below at Blackfoot, Idaho; 26 below at Havre and Miles City, Mont., and a new blizzard swirled into Southwestern Colorado again, blocking the narrow gauge lines of the Denver & Rio Grande Western.

Floods—a warning of greater peril when Spring thaws melt the deep snows lying over the Northland—rolled rivers out of their beds in Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee. Pennsylvania river banks were filling. In Wisconsin the Willow River burst through the St. Croix Dam, wrecking a power house, railway trestle and damaging a new highway bridge.

COLD WAVE

The zero front passed Chicago at midday, moving steadily eastward and south. Pennsylvania, in the sixties and soggy with rain, anticipated by nightfall a 50 degree drop. Temperatures 10 below zero were forecast for Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio.

Deaths multiplied. Two negroes drowned in a Mississippi deluge. A week-end of traffic and other ice accidents accounted for sixteen deaths in Indiana, a dozen or more in Ohio, one in Texas, three in Oklahoma. An automobile plunged into a creek near Madison, Ind., in the fog and three men drowned. Sleet, rain and snow were advance agents of the cold wave.

At Union, Neb., a Missouri Pacific passenger train, hours late because of the weather, plunged into the caboose of a freight just pulling off the main line. Only one person was injured. The engine crew set the brakes and jumped safely.

Storm warnings were posted along the gulf from Texas to Florida. The mercury dropped to the freezing point on the Mexican border at Laredo, and dipped as low as 5 below zero in the Texas Panhandle, 11 below zero at Maryville, Mo., and near zero at St. Louis.

FROST STOPS FLOODS

Lowlands were flooded in many parts of Kentucky but zero weather, due last night, was expected to halt the inundation. Rainfall, badly needed, has been plentiful in the last fortnight.

Fog, slush and mild temperatures stood their ground at Washington, D.C., where the cold turn was called for Monday night.

Denver experienced its first sub-zero weather in two years. It was below zero in Kansas, but the weather bureau said the worst was past, and the mercury was reaching up for the zero level in Nebraska Monday afternoon. At Santa Fe, N.M., it was two above zero.

A high wind swept over Wisconsin and Illinois, whirling snow in some sections into impassable drifts. Temperatures in Wisconsin ran from zero to 25 below, coldest of the year. Two to four inches of snow had fallen in Wisconsin and Iowa, and was drifting badly.

Temperatures in Northern Iowa ran as low as 26 below zero, and in Nebraska, fringe of a warmer area, from zero up to 18 above. Sunday night the Sidney, Neb., thermometer registered 35 below, but rose to 25 below Monday morning and 18 above at 1 p.m.

GALE IN OREGON

ASTORIA, Ore., Jan. 21 (AP).—Some anxiety was expressed here tonight for the safety of the pilot schooner Columbia, which had been outside the Columbia River Bar since yesterday.

A southerly gale roaring sixty-two miles an hour suspended shipping, and none of the ten bar-bound vessels reported seeing the pilot schooner.

The craft left to place Captain A. A. Langkikde, bar pilot, aboard the steamer Gracia. Visibility was poor and the boat had no wireless.

WINDOWS SHATTERED

The warm, rain-laden wind tonight dissolved the last of the snow in Western Oregon. Almost of hurricane proportions, the wind shattered windows in business houses here and sent many signs flying.

Ferry service between Astoria and the Washington shore was suspended. The tug Tyee reported she lost a log raft in the storm and the Tug Melville reported losing half a raft at the river mouth last night.

MAN LOST OVERBOARD

JUNEAU, Alaska, Jan. 21 (AP).—Gales lashed this area today, with one man, Everett Fleak, twenty-three, believed drowned and a barge with several men aboard reported to have torn loose from the hulk of the Islander, where the men were busy in salvage operations.

The coast guard cutter Tallapoosa put out to locate the barge. Fleek was believed washed overboard from a gasboat, to which he went to put out more lines.

Several residences were unroofed at Douglas and two small buildings, both unoccupied, dropped off a wharf to the beach.

FLOOD IS AVERTED

HOQUIAM, Wash., Jan. 21 (AP).—Winds of almost hurricane force, accompanied by rain and snow for a total precipitation of five and a half inches during the thirty hours up to nightfall tonight, left the Gray's Harbor district storm-stricken, but a feared flood had been averted.

The waters of the rivers and harbor backed up to within four inches of the top of the dikes here and at Aberdeen during the afternoon, and then began to go down. Earlier in the Winter and last Winter also, disastrous floods occurred when the water went over the dikes.

A higher tide is expected at 3 p.m. tomorrow afternoon, however, weather bureau officials said.

DIPLOMATS TAKE SOLDIERS' PLACE

PEIPING, China, Jan. 21 (AP).—Diplomatic circles today replaced armed forces in the attempt to settle the Jehol-Chahar border dispute between China and Japan, according to an announcement by Japanese military authorities.

The announcement came after charges by the Chinese that Japanese and Manchoukan soldiers were concentrated along the border of Jehol prepared to move into Chahar to the westward. It said the dispute itself had been settled and the border questions were being left to diplomatic negotiations.

The Japanese contended that soldiers of Sung Chen-Yuan, provincial chairman of Chahar, had crossed into Jehol forbidden to them, and the Japanese were prepared to drive them out.

TEN KILLED IN MINE DISASTER

Many Overcome by Fumes Following Explosion in Pennsylvania Colliery

GILBERTON, Pa., Jan. 21 (AP).—Trapped in a coal mine level 1,000 feet from the surface, ten miners were killed today, two [illegible] reported missing and seventy-[illegible] were injured by an explosion which tore through the Gilberton colliery of the Philadelphia & [illegible]ng Coal & Iron Company.

Two of those injured were reported in a critical condition. Twenty-five of the hurt were confined to hospitals. Two hundred workers in the shaft were imperilled by the terrific blast.

Most of the injured suffered from poisonous fumes that seeped to other levels of the working and penetrated even to neighboring mines of Mahonoy Valley coal fields on the southwestern edge of the state's hard coal anthracite area.

The explosion, described by engineers as "terrific," tore through the sixth level of the mine, 1,110 feet below the surface. Most of the casualties, rescuers said, were among the sixty-nine men working on this level.

Officials were unable to say whether gas or dynamite caused the blast.

URGES BUILDING OF ROAD NORTH

Assemblyman in California Sees Great Advantage of International Highway

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Jan. 21 (AP).—Immediate construction by the Federal Government of the Alaska Highway, a 2,200-mile stretch extending from Vancouver to Fairbanks, Alaska, was urged in a resolution which will be placed before the Assembly tomorrow.

Assemblyman Anderson, Republican, Cupertino, author of the resolution, declared 14,000 men would be given work and a country capable of supporting 3,000,000 people would be opened up for colonization by the new highway, 1,000 miles of which would lie in American territory.

"The United States probably would have to loan Canada money to finance that country's share of the highway," Anderson said, "but the advantages we would gain would far outweigh any objections to such a step."

Anderson spent two years investigating the Alaska Highway, which is the northern unit of the gigantic international highway planned to run from Alaska to Argentina.

Virginia Vane Says:

LOOK AT LOVE PROBLEM SQUARELY AND FAIRLY—TRUTH NOT DESIRE SHOULD GOVERN SOLUTION

Love continues to be the most pressing problem in life.

Youth and age are distracted because of the vagaries of the heart and are looking about frantically seeking proper solutions.

The difficulty is that we try to solve our love problems in a way that will result in the answer we want regardless of whether or not the answer is correct.

If we will look our problems in the face and apply truth to their solution instead of desire, the pressure will lift.

CAN STILL BE FRIENDS

Dear Miss Vane: A problem has arisen in my life that means much to my present and future success. A year ago I met a girl at a church party and had my first date with her. I continued to go with her, went to a religious training school with her for a week, and have become very much attached to her. The other day I received a letter from her I did not like. I am not ashamed of letters I write or receive, but this one I didn't want anyone to see. I put it on my bureau and my mother read it. She questioned me as to the contents and I told her about it.

My ambition is to become a minister, and my girl has done much to encourage me. Mother won't let me go with her anymore, and I've told her I'd have to give her up. No one will ever know how much this girl means to me, how I love her and how she loves me. I tell mother how God is guiding my life and that I pray He will guide the girl's and my life together—but she says I'm foolish. This is not my first love affair, but I am thoroughly convinced that this is true love my mother is trying to discourage. Should I give this girl up?—Kross Roads.

Answer: Can't you be friends with the young woman without being so serious about your love life? Even though you have an advanced mind, no young man is sufficiently mature at the age of seventeen to be as sophisticated as you feel you are. It is unfortunate that the young woman should have written you in a way to offend your mother. But since the damage is done, you will have to go about repairing it slowly. Explain to your mother that you wish to continue the friendship on a more impersonal basis, and if the girl is indeed your true love the tangle will right itself.

BOY FRIEND'S LOVE HAS COOLED

Dear Miss Vane: I am a girl of twenty-two and have been in love with a boy of twenty-four for five years, and he seemed to have loved me faithfully, with the exception of a few times, during the whole five years. We planned on getting married several times, but the depression knocked us out. When I first started going with this boy he loved me but I did not love him. Finally he won my love. Every Summer for the past three years we have had small quarrels and he has tried to spite me by going with other girls, and suggesting that I go with other men. But after a month he has always come back.

We discussed marriage, and up until a month ago he was going to give me a ring. Then we had a quarrel and I apologized (it was my fault). Now he is back, but he says I should go with other fellows, too, and that the ring is out of the question because he is so changeable in his affections he doesn't think he will ever marry. He wants to go on seeing me, but says he isn't sure he loves me. Don't you think he should know his mind after five years?

Please advise me what to do. It seems a love that lasted so long should not be broken up now, and I love him so much it hurts more than I can stand.—B. M.

Answer: It sounds to me, B. M., as though the young man has fallen out of love with you. Your quarrels and misunderstandings over such a period of years also lead me to believe that you are not temperamentally suited to one another. If, at the end of five years, a young man informed me he couldn't make up his mind whether he loved me or not I would conclude that he does not, and I would accept the fact no matter how much it hurt. Surely you do not want an engagement ring from a man who is not sure he wants you to wear his ring. If he insists on being changeable in his affections, let him be changeable toward some other girl. You look about for a love that is steadfast.

UNCONSCIOUSLY BETRAYS REMARRIAGE COMPLEX

Dear Virginia Vane: I am a widow twenty-six years of age, and while I am not over-anxious to remarry, I am puzzled about the attitude men I go with have assumed toward me. I do not think I give the impression that I am looking for another husband, as I am independent, being a business girl. I am considered to be attractive and have had many advantages some girls miss, but I do not seem to inspire matrimonial intentions in my admirers. In fact, they always make it clear that they are confirmed bachelors and not serious.

I do not think that this is due to any fault of mine, but I have been unfortunate in meeting men who build up a great deal of resistance against being serious. May I have your advice?—Puzzled.

Answer: Whether you admit it or not you are thinking about remarriage, and involuntarily you communicate this thought to the men you meet. The very fact that they are quick to bring out their defence and announce themselves to be confirmed bachelors proves the point.

Why don't you beat them to it and announce at the earliest possible moment that you are a confirmed widow, that you wouldn't change your independence for marriage under any circumstances and that your intentions are purely playful. Even the most confirmed bachelor has been known to rise to a challenge that implies he is not as irresistible as he believes himself to be.

Weddings

ALLIOTT—ATKINSON

A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Mary's Anglican Church, Oak Bay, on Friday, afternoon, January 18, when Rev. Canon Nunns united in marriage Gwendolyn Irene, only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Dykes Atkinson and granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Edward Atkinson, of Harrogate, Yorkshire, England, to Mr. Alexander Wood Alliott, third son of the late Mrs. Elizabeth Alliott, Victoria. Only relatives and intimate friends witnessed the ceremony. The bride wore a Russian tunic of cruise blue trimmed at the neck with white moire and smart navy blue hat, and with corsage bouquet of deep pink carnations and maidenhair fern. Mrs. Reginald Lanning was her only attendant and wore a frock of wine crepe with hat to match and corsage bouquet of carnations. Mr. Dudley Green gave the bride away. After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the groom's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Green, October Mansions. Mr. and Mrs. Alliott will reside at 1528 Foul Bay Road.

Grand Old Lady Has Big Family

Mr. Robert Pettigrew, of 1153 Pandora Avenue, is one of an exceptionally large family. His mother, who lives at Stony Beach, Saskatchewan, is ninety-three years of age, and has eleven children, ninety-seven grandchildren, twenty-two great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild. Mr. Pettigrew himself, who is seventy-four years of age, has thirteen children and fifty grandchildren.

The whole vast family, including all the grandchildren, gather at the home of Mrs. Pettigrew regularly once a year.

T.V.A. Auxiliary Elects Officers

The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the Tuberculous' Veterans was held recently at the home of the secretary, 1716 Fort Street, with the president, Mrs. W. H. Booth, in the chair and twenty-three members present. The president gave her report and thanked all the members for the support that had been given her in the past year, for without loyalty and co-operation the auxiliary would not have accomplished much towards the objective of helping its parent branch to establish club-rooms on Blanshard Street. The secretary then gave her report and told of all that had been accomplished in the past twelve months.

The treasurer's report was warmly applauded, as the amount of money earned in the year had been large for such a small band of women.

The election of officers then took place and Mrs. Booth was elected president for the sixth year; Mrs. R. V. Campbell, secretary; Mrs. Standerwick, treasurer; Mrs. D. W. Burnett, first vice-president; Mrs. Fletcher, second vice-president. Heads of various committees were named, such as ways and means, tea committee, sick committee and house committee. Several presentations were made, Mrs. Booth, Mrs. Standerwick and Mrs. R. V. Campbell all receiving gifts. A Valentine tea will be held at the home of Mrs. Standerwick, 1531 Elford Street, on Wednesday, February 13, for auxiliary funds. There will be guessing competitions, musical programme, afternoon tea and a birthday cake for members and their friends.

A St. Patrick's tea will be held in March at the home of Mrs. Nelly Kelly, Esquimalt Road. The next meeting will be held at the home of the president, Mrs. Booth, 923 Esquimalt Road, on February 21, at 2:30 sharp. At the conclusion of the meeting tea was served in the large hall by the blazing logs and all sat down to discuss further plans for the year.

The mistress was interviewing an applicant for the post of housemaid. After several questions as to experience and capacity, she said: "Now, about references."

"Oh, that's all right, mum," answered the girl. "I like your face. I won't bother you for a reference."

Schroeder, treasurer, reported that the allocation had been more than reached, while a gratifying report was given by Mrs. T. Southern, Mission Band superintendent, and by Mrs. Fatham, supply secretary. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Honorary president, Mrs. J. Dilworth; president, Miss A. Spencer; treasurer, Mrs. F. Schroeder; recording secretary, Mrs. A. Carnochan; supply and literature secretary, Mrs. Tatham; Mission Band superintendent, Mrs. T. "THE CHILD"

By REGINALD H. WIGGINS, M.D., C.M., L.M.C.C.

SPEECH—A POWER

The power of speech can become a great instrument for good when it, and the mind controlling it, are properly controlled and trained.

A mother came before me in a clinic in Philadelphia and complained that although her boy was four years of age he said nothing that could be understood. Later I came upon her talking to the child. What I heard was, "Ootie darlingest, ootsie, wootsie, tootsie . . ." and more "sies." She was mortally afraid that Horatio would never speak English. She had forgotten that the child copied faithfully what he heard about him. His diction depended on what she and others said to him. Also that Horatio's understanding was far, far ahead of his powers of expression.

If a mother desires her child to speak correct English she must talk to him intelligently and use proper English.

A child of eighteen months is not too young to be talked to in a quiet, straightforward, sensible way. We can only expect his reasoning faculties to develop when we speak to him sensibly and treat him as a sane, reasonable being. The child is extremely capable of living up to our estimate of him and his ability.

It is our custom to talk down to the child, or underestimate the acuteness of his reasoning. We are apt to treat him as a pet rather than a person, then we are amazed when we get a pet's response.

At two years the average child has learned to talk and should have from one to two hundred words at his command. This ability he will have if we take the trouble to devote the time to teaching him our language, and give him due credit for his ability to understand.

FAITH IN LEAGUE SPEAKER'S PLEA

James A. Gibson Tells Gyro Club of Canada's Part in International Relations

"It is important that we should not lose faith in the League of Nations despite the few setbacks it has had," declared James A. Gibson, Rhodes scholar, in an address on "Canada in the International Sphere," yesterday, at the Gyro Club's luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

The Gyro Club and other service organizations could do a great deal towards furthering the aims and objects of the League of Nations, declared the speaker. At the outset, Mr. Gibson outlined Canada's emergency from a colony of the British Empire, as far as international relationship was concerned, to a separate world power.

The first step was in 1921 when, through the insistence of Canada, Great Britain cancelled the Anglo-Japanese treaty. The following year an incident between Great Britain and Turkey established Canada's right not to enter into warfare, the speaker stated. In 1923 the Halibut Preservation Treaty marked the Dominion's first treaty with the United States, with official Canadian signatures, he stated. Since that time the Dominion had entered into many commercial and other treaties.

The speaker spoke at some length on the part Canada had played in the League of Nations. It had done much to develop the various organizations of the League, including the Council, the Secretariat, the Assembly and the International Labor Office.

Mr. Gibson referred to the Disarmament Conference of three years ago. He felt that Canada had contributed much to its well being in that it had attempted to harmonize diversified opinions. However, budgets for armaments were increasing the world over. This, he felt, was breeding war and should be stopped.

"I 'ear you've 'ad a slight argument with yer missus, Mrs. 'Iggins."

"Yes, indeed, Mrs. Wiggins. The missus says ter me, 'Mrs. 'Iggins,' she says, 'you've forgot to clean the top step again. You really must try to remember wot I tells yer.' So then I ups and says, 'Beggin' yer parding, mum, but there's so many things wot I must remember not ter forget any'ow, that sometimes I 'ave to forget to remember wot I 'ave ter remember not ter forget, so as ter remember likewise,' I says, after which we hunderstands each other more clearly."

Road Name Still Remains the Same

The parks committee of the City Council recommended to the council at its meeting last night that the name, Foul Bay Road, either be retained, or the spelling changed to "Fowl" Bay Road.

However, it was discovered that the committee was encroaching on the work of the executive of the public works committee, which had been instructed to interview representatives of Oak Bay and Saanich Councils to bring back a recommendation on the change in the name of the road now that Foul Bay itself has been altered to Gonzales Bay.

As a result, the council merely received and filed the park committee's recommendation.

AWAITING ANSWER

King Prajadhipok is in England, where he has remained since an eye operation last Summer. A delegation of Siamese diplomats went to London to strike overtures for the King's return, but they had scattered to vacation places in Europe while the Government here was compiling an answer to the ultimatum.

The trouble all seemed to have started when insurgent forces during the King's absence shook some of his relatives from the political plum tree and modified the constitution. The relatives combined with other forces and led a reactionary movement.

POWER OF PARDON

The ultimatum, never fully made public, was said to have demanded that his full power of pardon, curtailed under the modified constitution, be restored.

Until the new move of the King today, Siamese diplomats had predicted the whole matter would end in a prolonged deadlock.

Daily Bridge Question No. 79

You, East, are playing a contract of four spades. South opens the club ace, followed by the six. North plays the seven on the first round and the eight on the second. You proceed to obtain your contract. How do you go about it?

Answers to these questions may be telephoned, mailed or delivered the day the question is published and addressed to Macan & Mitchell, 221-2 Pemberton Building.

Answer to Question No. 78

Lead the jack of diamonds and go up with the ace. The intent is to set up the diamond suit by then leading the queen. If the king is held up you still have a play for game. If, however, you had finessed the queen on the first round and the king had won the trick, your opponents, if reasonably intelligent, would be certain to extract your spade ace by means of a Deschappelle coup, and the prospects of game would be virtually nil.

FOLLIES GIRL

Margaret Gorman Nichols

SYNOPSIS

When Sherry Ross graduates from the Reedville, Va., High School, there is no money to send her to college, so the tall, dark, graceful girl helps around the big house until the local bank fails and her father loses his job. She learns to make her own clothes and makes some Summer dresses for a girl from New York who teaches her to dance. She tells Sherry she has natural ability and says she should be able to get on the stage. Now that Sherry has to do something she becomes what she terms "paid scenery" in the Follies. The show is still in rehearsal and she is sharing a one-room apartment with another Follies girl, little blonde, ambitious Janey Vines, whose parents had done a song and dance act for years and now have a chicken farm. Sherry has no men friends in New York and Janey cannot understand why she doesn't, because of her good looks and charming manners. One rainy evening, when the rehearsal had gone particularly bad, and Sam Murray, the director, had seemed to be looking for somebody to "bawl out," and Hilda Ames, the star, had become temperamental, Sherry waits outside the theatre for Janey. A low, elegant car pulls up at the curb and a dark, handsome young man steps out. Just as Hilda Ames appears, "Oh, hello, Tony Arnold!" she cries. "Take me away from this wretched place, darling." Sherry has never seen any man as good looking as this black-haired man Hilda called Tony Arnold.

CHAPTER II

Shery was brushing her thick dark hair.

"Who," she asked, "is Tony Arnold, Janey?"

Janey was washing stockings in the bathroom. She laughed.

"Say, you do have ambitions. Tony Arnold was born with a silver spoon in his mouth. You know, Boston, Harvard, all that sort of thing. His old man has been getting him out of scrapes for years. His family lives in Boston and son Tony is the prize-package playboy of the season. Where did you see him?"

Sherry paused on the brush, remembering him.

"I was waiting outside the theatre when he called for Hilda Ames."

"Oh, so that's the latest, is it? Well, he'd better look out. She got a hundred grand for her last husband."

"Janey, don't people ever talk in terms of anything but 'grands'?"

"We just talk," Janey said. "D.d you get a good loo': at him?"

"A short look but a good look," Sherry answered. "He's awfully good-looking."

"That's what they all say. There isn't a girl in New York who wouldn't be flattered by his attentions. He's got everything—money, looks, position. But one of these days his old man is going to get tired dishing out the cash. Then watch Tony. Hilda will say, 'Sorry, darling, but I'm not in tonight.' I've watched them come and go, Sherry."

"He was awfully good-looking," Sherry repeated.

Janey came out of the bathroom rubbing cream on her hands.

"He is, but he isn't exactly good company. I mean by that, he shows you a good time but he never gets serious. He gives you swell things but he doesn't propose. When Tony Arnold marries, it will be a girl of his own class."

Sherry was to think of this conversation many weeks later.

"Quite the wrong kind of man for me to get mixed up with," she said. "I don't accept gifts and I expect to be proposed to properly. He was still sunburned, Janey. I liked that."

"He'll play around and then go to Bermuda or Palm Beach. In the Summers he goes to Europe."

Sherry laughed.

"Out of my class, Tony Arnold," she said gravely, "is the wrong kind of man for me."

But somehow the lean tanned face refused to be forgotten. She thought of him, wondered about him. When during rehearsal she stood, a mere follies girl, insignificant and unknown, and listened to Hilda sing, she felt that Hilda was a rival. But that was absurd. Tony didn't even know her; she didn't know him. But the thought persisted.

She heard from home regularly. Her parents were well. Money was scarce. Grandmother Sheridan was making her a quilt. Ina was in love again. Tim was going "steady" with a town girl. Hannah's errant husband had gone off again, but he would come back. He always did when the warm kitchen of the Ross's faithful negro cook haunted him.

Sherry enjoyed the letters and read them to Janey. Janey, in turn, read letters from her parents. Eggs were going up, thank goodness. How was the stage this Winter? Remember them to her friend, Sherry Ross, and bring her to the farm sometime.

The telephone rang one night—late. Janey answered it, talked (Sherry knew she was talking to a man), and hung up after quite a lengthy conversation.

"Guess what?" and Sherry sat up in bed. "That was Paul Bixby. He plays a sax in somebody's orchestra. I met him while I was on the road and he just heard I was back in town again. Got a date with him tomorrow night—dinner date."

"That's fine," said Sherry and went calmly back to sleep again.

In the morning Janey said, "I'll find out if Paul knows any interesting men and I'll fix up a date for you. You're losing time, Sherry. You haven't worn the gold lame yet. I'm dying to see you step out."

Sherry said, "That's fine," again and forgot about it.

Paul Bixby turned out to be a nice boy with brown hair and eyes, and with ambitions to direct his own orchestra. Sherry met him a week later when a date was arranged for her with a friend of his, another nice boy with brown eyes who also played a saxophone.

"Oh, so that's the latest, is it? Well, he'd better look out. She got a hundred grand for her last husband."

They called for Sherry and Janey and took them to a night club. Sherry wore the flowing black chiffon. Foolishly she never looked at the gold lame without thinking of Tony Arnold. "I should like to wear that dress for him, idiot that I am!"

It was her first visit to a Manhattan night club. She was thrilled but not particularly impressed. She said later, "I hope nobody knew it was my first time in a night club."

It was then that Tony Arnold first saw her, but she did not see him this time. He came in with Hilda Ames who made all heads, except Sherry's turn to look at her. Hilda was sleekly blonde, exquisitely dressed. Tony, dark and handsome, was beside her.

He saw a girl sitting at a table in profile to him. She wore a black dress. Her hair was dark, shining, and she was the most graceful looking woman in the room. Tony, madcap that he was, found himself staring at her, thinking, "What a restful looking person she is. Quiet, restrained and beautiful as a dream. I wonder who she is."

He said to Hilda, "See that girl there—who is she?"

Hilda looked, shrugged.

"She's in the show, I think. Sherry Ross. I heard Murray say that men would like to look at her. Why, Tony?"

He laughed. "Oh, I don't know. I like to look at her."

"Stop looking," said Hilda, "and look at me."

* * * * *

The rehearsals were becoming more and more difficult. Sherry's back ached and she wondered why they had to go over and over the thing so many times. Murray, the director, wore a permanent scowl and Hilda was going temperamental again. The author of the show and the composer of the music had hot verbal battles.

Sherry went to the movies with Janey and Paul and Wilson Carlton rather often. They went to Greenwich Village.

"I always thought," she said to Janey, "that follies girls were glamorous creatures who lived in penthouses and wore diamonds."

"In the movies. Imagine it on our salary. Sherry, I wish we had a piano. Can you play?"

"I play badly but I like to. But, Janey, are we going to keep this apartment? The show opens in Boston, you know."

"We won't keep this apartment," said Janey. "We'll get a better one, and rent a piano when we get back to New York again."

It was a cold, rainy night several nights later. Janey rushed from rehearsal to keep a date with Paul. Sherry took her time, looking at her tired face in the mirror. A letter from home today had revealed that Tim had a broken arm and was home from school.

On her way out of the theatre, pulling her coat collar high around her face, Sherry suddenly stopped very still, seeing Tony in Murray's office. Hilda was there, too, arguing with Murray.

Suddenly Tony turned a little, saw her. It was the direct look of two people suddenly attracted. Sherry lowered her eyes and walked away.

The rain was coming down in torrents now. At the curb was the low, black car with a chauffeur at the wheel.

Sherry's heart was pounding. He had looked at her as if he had seen her before—as if he knew her!

She had walked up the wet pavement a few paces when she heard someone running behind her. Sherry paused, lifted her head.

It was Tony, smiling, as the rain beat in his face. Sherry smiled, too, hope in her heart, excited, thrilled.

"Oh, I say," he said, "could I give you a lift? I'm Tony Arnold."

"I'm Sherry Ross."

"I know," said Tony. "I saw you in a night club and asked who you were." He laughed. "You're getting soaked! May I . . . ."

He took her arm and they got in the car together.

Sherry settled herself back in the luxurious car, a thousand warnings running through her mind.

Tony bent over, his eyes close. Sherry drew back.

"I don't," she said, "kiss strange men in strange automobiles."

"Oh," he said, "but then you probably know my complete biography."

"It's colorful, to say the least."

"Off-color?" Tony asked. "Where to—your place or mine? Or better still, let's go to a supper club. I have never seen a girl who wasn't hungry at midnight."

He was charming. He was indifferent. He was insufferably conceited.

He said, "I wanted to kiss you the first moment I saw you, but I knew you'd look startled when I tried."

She smiled, turning her head aside a little so that he could not see her face so plainly. It was still raining and the street lights were mirrored in the wet streets.

What Today Means

"AQUARIUS"

If January 22 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10 a.m. until noon, from 2 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 9 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 to 10 a.m., from 4 to 6 p.m. and from 9 to 11 p.m.

If you will put some constructive ideas you have into practical use on this January 22, the result may be gratifying. Steady application to business is very essential if satisfactory results are desired, as there are likely to be many temptations to indulge a natural inclination to be sociable. Money matters, especially those involving payments falling due on this date, should not be neglected if unpleasant consequences are to be avoided. They may prove to be a very poor day for the offering of frivolous excuses, so unless you have a logical one to offer it will be wise to deal with actual facts or truthful statements. Invitations should not be extended promiscuously or carelessly for any social event, if a fiasco is to be prevented. Married and engaged couples, as well as those desiring to impress someone with their charms, will enjoy the day far more if they avoid any form of deception.

If a woman and January 22 is your birthday, whoever wrote: "Hope springs eternal in the human breast," must have known some fair lady born on this date. Romantic adventure and ardent attention are probably the two things you wish for more than anything else. Hopes frequently are realized, so let nothing destroy your expectations. You can have a lot of fun building air castles, and the spirit of eternal youth probably comes from the land-of-make-believe. If you can put on canvas or paper your mental pictures with the same vividness that your imagination can create them, your success as a writer or artist would be assured. Prosaic things may bore you, so if art or literature do not attract, possibly the next best medium for earning a living is in a line of selling where personality counts. Your husband should be a man of a very affectionate disposition, and if he lavishes plenty of it on you, supreme happiness should follow.

The child born on January 22, in its formative years, must be taught to look on the bright side of things. A cheerful disposition can be cultivated just as easily as a gloomy one, so parental influence in the right direction is most desirable.

If a man and January 22 is your natal day, optimism is the key stone needed for the building of any structure you may erect that will bring success as a permanent guest.

St. John W. Ervine, the well-known playwright, has brought out a life of General William Booth under the title of "God's Soldier," which is at the same time a history of the Salvation Army. It is a tribute, states The Church of England Newspaper, to the personality of General Booth that so distinguished a writer as St. John Ervine should have made this book his chief task during the past six years.

Little Bedtime Stories

An Unpleasant Double Surprise

—By THORNTON W. BURGESS—

Black Pussy had just about made up her mind to go home. She had found that hunting in a black coat on white snow was anything but successful. Of course, she didn't think of it in that way. It probably didn't enter her head that her black coat had anything to do with her lack of success. It had everything to do with it, however, for every one saw her in plenty of time to escape.

As I said before, Black Pussy had just about made up her mind to go home. She was tired, and then, too, she didn't like that lonely part of the Green Forest. So she crouched on the snow to rest for a few minutes before starting for home. Out of the corner of one eye she saw something moving. It was a shadow. It made no sound. Of course not, because shadows never make a sound.

New Black Pussy knew that there cannot be a shadow without something to make it, and that if the shadow moves whatever is making it must be moving. She knew that a shadow on the ground must come from something from above. More out of idle curiosity than anything else, Black Pussy turned her head to look up. What she saw was a great bird with what seemed to her the biggest wings she ever had seen. Great, round eyes, as fierce and yellow as her own, glared down at her, and just reaching for her were the most awful claws she ever had seen.

Now there is nothing slow about Black Pussy. Few can move quicker than can she. She moved quickly now. It wasn't quite quick enough for her to escape altogether, but it was quick enough to prevent Hooty getting a good grip with his great, cruel claws. They simply tore her black coat.

If Black Pussy was surprised at the suddenness of the attack, Hooty the Owl was equally surprised with what happened next. Those claws hurt, and they made Black Pussy angry. She turned on Hooty and seized him with her sharp teeth, at the same time using the claws on all four feet. It brought Hooty down to the snow. In fact, it was so sudden and unexpected that Hooty landed on his back.

And Just Reaching for Her Were the Most Awful Claws She Ever Had Seen

Now Hooty has a very thick coat of feathers, and Black Pussy's teeth and claws did not get through. But they did make the feathers fly. For just a few minutes that was the liveliest place in all the Green Forest. Such a yowling and yelling! Such a clawing and scratching! Such a hissing and snapping of a big beak! Such a pounding of great wings! And then Black Pussy bounded away and sought shelter under some thick hemlock boughs, where she continued to spit and growl. As for Hooty, he flew back to his perch on the top of his favorite tall tree, still hissing and snapping his bill and wondering how he ever came to make such a mistake.

Next story: "Black Pussy Climbs a Tree."

A traveling showman with a portable cinema projector made a tour of remote villages. His films were silent, and the main attraction was an interest film called "Deer Stalking."

At the first village he was packed out at the first performance, but on the second night the hall was empty. He stood outside and extolled the virtues of the show to a gaping crowd.

"What's the matter with you?" he demanded at last, exasperated.

"You don't catch us a second time," said the village postman. "They deer never said a word!"

DIGGING UP THE NEWS

The Great Father Vaughan Is Helpful; Remarkable Story About Admiral Scott's Arctic Diary; The Finest Speaker I Ever Heard; Conclusion.

By HERBERT RAMSAY

One of the most remarkable men of pre-war days was the late Father Bernard Vaughan, of Farm Street Chapel, Mayfair. He created a sensation by his series of "Sins of Society" sermons, and said sinning society flocked to his church to hear themselves castigated. These sermons were the base of the Drury Lane drama, "Sins of Society."

HERBERT RAMSAY

I was assigned to do one of his sermons one morning, but although getting there long before church time, the doors were locked because the church was filled to overflowing. An usher advised me to hang around and see Father Vaughan afterwards in the clergy house.

DICTATES SERMON

In due course I did so, and was shown into his room. It was utterly devoid of anything on the floor, there was a rickety washstand with a tin basin, an "easy" chair from which the stuffing was exuding here and there, a wobbly chair on which I sat gingerly in case it would collapse, and nothing in the way of other furniture except shelves of books. It looked the kind of place in which a man might take refuge who was down and out. Having explained my predicament, Father Vaughan lighted a cigarette and said, "I'll dictate what I think my sermon was worth today." And he proceeded to dictate in first-class newspaper style a perfect half-column beginning, "Speaking at Farm Street Chapel yesterday, Father Vaughan said."

Noticing that I was looking around curiously at his abode, he remarked, "Perhaps like many other people you think because I have a fashionable congregation and mingle with some of the most prominent people in London, I live in palatial style. Here you see all I have and it is all I want."

Father Vaughan belonged to a prosperous family, and no doubt had a good salary. He also maintained a mission in Whitechapel, and gave all he had to the poor.

Before leaving the clergy, I am constrained to mention something which I was a little proud of, but never got any credit for. The Archbishop of York had died and there was great speculation in the newspapers as to who could be his successor. During my first few months in London, I had encountered many bishops in the pulpit and at convocation meetings. Every London correspondent had taken a shot at naming the likely appointee. I did not agree with any of them. I had lived in York, and felt that in place of the aged archbishop the Prime Minister would appoint a young, energetic and business-like man. I had reported such a man several times. He was only a suffragan bishop in Stepney, and it was a tremendous jump from a mere assistant in the East End of London to the second highest in the church.

I sent an "exclusive" article to one of the leading papers in Yorkshire saying that the new Archbishop of York would be Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang. The editor wrote back, saying my prediction was so far-fetched that his paper could not use it. But Cosmo Lang it was, and I was the only man to "tip" him. Now he is Archbishop of Canterbury.

WRITTEN FROM MEMORY

The whole of these articles have been written from memory. Even when I did search a work of reference to verify a point or refresh my recollection of the facts, only in relation to two incidents did I find what I wanted. During the preceding months when I was turning the project over in my mind, I made many notes which came readily to mind, then in many other ways incidents cropped until I had an immense collection of material. There is still a large number unused and which will have to be discarded because I am not now sufficiently clear on the details, and before closing, I will just pick out a few of the residue which might be saved from the waste paper basket.

There was the case of Captain Scott's diary. The story of the death of Captain Scott and his four companions as they got stuck in a blizzard on their way back from the South Pole, is one of the greatest epics in British history. Months after their bodies were found, a member of his expedition gave a lecture at the Royal Geographical Society, and Scott's precious diary, containing his pathetic and stirring farewell message, was one of the "exhibits." Who then owned it or read extracts from it I do not remember. Today it is in the British Museum, lying open at the last scrawled and historic pages. It is certainly one of the most precious treasures of the British people. After the lecture, a messenger boy who had been taking copy from the press table to the telephone, entered a booth to telephone the last batch, and on a ledge picked up a notebook. It was none other than Captain Scott's diary. By the time he got through everybody was gone, but next day the owner was found and the boy took this priceless book back to him. The boy was rewarded with—three pence! Whether the custodian of the diary thought the boy had no conception of its value, or whether he thought it would be a lesson to little boys not to expect too much in this world in a matter for conjecture. Anyway, I doubt if there has ever been such an example of carelessness, or such a paltry reward for a great historic possession. That boy, if he had not been honest, could have kept it for years and then sold it for a fabulous sum.

Among the thousands of speakers I have heard it would be difficult to single out one as the finest, and yet I am going to name the one whom I regarded as the most effective, most polished, most scholarly, most brilliant I have ever heard. Perhaps he would have been better known to fame if he had made more public appearances, but he seldom spoke from the platform. I name Israel Zangwill, the novelist.

BEAUTIFUL ADDRESS

There was another man whose name I had forgotten, even if it would mean nothing to the public. He was just a plain Yorkshire farmer, and he proposed the toast to "England" at a farmers' dinner. It was one of the most amazingly beautiful addresses I ever heard, and as I was but a stripling then, I regret to say I was so over-awed by the majesty of his language that I forgot to take notes and simply looked at him in astonishment. I have often reproached myself for not taking a verbatim note of it, but have salved my conscience by reflecting that it was an address he may have committed to memory and given on other occasions. Perhaps some other reporter did him justice, but if so, I fear the address is buried in the musty files of some newspaper. At any rate, if ever dug up it should be incorporated in a book of the masterpieces of English oratory.

And now I close. The life of a London reporter is always interesting, sometimes exciting, sometimes even dangerous. To go newsgathering in the hub of the universe ever for a year or two is a rich experience. Many of the things I have told were shared with others; many were exclusively my own. There are dozens of other reporters who could write just as interesting a narrative — assuming they have been of interest to you—if they cared to set down their experiences. But few of them do. Going into the office each morning one might be starting a day of routine engagements, or be plunged into some world-shaking event. There was always an air of expectancy when the chief suddenly appeared in the midst of a group hanging around waiting for the next assignment, and pounced on one, two, three or more to go out on a big story. There were thrills aplenty some days. Dull routine on others. One never failed to get a "kick" out of some hard-won story that created a big splash in the big dailies; perhaps even a whole contents bill to oneself. Many a day I never had time to eat from morning until evening. Many a day I had gone to seven or eight widely scattered points of the metropolis, covering a meeting, an inquest, a police court, a murder, an accident, or a riot, winding up with a banquet without even going near the office, nor writing a line, simply telephoning in story after story, and being instructed where to go next. In this way I got to know London so well that if I were blindfolded I could almost tell where I was by the particular rumble of the traffic. I could have defied anyone to put me down in any part of the metropolitan area and challenge me to find the nearest route back in two minutes. Yet there are many things in London I never saw that every tourist knows. For nine years I worked within one hundred yards of the Cheshire Cheese and never saw the Derby, never saw the Oxford-Cambridge boat race, never saw the trooping of the colors on the King's birthday, never saw the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace, and was never inside the Tower of London. One day, perhaps, I will go over and gaze at these things with all the interest of a visitor from overseas.

SHOULD BE TOLERANT

Out of the welter of all these experiences there has surely been a lesson. There was. It is this—that one should be tolerant of the opinions of other people and recognize that there are always two sides to a question.

I have gone to a meeting that was anti-something or pro-something, and after hearing the speakers felt that they were quite right. But after going to a meeting of the other side and hearing their arguments, I had, if not a different opinion, at least an appreciation of the other man's point of view. Therefore, I would say, never dogmatize on a question without hearing the other side. That applies to religion, politics, and every other subject. No man or party is always one hundred per cent right and no man or party one hundred per cent wrong. Of course, having heard both sides, one is entitled to form conclusions, and if satisfied which is the right point of view, assert it and stand by it accordingly.

In the same way I have heard many cases in the courts, and after hearing the case for the prosecution thought to myself, "What is the use of this man pleading not guilty?" Yet the first witness for the prosecution has scarcely been five minutes under cross-examination before it was apparent there was a doubt or justification for the accused, and before the end of the hearing, what seemed to be a cast-iron case had completely collapsed. Therefore, "Judge not as ye shall be judged."

If I had had my way as a lad, I would never have entered the newspaper game. I wanted to go to sea, and but for the fact that so many ships left port at my home and were wrecked on the North Sea coast, I might have overcome parental objections. As a cub reporter for a few months I enjoyed going out on trial trips. One very stormy afternoon I went to go out on a trawler and when I got on the boat not a single guest had turned up. The skipper said he didn't care. He was going out anyway, because as soon as he got the Board of Trade O.K., he could go out in the morning to fish, and he would get good prices as the storm had made supplies scarce. He had no objection to my going, so I hopped aboard. As we crossed the bar we were tossed about like a cork, and when we got clear of the harbor we were in a regular maelstrom. The skipper called me into the wheelhouse for safety. Down on her nose, up on her tail, over on her side went that trawler, the deck washed from bow to stern with seething waters. We stood out for a few miles expecting the sea would be more moderate, but it was all the same. When the skipper tried to get back it was growing dark and the spray so thick it hid the harbor like a mist so that he could not see the lights to guide him into port. We had to stay out all night. But for the fact that I was worrying about my parents' trepidation I enjoyed the experience hugely. We made port all right next morning.

Had I gone to sea I might have enjoyed a life of adventures and travel. But after all, I have probably had more thrills and adventures "Digging Up the News."

MAGICIAN WILL AID COMMITTEE

Fairfield Mortgage Fund Body Will Hold Entertainment February 8

The special committee, appointed at the last annual meeting of the Fairfield United Church for the purpose of reducing the church deficit and lowering the mortgage, announced yesterday that it would launch its campaign by holding a concert in the Sir James Douglas School auditorium on Friday, February 8.

William Harkness, dean of Pacific Coast sleight-of-hand magicians, will be starred on the programme, giving two fifteen-minute acts, of which one will be devoted to his big illusion tricks.

Dancing by a group of local terpsichorean entertainers, and assisting artists will supplement the programme of entertainment.

The committee also decided upon a name, selecting the title of "The Fairfield Church Mortgage Fund Committee."

Officers elected were: Chairman, Percy C. Richards; secretary, Miss Isabelle Pike, and treasurer, Mrs. E. Woodward. Arrangements are now being made by Lawrence Abbott and Thomas Hocking for the sale of tickets. Further details will be announced later.

OLD MINES ARE PROVING VALUE

Spirited Revival in Rossland Area of Kootenay District Last Year

While there is no connected report of the value of gold produced last year from British Columbia mines that had been considered worked-out at the end of the previous placer period of development, one mineral area produced $1,000,000 in 1934 from workings closed during the war. This was in the Rossland section of the Kootenay mineral district.

Current provincial reports show that lessees, working old mines opened by the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company many years ago, took out 20,208 ounces of gold in ten months in the Rossland camp, famous from the late 'nineties through to war times. The estimated value of such production in this one mineral district is placed at $1,000,000 for 1934.

MANY EMPLOYED

Upwards of 1,200 men were at work in mines in the same district, apart from continued operations of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company itself, B. T. O'Grady, resident mining engineer for the area, stated in his report at the year-end. Estimated production from the district in 1935 is placed at 60,000 ounces.

Elsewhere about the province, modern and improved methods are turning old mines into attractive properties, stimulated by the highest returns for gold ever known on this continent.

While the last two years has been featured by new lode operations, producing the bulk of the total output for the province, revival of placer operations has been steady and consistent. The revitalization of the Rossland section is only one of a number of instances pointing in the same direction, provincial officials state.

Sworn Statement of London Woman Reveals How Fruit-a-tives Gave Her Quick Relief from Biliousness

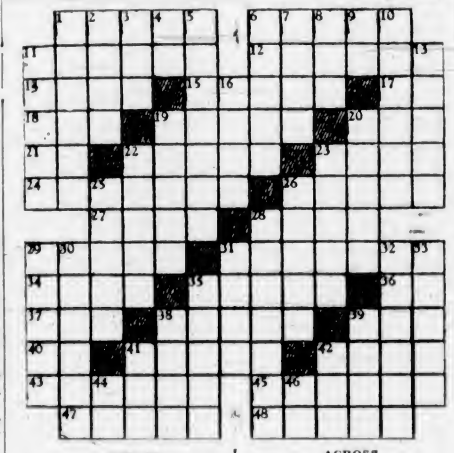

So ill that she had to go to a hospital—Mrs. Dadson, 523 Simcoe Street, London, Ontario, at last got complete relief from biliousness. She tells of her happy experience in a statement made under oath before a notary to convince everyone of its absolute truth. Mrs. Dadson states,—"I had a bad case of biliousness and constant headaches and backaches. I became so ill I had to go to a hospital. Nothing I tried would help until I started taking Fruit-a-tives. In a very short time my troubles disappeared. Now I have no more headaches or backaches and can do my housework without help from anyone."

It is by giving such results as those obtained by Mrs. Dadson that Fruit-a-tives has grown to be the largest selling remedy of its kind in Canada. Thousands of men and women have Fruit-a-tives to thank for their present good health. This famous remedy has brought lasting relief from constipation, indigestion, sick-headaches, and kindred ills.

Copy of Mrs. Dadson's complete sworn statement will be sent on request. Write Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Canada.

"Station-to-Station"

the cheapest class of long-distance telephone service has been extended to include calls to

Vancouver Island and Lower Mainland Points

THE Classified System of Long-Distance Service, which was already in effect on calls to British Columbia points east of Hope and to other parts of Canada and to the United States, has been extended to the remainder of our lines. The Classified System brings with it the advantage of station-to-station calls, which are the cheapest kind of long-distance service.

On a station-to-station call you call a particular telephone but not a particular person, and you pay if someone answers at that telephone, no matter who it is.

You say, for example, "I want anyone at 345, Duncan."
Or, "I want anyone at the home of William Jones, Blank Street, Duncan."
Or, "I want anyone at Smith's Furniture Store, Duncan."

On station-to-station calls there are day, evening and night rates. On person-to-person calls the rate is the same at all hours. The minimum period for both classes of service is three minutes.

JACKSON DUE FROM ORIENT

Liner Will Dock This Morning —Sheafcrown and Ionic Star Coming

Inbound from the Philippine Islands by way of China and Japan ports, the American Mail Line Ss. President Jackson, Capt. M. M. Jensen, U.S.N.R., commander, will arrive at William Head at 8 o'clock this morning, according to W. M. Allan, local representative of the steamship company.

Mr. Allan was advised yesterday that the liner, which had been scheduled to arrive at the station at 6 o'clock, had gone to the assistance of the sinking Japanese freighter Hokuman Maru and stood by her while the crew were being transferred. They are coming to Victoria on the Jackson. The ship should be alongside Rithet Piers by 9 o'clock.

The Jackson is reported to have a fair list of passengers aboard. She will leave a number here, as well as heavy mails and about 600 tons of general cargo. Completing here, the liner will proceed to Seattle.

To load 370,000 feet of lumber for Australia, the British freighter Sheafcrown is due alongside Ogden Point Piers this morning. The captain of the ship wirelessed King Brothers that he would arrive at William Head at 7 o'clock and would probably dock about 8.30 o'clock. The Sheafcrown was caught in the snowstorm Sunday and took refuge in behind Reef Point, west coast of Vancouver Island.

WILL LOAD SHIP

Due at Ogden Point Piers at 7 o'clock tonight, the freighter Ionic Star will lift a shipment of frozen fish for Liverpool and London, according to W. M. Allan, local representative of Dollar Steamships, agents for the line.

To take over the tow of the freighter Langleecrag, which is nearing Vancouver Island behind the Langleebrook, a sister vessel, the Ss. Salvage King left Victoria early Sunday morning and is now waiting off the entrance to the Strait for the ships to come along. The Salvage King has been engaged by the owners of the Langleecrag to take over the tow and get her to Vancouver as quickly as possible, where a new propeller will be fitted.

ROAD PART OF NATIONAL LIFE

Trustee of Government-Owned Railway Tells Gathering About C.N.R.

MONTREAL, Jan. 21.—The contribution of the Canadian National Railways toward the City of Montreal, to the Province of Quebec and the other parts of Canada served by the lines of this system, was stressed by J. Edouard Labelle, K.C., trustee of the National system, in addressing today the members of section Duvernay, St. Jean Baptiste Society, at their annual luncheon meeting.

The railways, said Mr. Labelle, were an integral and indispensible part of Canada's national life, influencing her economic and social structure at all times. Important phases of the National Railways' influence on the progress of Canada were pointed out by Mr. Labelle.

The railway had first made possible the development of industry and settlement in the nation and in the Province of Quebec. Canada had become a figure in the world market, with increasing exports, as her transportation facilities had been built up. As an instance of the railways' importance to industry, Mr. Labelle said that in 1933, which was not a normal year, Canadian National system had carried 37,371,201 tons of freight and 9,434,812 passengers. It employed almost 77,000 men and women, paying them wages and salaries amounting to $100,305,000 in a year.

BENEFIT IN QUEBEC

The Province of Quebec owed much to the Canadian National and its constituent companies. The first railway built in the province, the Champlain & St. Lawrence, was part of the National system. The Grand Trunk, another forerunner, had brought about development of the Port of Montreal and had given Quebec its first Winter ocean outlet through Portland, Me. It had also brought about development of Montreal - Chicago travel and opened up the route to the West. Within the province itself the National system had aided in development of Lake St. John and Saguenay areas, Caspe and the rich agricultural and mineral areas of Abitibi.

The City of Montreal derived direct benefit from the operations of the Canadian National, which was an important aid to business in the metropolis. During last year an average of 2,300 cars of merchandise freight were handled daily in and out of Montreal by the railway. In active employment there were 9,500 men and women with an agregrate annual payroll amounting to $14,000,000.

Rescued Crew of Japanese Freighter

The American Mail Line Ss. President Jackson, Captain M. M. Jensen, U.S.N.R., commander, will dock here about 9 o'clock this morning, inbound from Orient ports. Radio reports received here last night stated that the liner took off the crew of the Hokuman Maru, which was abandoned in a sinking condition about 150 miles off Estevan Point.

NEW DEVICE FOR PLANES

De-Icer Installed on United Air Liners Keeps Wings Clear

Winter ice conditions may hold their threat for motorists but they are no longer a bugaboo to pilots of United Air Lines flying in and out of the Pacific Northwest.

According to announcement of United officials, a new device known as a de-icer, which automatically clears ice from the company's three-miles-a-minute Boeing transport planes, already has been or is being installed on United's entire fleet operating between the Northwest, California and the East, marking the first large-scale use of such equipment.

The de-icer weighs only seventy-five pounds for a plane the size of the seven-ton Boeing. Rubberized shoes, made of tubes of specially-knitted fabric covered with high-test, wax-finished rubber, are placed on the wings and tail surfaces of the plane. Leading edges of the stabilizer and fin also are fitted with rubber patches containing two tubes.

Pilots, warned of icing conditions by air temperature indicators and radioed weather reports, set the device in operation. Air, pumped by an apparatus driven off one of the plane's two motors, courses into the tubes so that they are inflated and deflated alternately, cracking any ice that is formed. The wind stream sweeps off the ice and keeps the plane clear. Propeller blades are covered around the thrust side, about two-thirds out to the tip, with oiled rubber. This, and centrifugal force, keeps the blades clear.

Use of the device, according to United officials, constitutes the adoption of another important safety measure. At the same time, it will permit the company to maintain even a higher record of performance during Winter operations than has been possible in the past. The Goodrich Rubber Company, of Akron, is manufacturer of the ice-removing equipment.

FERRY SERVICES WERE DISRUPTED

All Sailings of Princess Boats Were Cancelled During Worst Period of Snowfall

Rather than take any unnecessary risks, owing to the heavy snowstorm of Sunday, the B.C. Coast Service cancelled all sailings to and from Victoria, Vancouver and Seattle, slightly disrupting services. All ships will be operating on normal schedules today.

Ss. Princess Alice left here yesterday morning for Seattle and took the Ss. Princess Charlotte's run from the Puget Sound port to Victoria, connecting here with the Ss. Princess Elizabeth, which took the afternoon run to Vancouver, after arriving here at 11 o'clock in the morning from the Mainland port.

From Vancouver, the Ss. Princess Joan came in on the regular day run, and took the night trip back last evening, while the Princess Alice sailed for Seattle on her regular time and will proceed to Vancouver from there. The Princess Charlotte will be along from Seattle at the regular hour this afternoon.

The Princess Elaine was held at Nanaimo Sunday night, missing one trip; and the Princess Mary was delayed in her sailing from Vancouver via Gulf Island points, and was late arriving here last night.

Operating between Seattle and Victoria by way of Port Townsend and Port Angeles, the Black Ball Ferries Ss. Iroquois came in on time yesterday morning.

HURRY ON IS FAST ASHORE

Sea Threatening to Destroy Vessel—Three Victorians Were Aboard

Three Victorians were members of the crew of the Hurry On, which ran ashore and is breaking up on the rocks off Grady's Island, Nova Scotia coast. They are H. Erickson, third engineer; Allan Armour, whose home is on Oliver Street, and Alexander Wait, of Oak Bay. Armour joined the ship at Vancouver.

The Hurry On was a familiar sight to Victorians as she lay alongside the Island Tug & Barge Company's dock in the Inner Harbor. She was there for several months last Summer, and was sold to a Halifax syndicate in the early Fall.

GUYSBORO, N.S., Jan. 21 (CP).—The salvage tug Foundation Franklin was near at hand to render assistance to the stricken Nova Scotia freighter Hurry On today, while a crew of fourteen stood by the vessel, aground 100 feet off Grady's Island.

HEAVY GALE

Driven to the rocks by the same gale and blizzard that wrecked the British freighter Kenkerry near Chebucto Head, Captain J. W. Carter and his men considered themselves lucky they had averted death.

They looked back on harrowing experiences—one of the crew, Allan Armour, was half drowned when he volunteered to take the first trip ashore on the breeches buoy as surging waters threatened to break up the craft or throw her over sideways.

Armour started off on the swinging life-line hand over hand, but the rope was slack and he was thrown into the boiling surf. Fishermen from St. Francis Harbor, who had helped rig the line, pulled the heroic seaman ashore just in time.

The Hurry On was bound for New York with a cargo of herring from Bay of Islands, Newfoundland.

She is lying hard and fast on the jagged rocks with more than six feet of water in the forward hold.

U.S. APOLOGY IS TENDERED

Secretary of State Handed Canadian Minister Formal Note Yesterday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 (AP).—Regret that the coast guard cutter Dexter sank the famous rum-runner I'm Alone while it was flying the Canadian flag was expressed by the United States today in a formal apology to the Canadian Government.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, in a formal note delivered to W. D. Herridge, the Canadian minister, said that while the joint American-Canadian Commission had found "that the mission and use of the vessel at the time of its sinking were unlawful, nevertheless, they also find that its sinking by the United States officers was unlawful."

"The Government of the United States," Hull's note said, "therefore, tenders to His Majesty's Canadian Government an apology for the sinking of the vessel."

Hull also informed the minister he was taking the necessary steps to secure an appropriation for $50,666.50, which the commission recommended be paid in damages to the Canadian Government and to the captain and crew of the rum-runner.

REACHED AGREEMENT

The sinking of the famous rum-runner five years ago, 200 miles off the coast of Louisiana, was the subject of numerous diplomatic discussions. Agreement was reached to achieve a final settlement by appointment of a commission consisting of Willis van Devanter, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, and Sir Lyman Poore Duff, Chief Justice of Canada.

The commission, on January 5, handed down a decision in which it recommended that the Canadian Government be tendered an apology and paid $25,000 damages, and that $25,666.50 be awarded the captain and members of the crew.

SHIP STRUCK IN JOHNSON STRAIT

Victoria on Way Back to Seattle for Survey—Yukon Will Take Passengers

SEATTLE, Jan. 21 (AP).—Word was received here today of the stranding of the veteran Alaska Steamship Company's liner Victoria, bound from Seattle to Southeastern Alaska with 126 passengers.

The Victoria's master wirelessed to his offices here that he was bringing the liner back here for survey as she was leaking slightly in her No. 2 hold.

The Victoria went aground in Johnson Strait at 5:22 a.m., in a heavy snowstorm, but was able to refloat herself in two hours. The passengers will be taken north Wednesday on the steamer Yukon.

BOTTOM PLATES OF TYNDAREUS DAMAGED

During the snowstorm Sunday afternoon the Blue Funnel Line Ss. Tyndareus was floated into the Government Drydock at Esquimalt, and as soon as the basin was dry her underbody was surveyed. It was found that five plates were damaged, and these will be repaired or replaced by Yarrows, Limited. It was thought yesterday that the ship would be ready to come out of the drydock by Thursday night of this week.

Young Mrs. Scott was attending her first ball game. The home team was doing well that day, and for a time she patiently endured her husband's transports and his brief explanations. But when, amid the cheering, howling crowd he sprang upon his seat, waved his new straw hat three times around his head and almost shattered it on the fat man in front, Mrs. Scott exclaimed:

"What on earth's the matter, John?"

"Why, dearie," he answered, as soon as he could get his breath, "didn't you see the fielder catch the ball?"

"Of course," said young Mrs Scott. "I thought that was what he was out there for."

MACHINE HAS FINE RECORD

Australian Pilot Flys Plane for World Mark of Three Thousand Hours

Pilot T. R. Young, on the Sydney-Brisbane route worked by New England Airways, lays claim to a personal record which, incidentally, reflects credit on machine as well as pilot. He declares that he has established a world record in commercial aviation by flying 3,000 hours in one machine, the three-engined Avro Ten monoplane City of Sydney.

He has made 671 trips in the machine; twice only has he failed to complete the scheduled flight. In all, he has flown the Avro more than 300,000 miles, and has been responsible for the carriage in it of more than 10,000 passengers.

FINE ACHIEVEMENT

The achievement is a fine one, demonstrating the long life and robustness of this British airplane in a manner which is beyond argument. At present the City of Sydney is well over five years old, but it is good for much more flying yet.

In design the Avro Ten is a high-wing monoplane, with the wings located above the fuselage. Its normal complement of passengers is eight, who are accommodated in a roomy cabin. Power is derived from three Siddeley Lynx 215 horsepower radial motors. Cruising speed, proved in service, is 105 miles an hour, "ceiling" 16,000 feet and range 400 miles. Construction follows typical Avro lines, welded steel-tube framework and plywood-covered wings.

LIKE FLYING

Before the recent purchase of his new four-engined Avro, the Star of India, Lord Willingdon, the Viceroy, made great use of an Avro Ten which was bought for his journeyings about India. It has proved a thoroughly dependable vehicle, eliminating much of the discomfort, loss of time and costliness of travel about the sub-continent.

Both the Viceroy and Lady Willingdon like flying; the excellent behaviour of their first airplane is largely responsible for their enthusiasm, and it is not surprising that they decided to have another Avro. The new machine is much faster and more comfortable than the old; its interior, furnished most luxuriously, was planned by Lady Willingdon herself.

Teacher (to boys)—"If you were to have another eye, where would you like it to be?"

"On my finger end," replied one of the boys.

"Why?" asked the teacher.

"So that I could stick it through the fence and see the football match."

Eagles Show Reversal of Form in Trimming Detroit, 6-1—Patrick's Team Trims Montreal Canadiens, 7-1, and Chicago Noses Out Toronto Maple Leafs

BY A. A. FULFORD
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Unless their present form is a flash that won't last, St. Louis Eagles may yet have to be taken into consideration as possibilities for the Stanley Cup play-off. The team that started so slowly it was counted out long ago has staged a comeback that left it today with still a good chance to reach the extra-money series.

BILL COOK

After outplaying Toronto Maple Leafs for more than half the game Saturday and then losing 6-2 through lack of reserves, George Boucher's team tangled with Detroit Red Wings Sunday night and emerged with their most convincing win of the season—a 6-1 decision.

Today they are still in last place in the National League's Canadian Division but the two teams they will have to fight for the third play-off spot have done so little Eagles may yet get in. They are only five points behind New York Americans and four behind Montreal Canadiens.

Canadiens were one of the three teams to play two games over the week-end and, like Toronto and St. Louis, they won and lost. Saturday night they beat Bruins in Boston, 4-1, while Montreal Maroons were taking Americans, 8-2, and came up within a point of the New Yorkers. Then on Sunday they had the misfortune to hit New York Rangers, when Lester Patrick's team were at their best and dropped a 7-1 decision.

After being lucky to win from St. Louis, Toronto dropped a game, 2-1, to Chicago Sunday night, letting the Hawks go into first place in the American section a game ahead of Boston.

HOWE PLAYS WELL

Syd Howe, the young Ottawan, who plays at left wing on Eagles' first line, seems to be the spark-plug that is providing all the new pep for the Missouri team. Although he failed to hit the scoring sheet more than once he played a superb game.

At Detroit he scored two goals and assisted in another, sharing scoring honors with Joe Lamb, who also got three points.

Chicago's win over Leafs was their first in the five games the teams have played.

Canadiens' recent exhibitions on their old-time speed and power showed again at Boston, when they scored their third straight victory. Aurel Joliat played the best game this year on Boston ice and got two goals. Leroy Goldsworthy also picked up two. Max Kaminsky scored Boston's only tally.

Canadiens could do nothing wrong Saturday night, and it was just the opposite when they met Rangers, who were going at their best; the Rangers' veterans celebrated the 450th game the team has played by coming in for a lot of the honors.

"IRON MAN" SCORES

Murray Murdoch, the iron man, who has played every one of the 450 games, started the scoring and Bert Connolly, Butch Keeling and Bill Cook made it 4-0 before the second period ended. Cecil Dillon and Bun Cook got goals in the third period before Bill snipped his second. Roger Jenkins saved Canadiens from a shutout with his third-period tally.

Russ Blinco scored four goals when Maroons beat Americans, and almost everyone else on the team got a goal or an assist. The Montrealers got four goals in the first period, two in the second and two in the third. Herb Cain getting two pointers and Stew Evans and Baldy Northcott the others.

CAGERS MUST HAVE CARDS IS DECISION

Agreement Is Reached After Lengthy Meeting on the Mainland

VANCOUVER, Jan. 21 (CP).—Basketball players throughout British Columbia who have not taken out amateur cards rested easier today as their threatened suspensions by the British Columbia branch of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada failed to materialize.

A week-end meeting that started Saturday night and wound up Sunday afternoon found the amateur officials and officials of the British Columbia Basketball Association in full agreement.

The meeting was called by the amateur executives to discuss action against hoop players who had taken to heart the announcement of the B.C.A.B.A. that they did not need cards unless on a team entering the British Columbia play-offs. Basketball heads were invited to attend.

LONG MEETING

First the A.A.U. proxies proposed a motion to clear up the affair. The basketballers objected and drew up one of their own. Followed hours and hours of discussion, until it was discovered that both motions were almost identical in meaning although somewhat differently worded.

Heads were put together and the following motion passed with the firm approval of everyone present:

"That the British Columbia Basketball Association will insist all members of teams participating in games leading to British Columbia playoffs must carry A.A.U. of C. cards."

And the basketball heads said that, in effect, was what they had been doing all along.

Local Cage Teams Gain Even Break

Playing at Bremerton, Saturday evening, West Road men's "B" cagers defeated the home quintette, 27-21, in an exhibition fixture. In the other game on the United States court Jack Taylor's Cardinals dropped a 20-14 verdict to the Bremerton girls.

Wins Racquets Honors

MONTREAL, Jan. 21 (CP).—The power and skill that earned Clarence C. Pell, Sr., of New York, seven Canadian racquets titles, thrilled crowded galleries here today as the veteran New Yorker dethroned Huntingdon P. Sheldon, of New York, 1934 Canadian singles champion, and won his eighth Dominion crown in a hard-fought five-game match in the final.

Wanted McKechnie Cup Rugby Played in City

Motion Put Forth at Special Meeting Fails to Get Support—Local "Rep" Fifteen Booked to Travel to Vancouver Saturday

Advanced by Arthur H. Cox, a suggestion that Vancouver "reps" be asked to come here Saturday and play Victoria in the second game of the McKechnie Cup series, originally scheduled for the Mainland, failed to get the support of the executive members of the Victoria Rugby Union yesterday evening at a special meeting held in The Colonist board room. Instead, the union passed a resolution recommending that, in the event of the game being cancelled on Saturday on account of the unplayable condition of the field at Brockton Point, the British Columbia Rugby Union be asked to schedule the fixture for Saturday, February 2, at Vancouver.

The probability of the grounds being unfit for the match in Vancouver on Saturday and the shortness of time prevailing before the date of British Columbia's expected departure for California, promoted the suggestion, Mr. Cox pointed out. He felt that the members of the British Columbia selection committee should be given an opportunity of seeing the Vancouver players in action before naming them for the British Columbia squad, and, in the event of the game being cancelled on Saturday at Vancouver, little time was left.

Rather than gamble on the outcome of the weather on February 2, Mr. Cox favored playing the game here on Saturday, if at all possible.

LOOKING FOR TRIP

Bob McInnes, veteran coach and manager, felt that the boys of the Victoria "rep" team were looking forward to the trip. The union had no other inducement to offer the players, and for this reason he was of the opinion that the game should be played on the Mainland. In this connection Mr. Cox suggested that the Rounsefel Cup fixture, now scheduled for this city, might be transferred to the Mainland.

However, the matter was finally brought to a head when R. B. Ker moved that in the event of the McKechnie Cup fixture not being played this Saturday, the B.C.R.U. be asked to schedule it on the following Saturday on the Mainland.

With local playing fields still hard from the recent cold snap, definite announcement of games for Saturday, in the event of the McKechnie Cup match being called off, was not forthcoming at yesterday's meeting. However, it was tentatively decided to schedule the two Cowichan Cup fixtures and the three intermediate league matches postponed from last week for this Saturday. Final decision will depend entirely on the condition of the grounds later in the week.

SATURDAY'S FIXTURES

Provided the grounds are playable, fixtures scheduled for Saturday are as follows:

Cowichan Cup Series

5th Brigade vs. J.B.A.A.
Canadian Scottish vs. Garrison.

Intermediate League

Wanderers' Blues vs. Victoria College.
Wanderers' Whites vs. Canadian Scottish.
Garrison vs. 5th Brigade.

In the event of only two grounds being playable, the Cowichan Cup fixtures will take precedence over the intermediate league matches, the union decided.

Katherine Rawls Establishes New Swimming Marks

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 21 (AP).—Katherine Rawls, United States diving champion, today holds two new American breast stroke records for women. The Fort Lauderdale girl covered 220 yards in 2:58.8 and 440 in 6:44.6 in a Miami Beach pool yesterday. This was 18.4 seconds better than Agnes Geraghty's previous record of 3:17.2 for the 220 and clipped 10.8 seconds off the record of 6:55.4 for the 440 set by Margaret Hoffman of Pennsylvania.

VICTORIA DEFEATS QUEENSLAND EASILY

The complete scores: Queensland 114 and 186 (Bensted 61, Fleetwood and Smith 6 for 90); Victoria 290 and 11 for no wickets.

STRONG TEAM WILL FACE NANAIMO CITY IN SOCCER SERIES

Doug Laird and Jimmy Hay Gain Positions on Victoria United Side for Third Game of Brackman-Ker Competition at Royal Athletic Park—Front Line Same

Inter-city soccer will dominate local circles Saturday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park, when Victoria United eleven entertains Nanaimo City in the third fixture of the annual Brackman-Ker Cup series, which will eventually decide the Vancouver Island champions for the year. The match is scheduled to get under way, weather permitting, at 2:30, with Referee Ralph Alcock in charge. With this the only fixture on tap a large crowd should be at the enclosure during the afternoon.

Victoria's line-up was selected at a meeting of team officials held last night in the board room of The Colonist. Only two changes were made in the squad which appeared in the last inter-city engagement. Doug. Laird, clever kicking Victoria West fullback, will be at the left defence position, while the veteran and smart moving Jimmy Hay, of Esquimalt, will be performing at left halfback. This pair is replacing Sammy Essler and Eddie Moore, who played at fullback and on the half line, respectively, in the last tussle, a match in which the locals submerged St. Saviours under a 7-0 score.

LINE UNCHANGED

The forward line, the one which clicked in machine-like fashion last time out, will be the same, officials leaving it just as it was against the Vancouver squad. As expected, Louis de Costa, premier goalie of the city, and a member of Esquimalt, will be guarding the net again, while Joe Crowe, playing manager of Sannich Thistles, and Doug. Laird will form the rear division. Two powerful kickers and good breakers-up, Crowe and Laird should afford plenty of protection for the reliable De Costa. A sweet half line will face the visiting team with Ronnie Williams, Saanich Thistles; Roy Barnes, Victoria West, and Jimmy Hay, holding down the trio of berths. All good feeders, clever, quick to anticipate and unselfish, this three-some is expected to have Nanaimo's front line in a quandary most of the time.

If the firing line works as it is expected the invaders will be in for a busy afternoon. Gordie Bell, Victoria West, will look after right wing, with "Scotty" Stewart, Esquimalt, flanking him on the inside position. John Watt, another from the dockers' camp, will be at the pivot position, while Noel Morgan, Thistles, and George Payne, Victoria City, will make up the left wing combination.

Sammy Essler, Eddie Moore, "Scotty" Robinson, Eddie Viggers and Wally Rowe are on the substitute list. The latter is spare goalie, while the rest are backfield men and forwards. Jack Ewing, of Saanich Thistles, will manage the lads, while De Costa will act as skipper. Jack Orr will be the local linesman.

THIRD OF SERIES

This series is played in four games with total fixtures deciding the issue. Victoria won the opening argument on the local field, 5-4, while Nanaimo, chiefly through the scoring ability of Tantrum, centre forward, won the next match, 6-4. In this game, Tantrum netted five straight goals, winning the match single-handed. The fourth game will be played Up-Island, and if the series is deadlocked at the end, another game will be necessary to settle it.

TO GO AFTER NEW RECORD

Sir Malcolm Campbell Will Make Attempt at Daytona in February

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP).—Sir Malcolm Campbell, the British automobile speed-merchant and present holder of the world's mile record, will attempt to set a new standard for the distance at Daytona Beach, Fla., between February 12 and 25 in his rebuilt Bluebird.

William F. Sturn, of Indianapolis, the Briton's American representative, disclosed today that Campbell, Lady Campbell, six mechanics and a party of the speedster's friends would reach New York January 29 and entrain immediately for Florida.

Sturn said a full moon—and aid in high tides—is on the calendar for February 18, the date on which Campbell probably will slide into the cockpit of the Bluebird and start his record run down the sand speedway.

Sturn declared Campbell's objective is to surpass the record of 272.108 miles per hour he hung up two years ago, although he will not predict equalling or surpassing the 300 m.p.h. mark Kaye Don, British motorboat racer, said a few days ago he anticipates.

KLICK ALL SET FOR ROSS BOUT

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 21 (AP).—Ray Carlin gazed into the Roman Pools today and announced: "The challenger is ready."

Carlin is manager for Frankie Klick, the young man from San Francisco, who will try to take the synthetic junior welterweight title away from Champion Barney Ross in the Miami Stadium Thursday night.

"His punch is harder, his boxing perfect, his speed marvellous," said Carlin. "He's ready for the fight of his career."

Klick moved today from the pools right into the headquarters of Champion Ross—a Miami beach gymnasium. His handlers decided remaining workouts should be indoors.

Ross' managers had previously pronounced the champion "in the best condition since he took the title from McLarnin." Both worked fast and accurately against sparring mates today.

Cue Tourney Opens

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 21 (AP).—J. Howard Shoemaker, defending his amateur championship, and Howard Lindley, of Minneapolis, sectional winner, tonight hurtled the first barrier in the opening of the current national amateur pocket billiard tournament.

Shoemaker won, 125 to 33, over Al Broder, of Philadelphia. Lindley defeated Walter Flynn, New Haven, 125 to 38.

Invading Contingent Winds-Up Lawn Tournament With Party and Banquet

By W. R. YOUHILL
(By Air Mail)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18.—In so far as the Canadians are concerned, the bowling tournament here has come to an end. Throughout the entire programme the men from the North were defeated with monotonous regularity, and the last straw proved to be the contest between the entire contingent from British Columbia and a like number of players from this country. Ten rinks of three players each represented either side, and the men from the United States were 21 points to the good at the completion of the contest.

Shortly afterward they were entertained at a banquet and entertainment, tendered them by the Southern California Lawn Bowling Association. At the conclusion of the day's events, the British Columbians separated into several parties, and visits are being paid bowling clubs in various parts of the Coast States. Most of the players will probably reach their homes during the early part of next week.

Cricket Match Is Left Drawn

MELBOURNE, Jan. 21 (CP via Reuters).—England and Australia drew in a women's "test" cricket match ended here today. The scores: England 162 (McLagan 50, Antonio 6 for 49) and 153 for 7, declared (Snowball 83, not out); Australia 150 and 104 for 8, McLagan 4 for 28). The time limit prevented completion of the second Australian innings.

EXPLANATION FOR SUNDAY'S RIPLEY CARTOON

She Preferred Death—In 1841 two brothers, inhabitants of Meknes, fought over the hand of their cousin, the beautiful Solica Hachuel, aged thirteen. When Sultan Abd el Rahman, ruler of Morocco, heard of the quarrel he ordered the girl to appear before him. During the audience the Emperor ordered her to become his wife and Empress of Morocco. The girl indignantly refused to marry the old ruler, and was sentenced to be executed for her disobedience. Once more she was given a chance to reconsider, but she chose death. She is buried at the cemetery of the Mellah in Fez, and the women of Morocco make weekly pilgrimages to her grave, where they embrace and kiss the gravestone while they say their prayers.

Lone Church Spire of Sussex—At Dallington, Sussex, England, there is a church spire that was built in a field as the result of a wager. There is no church beneath the spire and its only purpose is to be seen. A landowner in Dallington made a wager with a friend that he could see Dallington Church spire from his house, but when he came home the real spire could not be seen. Not to be bested, however, the landowner delayed inviting his friends out to see for himself until the artificial spire was built within sight of his home.

CHAMPIONSHIP GALAS MAY BE HELD IN MARCH

Plans for Aquatic Meets Put Forward By Victoria Clubs

Provincial Titles Will Be at Stake at Water Galas Here and on the Mainland—Local Event May Be Held March 16—Contests Expected to Be Keen

Victoria's mermaids and mermen were looking at the British Columbia swimming world today with rose-colored glasses, following the announcement yesterday evening by Captain M. D. Harbord, president of the Vancouver Island Swimming League, that tentative plans for two British Columbia championship swimming galas were being studied by those in charge of equatic sports in this province.

Yesterday evening at the Y.M.C.A. representatives of the three local clubs, Pacific Swimming Club, Victoria Amateur Swimming Club and the Y.M.C.A. Swimming Club, met, with Capt. M. D. Harbord in the chair, and drew up plans for the two events, and suggested March 9, as the date for the Vancouver gala, and March 16 for the local meet at the Crystal Garden.

THIRTY-SIX CHAMPIONSHIPS

Thirty-six provincial championships will be at stake in the two meets, eighteen at Vancouver, and a like number here.

Billed as preliminaries to possible international galas, the proposed championship events should do considerable to create new interest in water sports in this city and on the Mainland.

Victoria and Vancouver swimming heads are co-operating in the move to bring acquatic sports right back in the athletic spotlight, and judging by the enthusiasm shown by the local clubs, and the Mainland officials, the venture is assured of phenomenal success.

Capt M. D. Harbord stated yesterday evening that the proposed international galas, some of which would be staged here, would bring together in competition stars of Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle, Portland and possibly other Pacific Coast cities.

VICTORIA'S SUGGESTIONS

Victoria's suggestions, adopted at yesterday evening's meeting at the Y.M.C.A., were last night mailed to the Mainland clubs, and an early acceptance is expected. The move followed a conference here last week between Mainland and local officials, and already the Capital City's representatives have gone to work on the scheme in an earnest desire to place the game back in the prominent position it once held.

Pending a reply from Vancouver, Victoria must wait before making its next step in connection with the two major championship water galas. However, Capt. Harbord intimated that no time would be lost as soon as a reply is received from the Mainland.

GALLOPS TO GREAT WIN; PAYS PLENTY

Where Away Pays $102.20 to Backers at Santa Anita Race Track

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21 (AP).—The scattered few bettors who had pari-mutuel tickets on Where Away, in the fifth race at Santa Anita Park today, were rewarded with the third richest prize of the season—$102.20 for each $2 ticket.

Where Away, a three-year-old, owned by Mrs. Ethel V. Mars, of Chicago, breezed home ahead of the heavily-favored Gillie and the preferred Toro Flight, to astound the handicappers, delight the few who bet on him and bring despair to the many who almost did, but didn't.

The unknown leaped into the van and was out in front at the end of the stretch. He held his position to the last quarter, although he had no appreciable lead and was being paced by three or four other horses. Pantoufle pressed him hard all the way, but Where Away shook off the challenge as they came down toward the tape, forcing Pantoufle to take second and Gillie third. Toro Flight was caught in the ruck and did not place.

Remember When

(Twenty-Five Years Ago)

Victoria bowlers are in a sad plight.

Since the fire of yesterday morning when the local alleys were destroyed with the old Philharmonic Hall they have been without a home.

Men who up to the last couple of days have been putting in delightful evenings as the skips or members of the different teams competing in the several series, now wander the streets disconsolately and call down maledictions on the head of the fiery demon that robbed them of the means for enjoyment of their favorite pastime.

But there is reason to believe that the devotees of bowling will not be long without their sport. Messrs. Matthews and Fox, who were largely interested in the alleys that were destroyed, are understood to be planning for the installation of others at as early a date as possible.

One of the British Columbia championship hockey matches will be played this afternoon between the Victoria and North Vancouver teams at the North Ward Park. The home eleven is strong, much more so than heretofore, and they are confident of giving the visitors a first-class game. The Mainlanders, from all reports, will have the very best on the field. The result should be a match worth witnessing.

CUE OFFICERS ARE RETURNED

Patton, Oakes and Croston Re-elected at Annual Meeting

A. J. Patton, popular sports enthusiast, was re-elected president of the Victoria English Billiards Association for the ensuing twelve months at the annual meeting held last night at the Elks Club. Sam Oakes, veteran cueist and holder of the city championship, was returned to the office of vice-president, while Dave Croston, hard-working secretary, went back into his position for a second year. Three new members were placed on the executive committee, including Joe Beasley, Harry Robinson and Bobby Burns. The rest of officials follows: F. Bowley-Turner, H. Dodds, Percy Fitzsimmons, W. Crowther and Harry Smith.

Entries for the annual city championship and possession of the coveted Irish Brothers' Cup donated by Bert and Charlie Irish, proprietors of the Metropolis Billiards Parlor, will close Monday, February 11. Oakes will be on hand to defend the trophy, while a large field is expected to face the starter. Rules and regulations will govern the play the same as last year.

Matches will be played at the Metropolis Parlors, with 400-point fixtures up to the semis, when 500 points will be in order. The final will be 800 points in two blocks of 400 each.

Security Prices Little Changed At Wall Street

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 (AP).—Wall Street definitely learned with composure today that no decision was to be expected from the Supreme Court, in the gold clause cases, before February 4 at the earliest.

Most financial markets gave a tedious performance of thumb-twiddling, waiting attitude. Stocks and bonds had a steady appearance, while commodity trends were mixed. Interest was at a minimum.

A few specialties appeared mildly ambitious on the constructive side of the stock market. Steel preferred shares, as well as a few other senior stocks, attracted a fair following for advances of 1 to more than 4 points, including issues of United States Steel at 91, up 2; Bethlehem Steel at 76 3-4, up 3 3-4; Republic Certificates at 49, up 1 1-8, and Wheeling Steel at 57, up 4 1-2.

Wheat and corn showed some disappointment at postponement of the gold clause decision, dropping back fractions to around a cent a bushel each. Cotton was able to gain 20 to 70c a bale on predictions by the New York Cotton Exchange service that the coming season's supply of American staple would be about normal at from 20,000,000 to 21,000,000 bales.

General apathy was further evidenced by a turnover of 687,760 shares, and a narrow change of .24 of a point in the Associated Press average of sixty selected stocks at 39.83.

Foreign exchanges gave some signs of responding to recent engagements of gold for export from Europe and the prospect that more metal may be taken here now that the exchange market is assured that no decision on the gold cases is to be expected from Washington for another fortnight.

The corporate bond market resumed its familiar upward trend today with new 1934-35 highs established by some old fine investments. United States Governments were a trifle irregular.

Failure of the Supreme Court to hand down a decision in the gold clause cases apparently did not exert much influence. This partially confirmed belief in some financial centres that the extreme nervousness of the bond market when these cases first attracted nation-wide attention ten days ago, represented somewhat hasty action by investors not completely informed on all phases.

Fractional advances in a number of seasoned investments carried prices to a point equalling, if not exceeding, the highs of the last year, including obligations of Santa Fe, Armour & Company, Chesapeake & Ohio, Burlington, Detroit Edison, Gannett Publications, Louisville & Nashville, Northern Ohio Traction, Union Pacific and Western Electric.

HAS A LARGE DEGREE OF PERFECTION AS A VEHICLE FOR INVESTMENT

(or Conversion From Other Securities)

A [illegible] 6½% Convertible Preferred Stock [illegible] that could increase in value very materially [illegible]

each share holds an option on 5 shares of common stock at $20 each.

THIS OPTION IS VERY VALUABLE [illegible] because the common stock stood at $108 in 19[illegible] [illegible] the preferred would be worth $[illegible]. The Common stock is now standing about two points below the option price. Each $1 advance is equal to $5 for the preferred.

WE SEE NO REASON WHY THE COMMON STOCK CANNOT RISE AS HIGH AGAIN, and, according to The Wall Street Journal the Company's product is used on about two-thirds of the automobiles made in the United States.

Another product is used where, according to L. S. Bache & Co., "Orders in December advanced to the highest level reached so far in the recovery movement." Another product fits into the United States Government Building Programme.

EXCELLENT WORKING CAPITAL POSITION—Nine-half times Current Assets to one times Current Liabilities. Depreciation allowances on plant stand at nearly 50% and yet there is $150 behind each $100 preferred stock. Company weathered twelve depressions. Whilst the income is fixed at 6½%, the security can increase without a set limit owing to the valuable option. This security should, therefore, take care of any change in the purchasing power of your income.

(Reference to past advertised suggestions by this Company would indicate safety and a very substantial appreciation of capital. This our clients have secured.)

WHEAT PRICES DIP ONE CENT

Futures Break Sharply at Winnipeg Opening—Export Demand Lacking

WINNIPEG, Jan. 21 (CP).—The upward move of wheat prices from their "pegged" minimums, in progress nearly a week, was halted on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. Values broke sharply at the opening and showed no recuperative power to close 5-8 to 1 cent lower, May at 82 7-8 and July 82 3-8 cents.

Liverpool closed 1-4 to 1-2d lower and other markets also were low.

Continued lack of foreign demand for Canadian wheat was a bearish factor. No export sales were reported today.

REPORT SHOWS STEADY GAINS

The forty-eighth annual report of the Manufacturers Life Insurance Company for the year ending December 31, 1934, submitted to policyholders and shareholders at the annual meeting held on January 17 shows a year of continued progress.

New insurance amounting to $51,389,356 was written during the year, bringing the total insurance in force to $508,078,583.

Payments to policyholders and beneficiaries totaled $16,170,589. Of such payments $12,205,750 were paid to living policyholders, including $2,523,893 in dividends, and $3,964,839 to beneficiaries in death claims.

ASSETS INCREASED

Assets amounted to $124,822,028, an increase of $5,362,086 during the year. The assets include Government, Government guaranteed, municipal, public utility and other bonds amounting to $59,212,484; first mortgages on improved real estate amounting to $28,999,170, and investments of $2,953,997 in preferred and common stocks. All securities have been valued within the requirements of the Dominion and Provincial departments of insurance.

Policy and annuity reserves were increased to $106,019,204, the same standard of valuation being used as in former years. Special reserves and surplus funds, exclusive of capital stock, increased to $8,833,299, of which amount $4,827,603 represents reserve for dividends to policyholders, the same scale of dividends to be continued in 1935.

BAR GOLD AT LONDON

MONTREAL, Jan 21 (CP).—Bar gold in London up seven cents at $34.69 an ounce in Canadian funds; 142s in British funds. The fixed $35 Washington price amounted to $35 in Canadian funds.

A little country girl went shopping in the city with her mother and had her first ride in an elevator.

"How did you like it?" asked her father when she returned.

"Why, it was so funny, Daddy," answered the child. "When we went into a little house the upstairs came down."

She—Do you believe in love at first sight?

He—No; at all.

She—Then we will meet again tomorrow.—En Rolig Half Timma, Goteborg.

Leading Stocks at Eastern Exchanges Are Little Changed

MONTREAL, Jan. 21 (CP).—Closing prices were mixed on the Montreal Stock Exchange as stocks milled around in rather aimless fashion following the trend of other Eastern and New York markets.

Dominion Steel at 5 5-8 and Industrial Alcohol "B" at 8 3-4 were each up an eighth. Dominion Bridge was up a half and International Nickel, 3-8.

Canadian Bronze preferred made its first appearance in two years, dropping 2 points to 110. Royal Bank of Canada eased 1-4 to 172.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Jan. 21 (CP).—Trading was sluggish on the Toronto mining and stock exchanges today as traders marked time in sympathy with New York, awaiting the gold clause decision by the United States Supreme Court.

On the mining exchange a firm opening gave way under later selling pressure and the big golds were slightly easier at the close.

Bralorne, Noranda and Sylvanite ranged down to 25 cents below yesterday's closes. Junior Golds showed minor recessions after a dull session.

Industrials moved in narrow circles. Canadian Pacific, Imperial Oil and Brewers Corporation closed unchanged to fractionally higher.

That Body of Yours

(By James W. Barton, M.D.)

ALL TYPES OF OVERWEIGHT MUST REDUCE FOOD AND LIQUIDS

"The treatment of overweight, even to the kind of overweight due simply to overeating, is beset with difficulties. Every diet that is sufficiently rigid to produce permanent results tends to give rise to a considerable loss of strength. Besides this, consideration must be given to the persistency with which treatment is kept up. However willing and energetic the patient may be, there is always the temptation to transgress and satisfy the cravings of hunger. This applies also to the cutting down on fluids, for if the patient has to contend with thirst he will soon weary of the treatment."

I believe the above statement by Dr. F. Popper, Vienna, describes what happens when the average overweight individual tries to reduce weight. He can get along well cutting down on foods, but he wants to drink a great amount of water, and to make matters worse he usually wants plenty of salt on his food.

Dr. Hopper advises a well-regulated diet, poor in fats—cream, butter, fat meats, egg yolks—and poor also in carbohydrates—sugar, bread, potatoes, pastry—in all cases of overweight.

As you know, about five or even more in every hundred cases of overeating are due to the thyroid gland in the neck not making thyroid juice. It is this juice which makes all the body processes work fast and so burn up any extra food which, if not used, will be stored in the body as fat.

Many fat individuals who are not the thyroid type use the thyroid extract to rid themselves of their overweight, often with serious results to their health.

Even in the thyroid type of overweight, when thyroid extract is being used, the fat and starch foods and also liquids must still be cut down in order to get rid of the extra weight.

The thought then is that there is no royal or easy road to reducing weight. In all cases the food and liquids must be cut down.

However, the reducing process should not be hurried, but take in months the time the increase in weight has taken in years.

Imperial Life Officials Give Encouraging Reports at Annual Meeting

"We experienced a new production in 1934 18 per cent higher than the new production in 1933, also a decrease of 21 per cent in the amount of policies terminated by surrender, a decrease of 21 per cent in total terminations, and a decrease of 18 per cent in the demand for policy loans," said G. A. Morrow, president, the Imperial Life Assurance Company, at the annual meeting of the company in Toronto. New assurances issued by the Imperial Life in 1934 was $26,132,000, a gain of more than $4,000,000 over the previous year. In addition, old assurances to the extent of $1,850,000 were revived. The assets of the company now amount to over $71,000,000, a substantial increase over 1934.

The average interest rate earned by the Imperial Life on all of its investments in 1934 was 5.31 per cent, a tribute to foresight and prudent diversification on the part of the investment department of the company. J. F. Weston, vice-president and managing director, emphasized that the Imperial Life had paid to policyholders over $8,000,000 in 1934, of which nearly $6,000,000 was paid to living policyholders, and stated the company faces the new year with every hope of this gratifying rate of progress being maintained.

A Scotsman leaving his friend's house, where he had been paying a visit, held out a threepenny piece and a penny, saying: "Now, Sandy, which one will ye ha'e?"

Young Sandy, being a cute wee beggar, said: "Ach, Mr. McTavish, I was always taught no' to be greedy, so I'll ha'e the wee one."

McTavish, not to be outdone, replied: "Weel, Sandy, for being a guid boy, and not being greedy, I'll gi'e the big one to ye."

"I dinna like them," said an Auld Kirk woman of her Free Kirk neighbors.

"There's nae love in them," she continued, "nae brotherly kindness in them; I could ram my umbrella through the e'e of every yin of them, I ken!"

TO WINK AT

To wink at, meaning to pretend not to see, is not only in every-day speech, but in literature.

Indeed, it will surprise many of us to learn that though this expression savors of slang, and modern slang at that, it is legitimate, and very old to boot. We have it in fact from the New Testament, where it appears in Acts xvii, 30.

"We ought not to think that the Godhead is like unto gold, or silver, or stone, graven by art and man," be opened at all. I'll be opened wi device. And the pines of this ignorance God winked at: but now commandeth all men everywhere to repent."

Old Mrs. McDuff was seriously ill, but not so bad as to preclude hopes of recovery.

"But," her doctor warned her, "I must operate without delay."

To his relief she consented, but only on the understanding that the minister must be present.

"But—whatever for?" asked the astonished doctor. "What good could the minister do? I never heard of such a proposal!"

"Maybe no," retorted Mrs. McDuff. "I ken that doctors is maistly heathens. But I ken whit's decent an' fittin'. An' I'll tell ye, if I'm to

21 PERSONAL

A BEAUTIFUL CITY WHEN ALL decked in its white. If Santa could come his heart would be filled with delight. His reindeer would snort and fly like a bird, while Santa chuckled and laughed, yet ne'er said a word. He would wave his hands to the kiddies who rolled in the snow, as you used to do long years ago. But times have changed, oh, my, oh, my. The troubles of home have made you sigh. Improper eating, drinking and thinking will kill a horse. Start now, dear friend, and free life from remorse. Eat our coarse whole wheat bread; it costs but a dime. It will build your body full of vitamins—sunshine. Why let this life be a vale of tears? Our building foods will help to pick up your ears, and out you will go into the snow, enjoying life as you did long years ago, for youth has placed its hand up on your thigh. Now you feel as though you never will die. So disperse those foolish old thoughts that heaven is on high, and can never be reached till you die. For heaven is here down below, if you live a clean life that is whiter than snow. Call daily; our foods are good. Golden Loaf Bakery, 711 Fort St.

FIGHT CROWD SMASHES RING

Infuriated Mob Tears Down Ring When Refused Rain Checks

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 21 (AP).—An infuriated mob tore down the ring in Fluminese Stadium yesterday, when refused rain checks after Primo Carnera's heavyweight match with Ervin Klausner had been postponed because of rain.

About 23,000 spectators had gathered in the stadium to see the former heavyweight champion box Klausner. A sudden downpour forced postponement of the fight until Tuesday night.

Through a misunderstanding, it was explained, officials declined to issue rain checks to the customers. Enraged, the spectators poured out of their seats and tore down the ring.

Naval fusiliers answered a riot call and prevented further damage after a vigorous battle in which clubs and stones played a prominent part.

Equipoise Lame After Workout At Santa Anita

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 21 (AP).—Equipoise, ace entry of C. V. Whitney in the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap, February 23, pulled up lame after a workout today.

Clockers at the track said the big horse went five-eighths in 1:01 1-5, and went on for another furlong, finishing in 1:15 2-5 on a fast track. After Equipoise cooled off he was found to have become lame. In the absence of immediate comment by his handlers, it was not known what, if any, effect the lameness would have on Equipoise's entry in the big race.

GOLF FACTS

NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX MORRISON

Many players hold the notion that a low ball is the most desirable.

It may be of some help when playing against the wind, but in the long run it's decidedly harmful. This is particularly true of iron shots.

During the last amateur championship played at Merion a sport writer asked me to criticize George Voigt's iron play. He thought it quite good, but I differed on the grounds that George didn't hit the ball enough for the club he was using.

I predicted that unless George changed his method in favor of the higher ball his game would suffer.

If you are hitting the ball high be content. It shows that you're using plenty of wrist action.

LIBERAL LEADER TO SUPPORT REFORMS

At the 11 o'clock adjournment hour tonight the corridors were buzzing on the sudden political move of the Opposition chieftan and its possible effect on party tactics before the general election.

WOULD WASTE NO TIME

Climaxing a speech that extended over three hours, Mr. King suggested that "we lose as little time as possible in considering these measures of social reform." The Government could introduce such legislation as unemployment insurance, revised old-age pensions, new company incorporation laws, "and I will say immediately they will receive the support of the members on this side of the House, reserving to ourselves the right to consider each on its merits." Behind the Government's reform programme were constitutional difficulties, the Liberal leader warned. He asked Mr. Bennett to say whether the opinion of the Supreme Court of Canada or the law officers of the Justice Department had been secured on the constitutional aspects.

SOUNDS WARNING NOTE

"I don't believe," said Mr. King, "that jurisdiction should stand in the way of a reform that is necessary." He cautioned, however, that provinces had rights and privileges under the British North America Act, and objections from them might be surmounted by conferences.

"I think the British North America Act," continued Mr. King, "has been an achievement and has served its purpose well, but I also think it requires amendments. The first amendment, I think, should be the right of this country to amend its own constitution. It is the only country I know without that power."

There ought to be another amendment to enable Parliament to pass legislation with regard to those questions that will be national in scope as time goes on. Later, the Liberal leader said there should be no doubt with respect to the authority of Parliament dealing with the Government's social and industrial programme. It might be wise to secure from the Supreme Court an opinion on this point and save time.

PLEDGES CO-OPERATION

Although the immediate need of the country was to provide for the 1,000,000 unemployed—who, for instance, would not benefit from an unemployment insurance scheme, the Liberal leader offered to pledge his party to give its undivided attention to the reform legislation. He offered to end the present debate after the Prime Minister and the leader of the C.C.F., J. S. Woodsworth, had spoken. Private members' legislation could be suspended in the meantime and money votes could stand over.

"I ask him," said Mr. King, concluding his speech, referring to the Government leader, "to join with me and the Liberal Party in seeking to speed up those measures in which I have been interested, not only on the eve of an election but through my whole life."

SAYS POLICIES STOLEN

The Liberal leader claimed that the Government's reform platform was a death-bed repentance on the part of the Prime Minister and designed only to fool the electorate at a general election. He charged Mr. Bennett with stealing many of the policies advocated by the Liberals for years and to which he (Mr. King) had devoted years of his life.

The Liberal Party, Mr. King said, did not stand for laissez-faire, as charged in his broadcast series by the Prime Minister, or, on the other hand, State intervention. It stood for both, as its record indicated. He promised to broadcast a series of speeches in reply to those of the Prime Minister.

CRIPPLING STRIKE IN PUERTO RICO

Troubles Expected to Spread—Prison Labor Used to Unload United States Mail

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Jan. 21 (AP).—A crippling transportation strike remained in force today, and there were threats that labor troubles may spread to the sugar industry and others.

Prison labor was brought to the waterfront to unload United States mail from the steamer Coamo out of New York. Truck drivers joined the ranks of striking longshoremen.

Agricultural and labor leaders decided today to call a general strike in the sugar industry, and Governor-General Blanton D. Winship called a conference of sugar producers and labor representatives for tomorrow to attempt a settlement.

COLORFUL DRAMA AT THE DOMINION

Paul Muni Plays Leading Role in Tense Drama, "Borderland"—Strong Supporting Cast

Paul Muni, one of the greatest actors of the stage or screen, comes to the Dominion Theatre today in the Warner Bros.' production, "Bordertown," which is said to be the most powerful drama in which he has ever appeared.

The picture, suggested by Carroll Graham's novel, is a stark, realistic picturization of the colorful life in a town on the American border, with its night clubs and gambling resorts frequented by American millionaires and bored society women seeking diversion.

It is in this atmosphere that Paul Muni, in the role of a foreign youth, rises to riches and power as the proprietor of a fashionable night club and gaming hall. Handsome, magnetic, he is loved by two women, one a fiery adventuress who slays her husband to try to win him, and when scorned, charges him with the murder. The part is played by Bette Davis, who is said to surpass even her splendid performance in "Of Human Bondage."

Margaret Lindsay, the other woman in the triangular romance, is an American society woman, who plays with the handsome young proprietor of the night club, a flirtation which the mad youth takes seriously, and which ends in tragedy.

SEATTLE ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY IN CITY

Remarkably interesting programmes are promised by the Seattle Symphony Orchestra for the two concerts to be given here on February 1. Two of the selections in the afternoon programme (which is arranged particularly for young people but can be thoroughly enjoyed by adults as well) are taken from famous operas. One, the "Dream Pantomime," is taken from the well-known fairy opera, "Hansel and Gretel," while the other is to be the ballet music from Massenet's "Le Cid" (The Conqueror).

The ballet music accompanies a scene which takes place in the great square before the palace of the King at Seville, where a crowd of merry-makers has gathered on a festival day. As part of the fiesta, a group of dancers rush on the scene and perform a series of characteristic dances. The music that accompanies them is peculiarly Spanish in its warmth of melody, striking rhythms, its swiftly changing moods of gaiety, frivolity, dejection and utter abandon to the headlong speed of the dance.

MATCHES CANCELED

Fire Takes Heavy Toll at Planer Mill

This photograph gives a fair idea of the damage to the planing mill of the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber Company, which was destroyed by fire here early yesterday morning with a loss of $150,000 estimated by company officials. The photograph shows twisted metal sheeting and some parts of the ruined machinery. The mill was swept from end to end by the flames.

WILL INCREASE HOSPITAL COST

Outside Municipalities to Pay More for Isolation Cases After March 1

The City Council last night endorsed the recommendation of the health committee that the Isolation Hospital cost to outside municipalities be increased from $5 to $8 per day per patient, effective March 1.

It was stated that the cost was a little more than $8, and Alderman Archie Wills contended that the outside municipalities should be charged exactly the same as the city. However, it was pointed out that the exact amount could not be determined until the end of each year, when it was proposed to make an adjustment.

The council also decided to establish a fumigation shed at the Isolation Hospital at a cost of $250.

ST. MARY'S HAS VESTRY MEETING

Boards and Officers Named at Gathering of Oak Bay Congregation

The annual vestry meeting of St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, was held last night in St. Mary's Hall. The rector, Canon A. E. deL. Nunns, occupied the chair and the attendance was good considering the weather conditions.

At the opening of the meeting the rector read a message of thanks from the bishop for the splendid manner in which St. Mary's had stood behind the work of the diocese during the past year.

REPORTS RECEIVED

The treasurer, A. A. Bengough, presented the financial statement, which showed that all assessments and apportionments had been paid in full and all the current expenses of the church had been met.

Not including the W.A. contributions, the parish gave $2,459 to missions. The rector thanked all those who had helped in the work of the parish, making special mention of the church wardens, F. Barber-Starkey and H. H. Cullis. He referred to the generous contributions made to the parish by the Ladies' Guild. In mentioning the Sunday school, he said there were 380 on the roll and thirty-nine teachers. The number of Communions made showed a considerable increase over the previous year.

OFFICIALS NAMED

The rector appointed F. Barber-Starkey as his warden, and H. H. Cullis was again elected as people's warden.

The following were elected as members of the church committee: W. H. Bullock-Webster, R. B. Price, C. T. Teasdale, Dr. S. A. K. White, H. M. S. Bell, C. W. Pangman, Rev. F. H. Buck, R. Wootton, Hugh Allen and S. F. Bankes.

SYNOD DELEGATES

Delegates to the synod follow: Percy James, Sir Percy Lake, K.C.B.; H. H. Cullis, H. M. S. Bell, O. M. Prentice and Dr. S. A. K. White.

Delegates to the rural-deanal conference are as follows: Rev. F. H. Buck, Dr. S. A. K. White, R. P. Parnell and the two church wardens; missionary committee, Mrs. W. J. Goepel and G. Ditcham; envelope secretary, Stanley F. Bankes, and auditor, L. Gordon Toms.

COUNCIL HOLDS FINAL MEETING

Esquimalt Board Concludes Its Work for the Year—Reports Received

Esquimalt Council held its final meeting of the year last night and cleared the "official basket" of all outstanding business and paved the way for the new council of 1935, which will be headed by Reeve Alexander Lockley, re-elected by acclamation.

Business before the final meeting was light and the session lasted barely an hour. Reports were tabled from the municipal engineer, dealing with the work of his department in 1934, and the annual report from the medical officer of health was received and ordered included in the municipal record for the year.

The council received official notice from the Provincial Department of Finance concerning the setting up of an advance of $1,000 for relief, the amount to be covered by by-law.

RELIEF WAGES

The council was also advised by the unemployment branch of the Department of Labor that on and after February 1, the Government would not contribute to relief works carried out by any municipality not paying the regulation scale of wages of 40 cents an hour. This information was passed on to the incoming council.

A scheme for the use of public credit by the issuance of certificates, bearing usage stamps, was submitted to the council by E. S. Woodward on behalf of the Canadian Co-operative Trading Company Exchange. The plan, for which a fee of $5 was to be charged, will be returned.

The incoming council will decide on a request from the Tourist Trade Development Association of Victoria and Vancouver Island for a public meeting, to be held in the municipality.

Reeve Lockley was requested by the council to arrange for the attendance of representatives from the board to attend the annual meeting of the Central Exchange to be held in Spencer's dining-room at 12:15 o'clock next Friday.

REPORTS RECEIVED

The report of H. E. Bourne, municipal engineer, gave a complete review of the work of that department in 1934 with an appended list of expenditures for the department and the work undertaken. These figures were included in the financial statement.

The annual report of Dr. J. G. McCallum, medical officer of health, was exceptionally encouraging, considering the economic conditions and the percentage of relief in Esquimalt. During the year there were only twenty-five contagious or infectious diseases reported to the department. The health of the community has been good, the report indicated.

LEASE IS SIGNED

The agreement between the municipality and the Macaulay Point Golf Club, which has been under consideration for several months, was formally passed for signatures.

At the conclusion of regular business, Reeve Lockley extended his thanks to the members of the council for the co-operation he had received from them during the past year. He paid a special tribute to Councillors Heald, Fraser and Wise for their interest in the affairs of the community and the important work of the committees of which they were chairmen.

ZONING BY-LAW TO BE REVISED

The land and zoning by-law will be revised in conformity with the newly drafted fire zone by-law, the City Council decided last night.

The Zoning Board of Appeal will be asked to make the revision. Alderman R. A. C. Dewar expressed the hope that the measure would be abolished in its entirety. Mayor David Leeming felt there was no necessity for it, apart from the regulations governing elevations of buildings.

THE HOSPITAL LIST

Prior to Christmas week, when for the first time they were able to muster their full squad, New York Americans rooter had a distinct hospital tinge. Though Red Dutton's broken ribs, Normie Himes' battered face, Bill Brydges' bad knee and Dede Klein's slashed face all were handicaps, the star-spangled squad made a great stand.
